

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1881.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 7, 1881.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Henton, 155 Main Street; R. Robie, 156 Main Street; E. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville; J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn; Cooper's News Stand at the Center Depot; and at G. F. Brown's, Winchester.

Mr. F. S. Burgess has an advertisement in this paper to which attention is called. As is known he has full lines of the very best goods in great variety, all of which he sells at low prices. He guarantees satisfaction in all cases.

Cabinet-makers are getting on very well with their work. Three of the portfolios have been assigned, and the rest of them will be filled by the time Gen. Garfield gets ready to take his seat at the latest Washington newspaper correspondents are the most prominent at the business. Senator Blaine has been given the first place that of Secretary of State, Foster of Ohio is to have the Interior Department, and a man in California is to be Attorney General. This is as far as they had got at last accounts, though they are busy over the other appointments, and further announcements are hourly expected.

If, as the Herald stated a few days ago, Hon. S. Z. Bowman, M. C. from this District, has recently been moving to out Naval Constructor Pook from the Charlestown Yard, he seems to have been successful, for it is observed that Naval Constructor William L. Mintonye has left New York for Charlestown. As we understand it, Mr. Mintonye was Mr. Bowman's choice in case a change was determined on.

It has come to light at last that the Morey letter, as alleged, was concocted and caused to be published by members of the Democratic National Committee. Philip, the author of it, was only a tool in the hands of those honest and estimable gentlemen.

A cause of the Republican members of the Maine Legislature to nominate a candidate for the U. S. Senate, will be held on Thursday evening. The contest is between Hale and Frye; with the chances in favor of the former.

One of the handsomest Almanacs received by us this year is that from the Union and Journal office, Biddeford, Me. It is a credit to the establishment.

LOCAL NEWS.

This is a delightful morning and the sleighing pretty much intact.

The Selectmen's room looks very nice since the late fixing up.

Miss Susan E. Edgell left here for Cuba on Thursday, where she will remain during the winter.

The Woburn Mechanic's Phalanx will please accept thanks for comps to there annual ball.

While chopping wood at Winchester last Tuesday Richard Delvin of Buckman street cut his hand severely.

It is creditable to our town that the police force are vigilant, active and fearless in doing their duty.

One of the Winchester barges sports a good stove which adds greatly to the comfort of its passengers.

Horn and other ponds hereabouts yield large quantities of clear thick ice. The prospect for cheap ice next summer is good.

Cock-fighting is an amusement considerably indulged in by Woburn men, by whom a good many game birds are owned.

"Aunt Phillis's Guest" strikes us as being excellent, and it will be found on the first page of the JOURNAL next week. It is the kind of a poem that we love to read.

A fire was nipped in the bud at Fowle's shoe store this morning. Papers caught fire under a sofa but was discovered in season to be thrust outdoors without damage.

The Board of Selectmen met in regular monthly session last evening, but the Clerk being unavoidably absent the meeting was adjourned to 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

We are permitted to announce that a grand concert for Woburn is in active preparation, and will be given ere many weeks have elapsed.

The light snow on Tuesday night helped to piece out the sleighing in pretty good shape. It was not of the best before that snowfall.

The workingmen's train on the B. & L. R. R. is found to be very convenient. This company is prompt to accommodate the public.

The Boston lawyer said she was a poor lone, lorn widow trying to make an honest living. The Woburn police hadn't heard it that way before.

Our subscribers are paying up nicely with the beginning of the new year, for which they will please accept our thanks. The printer needs all he can get honestly.

The pleasant store of Mr. H. Porter is a very cosy place for a smoke and chat on a winter's evening. His pipes and tobacco are enticing.

You all "swore off" last Saturday, of course. Now stick to it and you'll feel better next New Year's day for having done so.

With the exit of the holidays the amusements season seems to have taken a rest too. But there are rumors of good things in store for us, so wait patiently.

Plumbers and machinists have had their hands full of burst pipes and things for the last week. The weather has made a close call on water conductors and steam arrangements.

We call attention to the change of advertisement of Smith & Son, and then would recommend that purchasers of dry goods give this sterling house a call. It is sound corn all the time.

Mr. Marcellus Littlefield spent the holidays very pleasantly in New York and has returned to his daily tasks contented and happy.

Mr. E. W. Hudson has resigned as a member of the Board of Water Commissioners. He has been on the Board from the start and resigns from personal reasons. This step will be regretted by the town.

First rate machinists, and patient ones withal, from the shops of Parks & Freeman, who employ good men, got the JOURNAL out of its trouble on Monday promptly and in good shape. Bu'st pipes et cetera did the mischief.

George S. Littlefield Esq., has dissolved his connection with the JOURNAL owing to increased pressure of professional engagements. His place will be supplied and Winchester will be well served.

Cabinet-makers are getting on very well with their work. Three of the portfolios have been assigned, and the rest of them will be filled by the time Gen. — One of the dear, delightful things which come to us to make life desirable, that renders living quite charming, is the monthly presentation of the gas bill. It is really worth one's while to exist in this vale if only for the pleasure of paying them.

— The Woburn Phalanx give a dress ball on next Friday evening, January 14. It is to be a very choice and fashionable affair for the success of which the committee have made all necessary arrangements. A large number of invitations are out.

— The National Band's grand Calico ball comes on this evening. Everything has been put in apple pie order by an excellent committee for a very refreshing season and we have no doubt that the Nationals, guests and the fair ones will enjoy heaps of pleasure to night. First class music has been provided for the occasion.

— M. G. A.—Prairie meeting at the rooms, 127 Main Street, at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Warren E. Clark, leader. Meeting at Cedar street at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, to be led by F. S. Burgess. Regular business meeting adjourned to next Monday evening, Jan. 10, at 8 o'clock.

— Mr. Carter of Burlington was thrown by his team near Mr. Simonds' stonemason shop on Wednesday and quite severely hurt. He was seen to fall by some gentlemen near by who ran to his relief and took him into the laundry close at hand. Later himself and team were taken to his home in Burlington.

— The residence of Thomas O. Hill, in Medford, was entered in the day time and while the family were at home. The man was seen by Mrs. Hill who asked what he wanted, when he fled. Our police detained a thief Thursday, the description answering very well for the Medford man, but he was not identified. The thief was a professional.

— One day this week Charles McCann was arraigned before Police Judge Converse and fined $3 and costs for indulging in profane language on a public street. According to which it stands in hand to carry a pretty clean tongue in his head when outdoors.

— Strat's photograph rooms are the favorite resort of people seeking first class pictures, for they always get what they seek. Mr. Strat is doing an excellent business, the result of turning out the best of work, charging fair prices, and satisfying his customers. An investigation will show that what we say is true.

— The Orangemen have a big ball under serious consideration—in fact, it has been decided to give one, but we believe the date is not yet fixed. The Orangemen's society here is one of the strongest numerically and financially in the State. Its membership includes many of the best men in town, and as a benevolent institution it does a great amount of good.

— At the special vesper service on Sunday evening the following fine selections will be rendered at the Unitarian church:

Antennae. "The cross and crown." Solo. "His will be done." Mr. Shaw. "Hymn Anthem. ... and ask, O Lord." Solo. "The Lost Chord." Mr. Knowles.

Organ selections from Beethoven, Schumann, and Eschmann. Mr. Weston.

— White & Waters have, and always keep on hand, full lines of fresh family groceries which are sold at low prices and warranted to give perfect satisfaction. They keep choice brands of flour, the best grades of tea and coffee, and all and singular those goods in the grocery line which good housekeepers most highly prize. W. & W. deal fairly by everybody.

— At the annual meeting of the Boston & Lowell R. R. on Wednesday, the following gentlemen were chosen directors: Josiah G. Abbott, William A. Burke, Thomas Talbot, Edwin Morey, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Horatio Hosford, Frederick E. Clarke. It was also voted to increase the capital stock to $620,000. This is to pay the bonds of the Salem & Lowell and Lowell & Lawrence railroads, the Boston & Lowell having purchased those roads, and to extinguish the floating debt, and does not increase the liabilities of the company.

— The Library Committee will probably designate certain days in the week on which visitors will be permitted a free run of the museum of ancient relics located in the basement of the Library building, as it is hardly consistent with his other duties for the Librarian to attend to the numerous daily calls made at the present time. The contents of the museum are worth visiting—indeed no lover of the old and curious should leave town without a stroll through it. Our item of last week seemed to have aroused an interest in the quaint old things in this depository and the visitors to them have largely increased.

— The Woburn A. & M. Association have fitted up their rooms very handsomely for the transaction of business. The Association was organized in March, 1830—more than fifty years ago—and is the only one of the kind, we believe, in the State. John Johnson, Esq., is treasurer of the institution.

— The Boston lawyer said she was a poor lone, lorn widow trying to make an honest living. The Woburn police hadn't heard it that way before.

— Our subscribers are paying up nicely with the beginning of the new year, for which they will please accept our thanks. The printer needs all he can get honestly.

— Mr. E. W. Hudson has resigned as a member of the Board of Water Commissioners. He has been on the Board from the start and resigns from personal reasons. This step will be regretted by the town.

— First rate machinists, and patient ones withal, from the shops of Parks & Freeman, who employ good men, got the JOURNAL out of its trouble on Monday promptly and in good shape. Bu'st pipes et cetera did the mischief.

— At his home last evening Mr. Lawrence Reesley, undertaker, was presented with a costly gold, stem-winder, open-face Watch and watch and case by his numerous friends. Father McDonald made a neat and appropriate presentation speech which was nicely replied to. The evening was spent in "tripping the light" &c., very pleasantly.

— All arrangements for the coming "Phalanx" are complete and indicate as successful a party as that of last year. Beauteous as usual, and should the weather not be too severe singing birds and potted plants will be used in addition. The rooms in the Bank Block will be used, and the sole entrance will be through the same building. Edmund's gives a concert from 7:30 to 8:15, an innovation that will be appreciated by all lovers of good music.

— Since our assurance to Mr. Elmore A. Pierce in our last week's issue, that "The Favorites" Concert Company would bring out an audience that would fill Lyceum Hall the members of his company have set about arranging him a complimentary concert and we shall no doubt have the pleasure of hearing these excellent artists in a very short time. We are happy to congratulate the people of Woburn on the prospect of a novel and excellent concert, with violin, whistling, reading, singing, piano, &c. &c. Mr. Pierce says we will have a good one as the company has given splendid satisfaction wherever it has been this season.

— The annual meeting of the Unitarian Ladies Charitable Society was held in the vestry yesterday afternoon and evening. A large number were present. The following ladies were chosen as officers for the present year: Pres., Mrs. P. L. Converse; vice pres., Mrs. Mrs. Carwell; secy., Mrs. Frank Clarke; treas., Mrs. J. W. Johnson; directors, Mrs. A. M. Winn, Mrs. Dr. Chase, Mrs. J. F. Ramsdell, Mrs. A. B. Brooks, Mrs. Austin Wyman. After a sumptuous repast a fine musical and literary entertainment was given which all enjoyed. Want of space prevents a particular account of it.

— At a meeting of the Sunday School connected with the First Congregational Church held, Dec. 29th 1880, officers for the year 1881, were chosen as follows:—Superintendent, J. G. Pollard; Assistant Supt., Frank B. French; Secretary, James B. Pease; Pianists, Clara M. Fox, Josie Lang, Carrie E. Gage; Librarians, Herbert L. Gleason, Albert F. Converse, Horace N. Conn, J. Howard Nason, Henry Walter Gleason, Willie C. Parker.

— About the most sensible contribution you can make to the "happiness" of New Year is to liquidate the little bills you owe. Poor people are generally more thoughtful and prompt in doing this than rich ones, for the latter, having money enough themselves, are prone to forget that there are others who are not so fortunate, and hence delay in paying the small debts due the workmen and women who so much need their money.

— Mr. Strat is doing an excellent business, the result of turning out the best of work, charging fair prices, and satisfying his customers. An investigation will show that what we say is true.

— The Orangemen have a big ball under serious consideration—in fact, it has been decided to give one, but we believe the date is not yet fixed. A bridal couple from Washoe valley, at breakfast in a Reno hotel, conversed as follows: "He—'Shall I skin you a pterator, honey?' She—'No, thank you, deary, I have one already skinned.'

[St. Louis Evening Chronicle.]

People in Glass Houses, etc.

While it may be proper that those "living in glass houses should never throw stones," we think it is eminently proper that those working in glass houses should say a "good word" for anything of benefit to themselves. In this connection, Mr. Isaac Correy, Manager Salem, N. J. Glass Works, remarks: I am pleased to say that I have used the Great Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, for Rheumatism with excellent results; other members of my family have also been greatly benefited by its use.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 14, 1881.

A conference was held last Wednesday in City Hall, Boston, between the Water Commissioners of Boston and representatives from Cambridge, Somerville, Medford, Arlington, Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham and other towns in relation to abating the nuisance connected with the lower Mystic lake and sewer. Nothing was done beyond discussing the situation and suggesting plans to remedy the evil. The claim of Mr. Thompson of the Boston Water Board that Woburn sewage causes a good deal of the nuisance was successfully controverted by Col. Grammer and Mr. Skinner, chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Woburn. Col. Grammer also submitted some suggestions as to the abatement of the nuisance which were supported by Mr. Frye of Winchester and a representative from Stoneham. That something should be done in the premises at once admits of no doubt, but that there will be another thing.

Several important Senatorial contests have been settled within the last few days. In Ohio, John Sherman has been nominated and will be the next United States Senator from that State. The Republicans of Connecticut have made unanimous the choice of Gen. Hawley, who will be a member of the Senate from after the 4th of March. Indiana Republicans chose Gen. Ben Harrison without opposition, and he too will go to the Senate. After Mr. Frye's withdrawal Eugene Hale received the nomination by the Maine Republicans, and will succeed Mr. Hamlin from the 4th of March. The contests in New York and Pennsylvania wax hotter and hotter.

Some of the papers opposed to him are trying to make out that Congressman Bowman is scheming to get control of the Charlestown Navy Yard. We have discovered no evidence of a disposition on the part of Mr. Bowman to "cabbage" the concern, but if he should really set his heart on having it we think it would be quite safe to conclude that he would win.

It seems to be tolerably well settled that Senator Blaine will be offered a Cabinet position, that of Secretary of State, and that it will be accepted by him. The intimate personal relationship existing between him and the President-elect makes it altogether likely that he can have the place without asking, and that his counsel will be influential in forming the new Cabinet.

As was entirely just and proper Mr. Plaisted, the Fusion candidate, has been declared elected Governor of Maine by the Committee in whose hands the matter was put. The Committee found that a plurality of the votes were cast for him, and that the plurality amendment of the Constitution became operative on its adoption by the people.

Though the General Court has not yet got fairly settled into harness and will not be in real working trim for a week or two, it seems to be diligently doing something every day.

LOCAL NEWS.

The sleighing during the week has been good in town but not very nice outside.

Mr. R. Robie, the newsdealer, has sold out to Mr. Allen Robie.

The store of Mr. Ellis was burglarized to a small amount on Tuesday night.

Barbara Connor had two fingers smashed at Simonds' shop last Tuesday.

The snow plow and shovel brigade were very efficient in draining pools of water from the sidewalks last Monday.

MERCHANTS say business has been as dead as a door-nail since the holidays, and we guess they tell the truth.

No one should fail to attend the Fair-baine Family Concert at the Baptist church next Thursday evening.

Capt. Matthews will please accept our thanks for free pasteboards to the G. A. R. entertainment.

It seems quite Spring-like and balmy this morning, but it is probably nothing more than the January thaw.

Dr. Ignatius Sargent of this town recently slipped on the ice near the depot and broke the neck of the thigh bone.

Mr. Couillard, of the Boston Herald, has taken the Mrs. Young house on the corner of Main and Church streets, and become a resident of Woburn. Which is proper.

The driverless team that made such good time and attracted so much attention Tuesday afternoon, made the ripples without damage to anything or anybody.

By referring to the time-table of the B. & L. R. R. it will be seen that some changes have been made in the running of Woburn trains.

We understand that the arm of William Callahan which was so badly crushed while coupling cars at Winchester last week has not been amputated.

Police news is scarce this week. There were a couple of assault cases before His Honor which were properly disposed of, and a case of profanity or so.

On Tuesday, George H. Ellison, a Journalism type, had one of his feet quite severely sprained while at work about the engine of the office.

The West Side Associates will give their second annual ball at Lyceum Hall next Friday evening Jan. 21. Dunbar's orchestra will furnish the music.

James H. Connolly has thrown a broad new sign to the breeze under which he proposes to fight it out on the line of furnishing the people with choice meats.

We have for next week's issue a first rate extract from "Ex-Custom House" on "Myths of the Coffee Trade" which will be worth reading. It is racy and instructive.

The wife of Mr. J. W. Leahy dropped dead last Friday afternoon from heart disease.

The Irish Land Legue of Woburn will hold a public meeting early in February. Rev. Mr. Pepper of the West, formerly of Ireland, will deliver an oration on the occasion.

Rev Mr. Barnes, formerly pastor of the Unitarian church in this place, now of Montreal, Canada, will preach here next Sabbath on exchange with the pastor, Mr. Young.

Mr. James M. Robertson, aged over 90 years, died in this place on Tuesday. He was formerly of Charlestown, and prominent in Masonry.

An excellent article from "Contributor" is too long for this issue, but will be printed next week. More from this same source will be welcome.

The North Woburn horse-cars go on runners, or rather a base has been substituted for the cars. The track is buried under the snow.

A concert will be given by graduates of the Perkins Institute for the Blind in Lyceum Hall on the evening of January 25th. For particulars see card in this paper.

The Boston & Lowell railroad management has recently issued an order, instructing conductors to collect the regular fare of all employees riding on the road when off duty.

A majority of the Board adopted the report of the Committee on the Fire Alarm, but in order to give the minority an opportunity to become satisfied the whole matter is held under advisement for a few days.

The Committee appointed to represent Woburn in the Boston City Hall conference of towns on the Mystic nuisance, last Wednesday, were clerk Hill and chairman Skinner of the Board of Selectmen, and Col. W. T. Grammer and E. N. Blake—a first rate committee.

For courtesy of Mr. Hill, Clerk of the Board, we have received "Sanitary Tract, No. 3," issued by the Sanitary Association of Lynn, for which we are obliged, and from which we shall take occasion to make extracts soon.

Mr. George Conn, the prompt and square-toed agent of a dozen of the best insurance companies in this and foreign countries, adjusted Mr. Sawtelle's damages by the Fletcher fire without delay and to Mr. Sawtelle's satisfaction. The damage to the building was $308.

Arrangements are progressing for the Complimentary Concert to Mr. Elmore A. Pierce and the date will be settled upon and announced next week. Woburn will have a concert which all can enjoy. A good number of Boston artists besides "The Favorites" Concert Company have volunteered their services.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank of Woburn, held Tuesday evening last, the following gentlemen were chosen Directors: E. D. Hayden, John Johnson, E. N. Blake, J. M. Harlow, Jacob Brown, G. Place, J. B. McDonald, Charles H. Brown of Stoneham, E. L. Shaw. Subsequently the Board organized by the choice of the following officers: President, E. D. Hayden; Vice President, John Johnson.

Last Sunday Ed. F. Johnson resigned the office of Librarian of the Unitarian Sunday School, and Harry P. Davis was elected to fill the vacancy. At the same Miss Josephine Hinckley resigned the Secretarship of the school, and J. W. Day was chosen to fill the position.

On top of three or four inches of snow that fell on Sunday night, a heavy rain storm set in which continued nearly through Monday, and made the worst walking that anybody ever went anywhere. Rubber boots and the like were in extraordinary demand.

Post 33, G. A. R. The next entertainment of Post 33, G. A. R., will occur on the evening of the 20th inst., and will consist of select readings by Miss Annie B. Hardin, who gave such pleasing satisfaction last year, also declamations, and instrumental music by home talent, and singing by the Mendelsohn Club of this city. Admission, 10 cents; tickets at the door.

Last Monday several gentlemen interested in the matter met and formed a Bicycle Club, and chose the officers: President, R. W. D. Warren L. Knox and suite of Bunker Hill Lodge of Charlestown: Albert P. Barrett, N. G.; Alexander Murdoch, V. G.; Edward A. Dow, R. S.; Henry L. Andrews, P. S.; O. M. Brooks, Treas.; William H. Reed, Wardean; George H. Sutherland, Con.; William R. Emery, I. S.; George H. Ayer, O. G.; Edward D. Layton, R. S. N. G.; Cyrus Lamb, L. S. N. G.; F. D. Merrill, R. S. V. G.; J. W. DeLoria, L. S. V. G.; George H. Thring, R. S. S.; John S. Huse, L. S. S. After the installation exercises speeches were made by Past Grand Master Wellington, Bros. Knox and Parkman, after which a supper was partaken of at the Central House.

In the Boston Herald of last Saturday is the following report of the decision in a suit in which the women have felt considerably interested:

James Skinner et al. against Andrew N. Shepard et al. was an action of contract upon the covenants of a deed of real estate. The defendants conveyed an estate in Woburn to the plaintiff by warranty deed, dated Feb. 1, 1869, and this action was brought for a breach of the covenants of title. Willis Bucknam, now deceased, was the owner of the premises, and, on April 16, 1859, conveyed the premises to Harris Munroe, which deed contained the following clause: "Said premises are hereby conveyed, subject to the condition that no building shall ever be placed on that part of the same lying within 25 feet of Green street." On Sept. 1, 1864, Munroe conveyed to Andrew N. Shepard, who subsequently sold the same to unindicated third to Samuel and Andrew Pierce, who with Shepard, made the deed to the plaintiffs. The latter are tanners and curriers, and in 1877, they had made arrangements to extend one of their buildings, so as to cover part of their land, which was within 25 feet of Green street, and had made contracts for that purpose, when they learned for the first time of the restriction. Said Pierces, however, and the question involved were reserved for the consideration of the full court, which has ordered judgment for the defendant for the following reasons:

"The clause restricting the right to build within 25 feet of Green street was a restriction merely, which Willis Bucknam might enforce, but not a condition or a restriction which the heirs of Bucknam could enforce."

At the regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen held on Friday evening last, the following business was disposed of. Application was made by John H. Connolly for a street lamp at his store corner of Main and Broad streets. Referred to Committee on Street Lamps. An application for an auctioneer's license by Albert L. Richardson, Esq., of Montvale, was granted. The use of the Selectmen's rooms was granted to the Woburn Mechanic Phalanx, for their ball, Friday evening, January 14. The usual monthly bills were approved.

We have for next week's issue a first rate extract from "Ex-Custom House" on "Myths of the Coffee Trade" which will be worth reading. It is racy and instructive.

The wife of Mr. J. W. Leahy dropped dead last Friday afternoon from heart disease.

The Irish Land Legue of Woburn will hold a public meeting early in February. Rev. Mr. Pepper of the West, formerly of Ireland, will deliver an oration on the occasion.

Rev Mr. Barnes, formerly pastor of the Unitarian church in this place, now of Montreal, Canada, will preach here next Sabbath on exchange with the pastor, Mr. Young.

The Annual Supper of the Ladies' Charitable Reading Society, an organization connected with the First Congregational church in this town, founded in 1815, was given in the lecture room of the meetinghouse last Tuesday evening. As usual it was an agreeable social, musical, gastronomic, and intellectual party, and if any one present failed to enjoy it we have missed hearing his name mentioned. Six tables occupied the lecture room, each one of which, to employ a somewhat novel term, groaned under the weight of the rich viands it bore. The spread was varied in kinds, excellent in quality, abundant in quantity, relishable and appetizing—in short, just such a supper as the ladies of the L. C. R. S. know how to provide, and do it.

Some 300 persons partook of the repast, and baskets of fragments were left for poor people, like editors and ministers. After ample justice had been done to the edibles, there was some fine music and excellent speeches. Dr. March, the beloved pastor, was very felicitous in post-prandial speech-making as he is at all times and on all occasions, and Rev. Leander Thompson of North Woburn made some pleasant remarks, as also did J. G. Pollard, Esq. and others. Some hours were spent in social greetings and intercourse, and at a seasonable hour the party broke up, all satisfied that they had had a remarkably good time of it.

The Winn Memorial Tablet, ordered by the Trustees of the Library Fund of Norcross & Bro. of Worcester, the author of the tablet, our elegant and costly public library, arrived from Boston yesterday noon, and is now being erected against the west or rear wall of the porch by Messrs. A. Senter, boss cutter in the Boston yards of the firm, and Bolster & Murphy from the same. The cost of the work will be about $600. It is of Ohio stone, handsomely wrought, with fine carvings, and artistically proportioned. The base is a settee extending across the west end of the porch, above which is the tablet containing these words: "This building was erected in memory of Jonathan Winn from funds bequeathed by his son for the use, benefit and improvement of the people of Woburn." Crowning this is the coat of arms beautifully carved, bearing the inscription: "By the name of Winn," the top of which will reach within some fourteen inches of the ceiling of the porch. A plan of the structure was kindly shown us yesterday afternoon by Mr. Senter from which the idea is given that when put in place and finished it will be an attractive feature in the architectural beauty of the building. The work of placing the tablet will be finished some time next week. Want of space prevents a more particular description of it in this issue of the JOURNAL.

The partial burning of Mr. Fletcher's currying shop on Green street, early on Tuesday morning, bears strong evidence of having been the work of an incendiary. The shop is occupied by Hammond T. Fletcher, who, at the time of the fire, says he had about $6,000 worth of leather on hand. Monday afternoon the flue of the chimney was burned out, leaving it quite hot, and when Fletcher left the building at about 6:45 o'clock, in company with Mr. Nolan, his foreman, and John Donnelly, the engineer, he requested Donnelly, who lives near by, to go into the shop again after he had his supper, and look around to see if everything was all right. An hour later Donnelly went into the shop, and on the third floor discovered what appeared to be a spark. He stooped down and picked up a small package, which immediately exploded, burning his hands and face severely. A slow match about six inches long was attached to the package. Early Tuesday morning a second attempt to burn the building was made, with better success, the fire burning through two floors, damaging the building about $500, and stock to the amount of about $2000. Mr. Fletcher says he was there about 5 o'clock in the morning, and discovered the building on fire, and that he immediately commenced removing his stock, and sent an alarm down town, which, however, was not given until 20 minutes of 7. Joseph B. Sawtelle, the owner of the shop, has $1200 insurance in the Alliance company of Boston, and $300 in the New York City company of New York. Fletcher's insurance, which was recently placed, was divided as follows: Newark Company of Newark, N. J., $25 on machinery and $25 on stock; Fire Association of Philadelphia, $825 on machinery, $750 on stock; United Firemen's Company of Philadelphia, $1500 on stock; Meriden Company of Connecticut, $1500 on stock; Liverpool, London and Globe, $2000 on stock.

Y. M. C. A. The entertainment to be given by the Y. M. C. A. at the Baptist church on next Thursday evening it is safe to say will be a good one. Scotch songs, ballads and airs when properly rendered always delight the trained ear and give pleasure to music-loving people. The Fairbank Family are noted for the excellence of their concerts and delighted audiences greet them wherever they go. They bring numerous first-class testimonials from Boston critics and others, and our people may depend on a genuine musical treat from them. Then the cause in the interest of which the entertainment is given is an eminently worthy one, by which token there ought to be a spark. He stooped down and picked up a small package, which immediately exploded, burning his hands and face severely. A slow match about six inches long was attached to the package. Early Tuesday morning a second attempt to burn the building was made, with better success, the fire burning through two floors, damaging the building about $500, and stock to the amount of about $2000. WILMINGTON.

The suit of Horace Sheldon vs. the B. & L. R. R. Co., which has become known as "the celebrated cow case" was tried in the Superior Court at Cambridge last Monday, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount of his claim. The suit was brought to recover the value of a cow which was killed by a locomotive at the railroad crossing at the Wilmington depot in 1877. There has been three trials of the case, the one last Monday being final. C. W. Clark, of Wilmington appeared for the plaintiff, and H. E. Morse, of Lowell, for the corporation.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

The vote of Gen. Miller for United States Senator in the California Legislature was 69 to 50 for all others. This will do for a doubtful Legislature.

The Independent Republican Committee of New York has issued an address to the Republican members of the Legislature urging it to elect a Senator who will possess a character and personality of his own.

The death of ex-Governor Seymour is not so serious but that he expresses an expectation of living to see a Democratic Administration in Washington.

It is said that Washington lobbyists complain that there is a dearth of profitable jobs the present season.

It looks now as if the Republicans in the Maine Legislature would not put Gen. Plaisted to the use that the Democratic leaders can make him serviceable—that of a martyr.

A Living Clock.

The human system is a kind of machine. If one part is seriously out of order the whole goes wrong. The blood in circulation is the mainspring. Keep this all right and you will not suffer from kidney and liver disorders, piles and constipation. And in offering you Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy as the most successful regulator of the human machine ever discovered, we oblige the sick and suffering more than we oblige Dr. Kennedy. Invest one dollar for a bottle at the store or walk all the way to the doctor's office in Rondout, F. Y., rather than not get it.

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT.

Stone in the Bladder Expelled by using Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

Mr. S. W. Hicks, of Pleasant Valley, Dutchess Co., N. Y., is the son of Mr. E. S. Hicks, whose name may be familiar to many, and is himself a man of some note, with Stone in the Bladder, who, like his father, was more serious than his father's. On the appearance of the disease the father advised the son to write to Dr. Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who, he said, would tell him what to do. Dr. Kennedy replied, suggesting the use of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," which had worked so successfully in the father's case. Mr. Hicks, who has been assured by the local physicians that they could do nothing more for him, tried "Favorite Remedy" a venture. After two weeks' use of it he was strong 3/4 of a mile, and the thickness of a pipe-stem. Since then he had no symptoms of the return of the trouble, etc. is a very serious one. If such is the idea he entertains, I beg to inform him that he is laboring under a mental hallucination. If the experiences of the commercial traveller, the ins and outs of every day shop life, with the thousand and one tricks of trade, by which the gullible public are willingly, and I may add mercifully hoodwinked, bamboozled, and duped were to be cleverly represented on the stage, not in an exaggerated form but just as they occur in every day life, I am certain that the entertainment would be accepted by all lovers of fun as a most enjoyable one. Man is so constituted that he not only enjoys seeing his foibles travestied but in being made a victim of delusions. If there is any one weakness of his nature prominent above others, one transcendent aspiration of his soul, it is his desire to be humbugged. He does not care to live amid the dull realities of life; he prefers to dwell in an atmosphere of romance, to see things through the lenses of the imagination, and to smell them through the nostrils of credulity, rather than to discover them by the aid of the telescope of truth. Hence his fondness for delusions, in business, in pleasures, in religion and politics. Observe how he will rush to a monte-table show, or to see a juggler perform his tricks, but would feel himself insufferably bored if compelled to listen to one of Professor Proctor's lectures on astronomy. He will shed a flood of tears and go into ecstasies over Sam Bernhard's impersonation of a woman's fall, and on the following Sunday fall fast asleep while listening to an old-fashioned orthodox discourse on the fall of man. Verily he is a queer and inexplicable being. He likes to dupe others, and to be cheated himself, and it may be affirmed of him, as an inimitable axiom, that he enjoys the latter quite as much as the former. But to my text.

I took up my pen to write something about coffee, and the whims of the trade, and not to preach a homily on the infirmities of human nature. I hope, however, that the few lines I have written by way of introduction will not be thought altogether inapplicable.

Coffee is a luxury so universally indulged in throughout the United States, and has become so inseparably connected with the gastronomic joys of the breakfast table as to have acquired a prominence in economic literature not accorded to any other article in the kitchen vocabulary. The newspapers have recently discussed it more or less intelligently, and although they have added much to the stock of information have yet left something unsaid. The best article upon the subject that I have seen was published in the Boston Sunday Herald of Jan. 2, and is well worth reading. The point, however, to which I wish to call attention is the delusion under which most people labor touching the localities whence comes the article they so highly prize. In general, coffee is sold to the consumer under three names only: Java, Mocha, and Rio.

Concerning Mocha coffee, I may as well remark here as elsewhere that it would probably be correct to say that not a single package of genuine Mocha coffee was imported into the United States during the past ten years, and entirely so to affirm that the article in its purity is totally unknown to American commerce. If dealers choose to delude their customers with the idea that they are buying real Mocha coffee, it is their affair and not mine. But all the talk about this eastern product is purely mythical as the tales of the Arabian Nights. We have the authority of an eminent English traveller for saying that almost never does a pound of Mocha coffee get farther west than Constantinople, and only to that point in infinitesimal quantities. Mocha coffee is the product of a small district in Arabia, some hundreds of miles from the port of Jeddah on the Red Sea, whether the little that is exported is transported across the immense desert on the backs of camels. But even this small quantity does not leave the country without having abstracted from it the finest flavored berries, which are detected by their color or other distinguishing feature. The sultan of Turkey, therefore, does not obtain a pure but a refuse article. So much for the Mocha myth. Now about Java.

A large percentage of our well do New England people, drink what they believe to be Old Government Java coffee, and would be affronted if told that they, in fact, do almost nothing of the kind. Let us look a moment and see how the matter stands.

I have before me the United States Treasurer's report for the year ending June 30, 1878. This is the latest I was able to obtain, but it will serve my purpose. During that year there was imported 309,882,540 pounds of coffee, as follows:

From Quantity. Per cent. of Total.
Brazil, 211,654,160 lbs. 68.30
Venezuela, 38,623,291 " 12.46
Dutch Indies, 14,573,766 " 4.70
Cat. Am. States, 13,868,955 " 4.48
Hayti, 12,913,113 " 4.13
Mexico, 6,357,963 " 2.04
U. S. Columbia, 6,931,799 " 1.91

The imports from these seven countries comprise 98-2 per cent. of the whole, the remaining 1-8 per cent. being imported from sixteen other places of production, with Mocha left out in the cold. From the above table it will be seen that less than five per cent. of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Java, and it is safe to say that, not one pound in ten of the coffee sold under that name, was grown within ten thousand miles of the Malayan Archipelago. From Brazil, Venezuela, and the U. S. States of Columbia, come 82-77 per cent. of our supply. So it would seem to be a self evident fact that, from whatever sources are obtained the Java and Mocha coffees which are so enormously consumed by our people, they certainly do not come from the localities named.

In answer to this statement, it may be said, that Java and Mocha, are merely trade names; and that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. Very true; and possibly there may be no harm in practicing the deception, so long as the public are satisfied with the article they get. But why not call things by their right names, instead of misleading ones? Whence the necessity of tricking up a palpable delusion in the liver of sober fact?

The answer to these queries is not far to seek. Men like to be considered connoisseurs in gastronomic matters, and it gratifies their vanity to have in thought that the wine they drink is of the finest bouquet, and their coffee of the most delicate aroma. The merchant understands this, and acts accordingly. If he always told the truth he would soon lose his custom. By combining inferior with the finer grades of coffee, he obtains the different flavors, in much the same fashion as perfumers combine ambergris (a secretion of the diseased membrane of a whale's intestines) with other chemicals, and sell them to the ladies as, "LADY'S EXTRACTS."

So expert have our countrymen become in the art of adulterating, that it would not surprise me to learn that our finest flavored coffees have their peculiar aroma imparted to them by chemical means, employed while roasting.

This, however, is a gratuitous suggestion, having no foundation in any fact within my knowledge.

Now I have not written the foregoing in any captious spirit, nor do I find much fault with those who, having recourse to their wits to gain a livelihood, find it necessary, first, to discover human weaknesses, and then to "go for 'em." It is quite natural, and perhaps quite right. At any rate, it is business. And then, the many clever and petty tricks of trade by which we are deceived, are among the pleasant episodes with which the paths of life are strewn, and which make it endurable. I myself confess to the general weakness ofliking to be humbugged. It is positively charming, when so delicately done as to almost escape detection.

Now the man who spends a day in a city, and a hundred or two dollars, in making various purchases, and does not laugh heartily when, on returning home, he looks in his mirror, and finds that during the day some city sharp has pulled all the winks out of his eyes without his knowing it, must be wanting in that keen sense of the ludicrous which is so potent a factor in the joys of life.

Since then, the pleasures of being cheated are so great, and the means of their enjoyment so abundantly supplied, it seems strange that so many persons should go through life, whining, groaning, and complaining that there is no fun in it.

I thank my stars that I am not one of that sort, but rather one who is determined to enjoy his morning's coffee, quite indifferent as to whether its aroma was obtained from the "male berry" of Java, or from the female fruit of Brazil and the Spanish Main. Indeed, on second thought, I am not quite certain that my natural gallantry does not incline me to prefer the latter.

EX-CUSTOM HOUSE.

How Horace Greeley Helped his Brother.

Barnes Greeley, a brother of Horace, relates this incident: "When Lincoln was elected I took a notion that I would like to have the appointment of mail agent on one of our local roads. The salary was $1,000 a year, which was a big thing for me. I knew Horace could get me the appointment. I spent some money travelling around and getting recommendations, and I succeeded in getting what I thought was sufficient. I had letters from a number of leading business men along the route, as well as from the party men, and these I forwarded to Horace, with a letter asking him to help me. What do you suppose he did? He wrote back, returning my recommendations, with the information, penned in his own hand, that he could get the appointment for me without the slightest trouble, but that he didn't want to do it. He wanted me to stick to the farm. He said I was the only boy at home, and he thought best that I should stay there. I wrote back and explained to him that I could be at home quite frequently; that at that time the salary of $1,000 a year would help me out very considerably; that another party had offered to take the position at $800 a year. I wound up by urging him to help me to the appointment. His reply was this: 'If another man offers to do this service for $500, and you expect $1,000, that is an excellent reason why you should not have it. If you had it the Government would be losing $500 a year.' In the same letter he made me this proposition: 'Stay on the old farm, and if I do not raise more corn this year on two acres than you do on ten acres I will give you $100.' Not being in a position to better myself, I stayed on the farm and accepted his proposition. I picked out ten acres of as good ground as had been planted in it. I planted two acres. When we measured up in the fall I had beaten him just twenty-five bushels of ears, and he sent me his check for $100."

SENATORIAL ELECTIONS.

Several elections of the United States Senators took place last Tuesday. In Pennsylvania the contest between Oliver and Grow was begun but not ended nor likely to be at an early day. In Tennessee too there is a conflict which may be prolonged some time.

The Massachusetts Legislature re-elected Hon. Henry L. Hawes by a large majority over Ben Butler, the eminent representative and candidate of the Democracy of the State. Eugene Hale was elected by the Maine Legislature. Connecticut made choice of Gen. Joseph R. Hawley. Senator McMillion was re-elected by the Minnesota legislature. Missouri returned Cockrell. In Indiana Gen. Ben. Harrison, grandson of President Harrison, was elected. In Michigan H. P. Baldwin was chosen for the short term and O. D. Conger for the long one. Delaware re-elected Senator Thomas Bayard. Ohio elected Secretary John Sherman, and New York chose Thomas C. Platt, anti-Conkling, so supposed. These are able men with national reputations, and all Republicans except Bayard and Cockrell.

We learn from the Tribune that the citizens of Cambridge are beginning to wake up to the importance of steam communication with Boston, and that there is a very fair prospect that something will be done to improve the passenger traffic between the two cities before the winter is allowed to drop. Though within easy hailing distance the people of Harvard Square can't reach the business centre of the "Hub" with the modes of transportation now employed in much less than forty minutes—about the time it takes to go from Woburn ten miles away, to Boston—and it is not surprising that any scheme that promises relief in the shape of steam cars should receive the hearty approval of the people. The Tribune thinks the most feasible plan would be to arrange with the Mystic Valley Company in such a way and on such terms as to induce them to change their route through Somerville to a new one from West Medford via Cambridge to the Boston and Albany depot in the city; or if the abandonment of the Somerville route should not be thought advisable then for the Cambridge people to make such pledges as would induce the Mystic Valley Co. to construct another line from West Medford as indicated above. As the Mystic Valley road will doubtless be built at an early date, the plan of Cambridge looking to it for relief seems to be a sensible one.

With Notwithstanding Congressman Bowmen denies that he is using his influence or in any way trying to reinstate Foreman Cook, the Herald sticks to and reaffirms its charges of official meddling by him. We apprehend that Mr. Bowmen knows what he is or is not doing in the matter better than the Herald does because his opportunities for knowing are better, and therefore we are strongly inclined to accept his denial of non-interference as true. This, however, is probably correct; the public are in sympathy with Mr. Cook, and his reinstatement would give general satisfaction among people who have connection with or know anything about the affairs of the Navy Yard.

We learn from the North American Review on the subject of an inter-oceanic canal across the isthmus of Darien, in which he strongly favors the Nicaraguan over the Panama route and gives excellent reasons why it should be adopted. These latter are numerous and seem to be conclusive as to choice of routes. He has taken great pains in gathering the facts on which his arguments are based, many of which have been derived from personal observation, and it is probable his views will have weight in shaping the action of our government towards the grand scheme of connecting the two oceans by a ship canal.

With A bill before the Legislature to amend the law of trustee process so as to exempt fifty dollars from its operation, was voted down in the House by a large majority last Monday. Mr. Cabot Lodge of Natick advocated its passage, but it being pretty clearly demonstrated that the bill was in the interests of dishonest debtors he failed to convince his fellow members that it ought to be enacted into a law.

With The Christianity divorce case has experienced another hitch in its slow progress through the courts. This time the venerable complainant has failed to pay over the alimony ordered by the Judge for the use and behoof of the fair accused, and proceedings have been suspended. It is suspected that the old Michiganander has no case against his young wife, but that she would make it warm for him in a divorce suit.

With The severest snow storm that England has experienced for twenty years occurred on Wednesday last, accompanied with a terrific wind. Many lives were lost on the coast; the Thames overflowed—and caused damage to the extent of $10,000,000; trade was suspended in London where the snow in places was five feet deep, and railroad traffic was out of the question.

Let all of us don our best bib-and-tucker and attend the ball of the West Side Associates this evening. It is to be one of the times we read of. Good music, and everything bang-up.

The ladies of St. John's Institute propose to give a Coffee Party on the evening of February 4, for which they are making due preparations. There will be music, dancing and a good time generally.

On Wednesday evening the Young People's Association connected with the Montvale Chapel will give a Fair for the society. A great variety of wares useful and ornamental have been provided and will be offered for sale, which will doubtless attract a host of buyers. The occasion will be made pleasant for visitors, and the managers guarantee that purchasers will get their money's worth. We trust the Fair will be a success.

On Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Leeming, the famous orator, will deliver his great address on Robert Emmet, the Irish patriot, at Lyceum Hall. During the evening he will also recite "The Men of '98," "Arbor Hill," "Battle of Fontenoy," and Emmet's speech in the dock, in the rendering of which he has no equal. Dr. Leeming is said to be the finest orator on the platform, and we have no doubt a full house will greet him on Sunday evening.

The Y. M. C. A. had a fine night for their concert. That was so much in their favor. Then they secured good performers for a musical entertainment. The Fairbairn Family are capital singers of Scotch music, and they acquitted themselves first rate last evening. It is really a great pleasure to listen to their Scotch songs, ballads, &c., and so felt those who were at the Baptist church to hear them. They drew a good, fair number of the right kind of people, those who can appreciate a good thing in dulcet tones, harmony &c., when they see it. We haven't heard how much money the Association made out of the concert, but they ought to have made a pile.

A party of three young fellows drove up to the hotel Sunday and tried to pick up a bus, because they were refused admittance. The police promptly packed the lads in their sleigh and ordered them out of town.

Robert Shannon, from the Chemical Works, while slightly under the influence of liquor, fell on the ice on Main street, at Walnut street crossing, and was taken in McGormack's shoe store, where he was attended by Dr. Kelley. No bones were broken, but he was sent home in a hack.

Members of the Woburn Phalanx are ordered to meet at their armory on Wednesday evening, January 26, in undress, for the purpose of electing 2nd Lieutenant of the company and inspection. It is the desire of the Captain that the members be all out.

The following statistics are from official sources: The number of deaths in Woburn during 1880 were 196, of which 91 were males and 105 females; 191 under 10 years of age; oldest person 92. Number of couples married 101; the youngest bride was 15 years old. And 455 dogs walked up to the Capitol's office, paid license fees, donned their collars, and were happy.

The annual Ball of the Phalanx last Friday evening more met the anticipations of the most sanguine. The attendance was large, and the whole order was carried out in a satisfactory manner. The hall decorations were exceedingly fine, music prime, and enjoyment complete.

"Curtis's Bazaar" takes the place of "K. C.'s Variety Store," 197 Main street. Curtis has bought out Mr. Keith and will hereafter run both kinds of business. He will keep the same great variety of goods and sell as cheap as the former proprietor, and respectfully solicits patronage.

We have received from Mr. Chapman, Librarian, "An American Leaflet: A hand-in-hand grasp across the Atlantic, by Two G. C's," the same being a "Friendship's Peace and Goodwill token from Woburn, Mass., Old England, to Woburn, Mass., New England, Christmas, 1880." It was printed at Woburn, England, by H. G. Fisher, and is an interesting little leaflet.

ELEGANT Vermont butter are toothsome cheese can be bought of A. M. Smith corner of Bennett and Pleasant streets.

William Porter, an employee of Horan, John Cummings, had a finger broken last Tuesday by a rock falling on it.

James Gilbert, for assault and battery on his wife, was fined $5 and costs, and placed under $200 bonds to keep the peace.

Proctor Academy, occupying the buildings which are owned by the Unitarian Educational Society, and under the able principalship of Herbert B. Dow, A. B., a graduate of Harvard College, is an excellent school, where Christian parents can safely send their boys and girls for a high school education, or to prepare for college.

On account of circumstances which could not be avoided the concert of the "Favorite" Company by Mr. Elmore A. Pierce, the popular electionist, will not be given until February 14. Miss Chamberlain, the trump card, had made engagements which rendered it impossible to secure her services before the date mentioned, and Mr. Pierce's dates are such that an earlier date for Woburn cannot be fixed. But it will be a grand musical and literary entertainment when it does come off.

The pianist was Mr. Frederick H. Lewis, a young artist of splendid abilities, who has often been heard here, but never before at a Harvard Concert. His performance of Schumann's Concerto in A minor, op. 54, was a spirited and artistic interpretation of that well-known composition, and served to show not only a mastery of the instrument but also poetic inspiration on the part of the player. It was very warmly applauded.

Concerning public prayers an eccentric presbyterian divine says: "We have three prayer,—the invocation, the long prayer and the closing prayer. Some people spend the invocation in arranging their apparel after coming to church; the long prayer in wishing it were over, and the closing prayer in getting ready to start homeward."

The entire cost of the Cologne cathedral, completed the other day is estimated at $50,000,000.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—One of our prominent business men told us the other day: "On this morning my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pail of Hoot's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best thing I ever invested. C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

DOCTOR against QUACK!!

A LEADING LONDON PHYSICIAN ESTABLISHES AN OFFICE IN NEW YORK FOR THE CURE OF EPILEPTIC FITS.

(From the Am. Journal of Medicine.)

Dr. Ab. Mesoole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured many cases of Epilepsy, and his success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a pamphlet on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address Dr. AB. MESOOLE, No. 36 Main St., New York.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JANUARY 21, 1881.

BANDAGE, CORN, NAIL, STRETCH, etc.

"Wonder treads upon the heels of wonder," in the age of scientific discoveries, and at each new achieve- ment, the world is more and more astounded and overwhelmed evidence compel it to believe. When Stevenson built the first railroad locomotive the public marvelled its lips contemptuously and said "No go." When the first steamship crossed the Atlantic and annihilate time and space the wiseacres cried impossible. When De Gierre announced that he had found a way to extract gold from the earth, he realized the old German legend in the dagger-corpse, everybody exclaimed absurd; yet everybody was won over from house to shade of common and pleasure. Electricity has been the lightning and lightning and annihilate time and space the wiseacres cried impossible. The journey occurred at the last of December, and was made by easy stages, as was necessary in Mary's delicate condition.

On their arrival at Bethlehem they found the village inn or caravansary was filled with guests, and that they could not be accommodated there. This was probably owing to the fact that the Emperor's decree had summoned many people to the place of legal enrollment, and it was very natural that there should be scanty accommodations in a small khan or hostelry. It was not uncommon in Palestine to use the limestone caves, with which the country abounded, for the housing of cattle, and frequently the inn was connected with these dry caverns which could be used in a strait for the entertainment of guests. Thus Joseph and Mary were not very poor people, but that they had at least a comfortable estate, on which they paid taxes. The journey occurred at the last of December, and was made by easy stages, as was necessary in Mary's delicate condition.

"Where's my suspenders?" asked Mr. Spoopendyke, screwing around and looking down his back. "You didn't clean the suspenders clear out of sight, did you?"

"They were there when you put on your pants, and I haven't touched them. What did you do with them?" said Mrs. Spoopendyke.

"Oh, yes, certainly. I did something with them. What'd ye suppose I did with them? I think I set 'em up in business somewhere, don't ye?" Got an idea I gave 'em a vacation to go a fishing, haven't ye? Well, I didn't add more'n that, I didn't send them away to be educated for the ministry. Where's my suspenders? Where'd you put them? Suppose I'm going around holding these pants up all day? Think I got no business interests besides holding up my breeches with both hands? What'd you do with the meanly things?"

"I know I didn't take them off the pants," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, pulling open the bureau draws and hustling things around in vain endeavor to find the missing articles.

"They must be there somewhere."

"Shoo! 'em to me, then!" demanded Mr. Spoopendyke, "take a stick and point 'em out to me! Of course they're here somewhere, only just put your thumb on 'em! What have ye done with 'em?' Can't ye recollect whether ye made 'em up into bands for the heathens, like ye did my dressin' gown or whether ye planted 'em to see if they would grow, like you did my straw hat? Think they walked off like a Croton bug? Suppose those suspenders have taken their girl to a picnic? What kind of house-keeping'd ye call this, anyhow? Where's my suspenders?" howled Mr. Spoopendyke, poking around in the soiled clothes bag.

"Where's those suspenders?" and he pushed the books off the shelf, and rummaged around behind the case with a broom handle for a divining rod.

"Maybe I can fix your pants so you won't need any suspenders to-day, and I'll find them before night," suggested Mrs. Spoopendyke.

"That's it. You've got it," raved Mr. Spoopendyke. "How are you going to fix 'em? Go to the them on with a shoe-string, like you do your bustle? Going to walk around behind me all day and hold 'em on? Praps you can pull 'em up and button 'em around my neck? How'd ye fix 'em? Going to put 'em on me upside down, so if they fall they'll fall up? If I had your head I'd go out to service as a file. Fix 'em? Why don't ye? Why don't ye fix 'em? These trousers are getting sick at the stomach waiting to be fixed!" and Mr. Spoopendyke shot across the room and dove under the wardrobe in search of the lost suspenders.

"Just let me buckle them tight behind," said Mrs. Spoopendyke. "The strap will hold them."

"That's the scheme, shrieked Mr. Spoopendyke. "Something's got to hold them. To him everything looks forward or backward. All the lines of history converge upon him. All the march of Providence is guided by Him. All the great purposes of God culminate in him. The greatest and most momentous fact which history records is the fact of his birth.

2. This fact is of far greater consequence than that we should keep any particular day in its commemoration.

"I know they were on his pants when he put them on," mused Mrs. Spoopendyke, entering upon a little inductive reasoning.

"He didn't take 'em off, and so they must be there now;" and the good woman approached her husband with a smile.

"Oh! now they're going to be fixed," said Mr. Spoopendyke with a horrid grin.

"Praps you're going to cut button holes in your hands and feet and hang over my head like a messy skirt with two tucks and a flounce to it, don't ye? Maybe you think these suspenders hurried down to breakfast so's to get the first crack at the morning paper, don't ye?"

But Mrs. Spoopendyke made no response.

Opening the back of her husband's fluttering shirt, she saw the missing suspenders. He had slipped them over his shoulders before assuming the muslin, and had forgotten about them.

"Smart as a whip, ain't ye?" growled Mr. Spoopendyke, as he drew off his shirt and let his suspenders down. If my head was as clear as yours I'd hire out for a church bell. You only need four lenses and a drop of rain water to be a microscope."

And Mr. Spoopendyke hurried on his clothes and scuttled down stairs to get the morning paper before his wife could make a clutch at it.—Bethlehem Eagle.

3. The humble souls are sometimes chosen to receive the most august revelations from heaven.

It is so all through the Sacred History, and not more so than at the birth of Christ. That grand event was not announced to mighty princes or great scholars, or profound philosophers, or renowned conquerors, but to a handful of Jewish shepherds, "keeping watch over their flocks by night."

John Bunyan, a captive in the jail at Bedford, had a vision of the pilgrim's progress to the Celestial City, second only in its power for good to the revelation made to those simple shepherds of Bethlehem.

Lowly walks in life, trodden by faithful men, may be lighted with heavenly glories.

That is the best way which leads directly to Christ.

4. The scheme of Redemption, while it brings the highest glory to God, also secures peace and good will to men.

Sin aims a deadly blow alike at God's glory and man's good. Redemption secures both, and in the song of the angels both worlds can unite.

5. The greatest power in the world at this is the "Babe of Bethlehem."

Infidels scoff at Christianity as a weak thing. But nineteen hundred years of progress and triumph bear testimony to its strength.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1881.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, JAN. 28, 1881.

The JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Heron, 105 Main Street, R. Robie, 106 Main Street, H. F. Cutler's, Cummingsville, J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn, Cooper's News Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

The report of the President's Commissioners sustains the Boston branch of the Ponca tribe of Indians in their fight with the Department of the Interior, and is, by implication, correspondingly severe on Secretary Schurz. As claimed by the Boston branch, the report shows that the Poncas were cheated out of their Dakota lands, and have never been satisfied with their new homes in the Indian Territory.

The Boston Journal's Washington correspondent, "Perley," has smashed the Cabinet "state," and dealt new hands all round. Space does not admit of mention of all the changes, but the most important is, that Senator Blaine will go to the Court of St. James instead of into the Cabinet.

LOCAL NEWS.

— Read ad. "For Sale" in this paper. Good chance.

— "S." sends us a conundrum which we are unable to guess.

— Buy the Forest or Octagon Range, if you want the best.

— We understand that Mr. H. T. Fletcher talks of renting the Pollard shops in which to prosecute his business.

— Monday night was a sharp one. Thermometers on Tuesday morning, indicated from two to ten below zero.

— Mr. Burgess's advertisement furnishes pretty interesting reading to purchasers of dry goods.

— Josiah Leath, the boot and shoe dealer, will occupy the store lately vacated by W. H. Curtis.

— Col. H. B. Hayes of Woburn and Joshua Gray of Medford have been granted letters patent for a railway signal.

— Charles R. Bryant has bought of Henry Taylor 25,000 feet of land with buildings on Montvale Avenue for $8,500.

— It is cold enough this morning to suit the most fastidious. Comes pretty near being a blizzard.

— Those who fail to attend the Baptist Supper and Fair will miss a grand good thing. But, no doubt, there will be a house full.

— Smith & Son have marked down the prices of their goods to figures that bring them within the reach of all. It is a good chance to secure big bargains in dry goods.

— Miss Dolly Harndon, an aged lady who boards with Mrs. Sweetser on Union street, fell and broke her right shoulder while getting out of bed last Monday morning.

— "No Surrender" Lodge, 110, L. O. L. will give their 5th annual ball at Armory Hall on the evening of February 4. Fine music has been engaged.

— The Y. M. C. A. are lying low and planning for a concert to be given in February that will knock them all. It is to be the musical event of the winter.

— Hon. John Cummings of this town is one of the Vice-Presidents of "The Institute of Heredity," the headquarters of which are at 35 Pemberton Square, Boston.

— We see by the press of that village that Mr. Elmore A. Pierce of this town is booked for readings at Stoneham "about this time," as the Old Farmers' Almanac puts it.

— The St. Charles, T. A. Society will give a grand ball in St. John's Institute on the evening of February 25, for which due preparations are being made.

— Wm. R. Perkins, formerly a shoe manufacturer and well known to the trade a quarter of a century ago, died in January 22.

— Thanks to the A. D. Weld Post 148, G. A. R., Winchester, for comps to their Charity Entertainment to be given in Harmony Hall, on next Tuesday evening.

— At the Cross street fire on Tuesday evening Cyrus B. Fetzridge of the Highland Hose had both of his great toes frozen stiff than a poker. Pretty rough for the gallant fireman.

— Edward Simonds has been collector of taxes in Woburn every year since 1850, except one—1856—when he was shelved by the Know Nothings. We call that a very honorable official record.

— If the thing keeps on an extra appropriation will have to be made to pay for labor on the highways. It requires a big crew of men to keep the streets free from drifts and in travelling trim.

— About 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening a fire in the bark shed of Shaw & Taylor on Cross street, did about $200 damage. The firemen were promptly on the ground and by good work prevented greater damage to the premises.

— Next Friday evening the ladies of St. John's Institute will give a coffee party and a grand good time all in one. For the dancing the very best music will be furnished. The affair will doubtless be a very enjoyable one, and the attendance large.

— A girl 10 years of age ran away from her home in West Medford on Monday night and took the late train for Woburn. Officer McSweeney took charge of her on arrival, and on Tuesday night a relative came for her. This is reported to be an old trick of hers.

— The Police will prosecute under Sec. 17 of Art. 4 of our By-Laws, which reads: "Snow or ice shall be removed, by the tenant abutting, from all brick or concrete sidewalks in the town, within six hours after the same shall have ceased to fall or form."

— Some of our citizens who left Woburn last Saturday on the train at 11:35 a. m., were obliged to remain on the side track in Winchendon until about 1:15, although two trains passed the station going in, and might on such an emergency have taken on the train.

— At a meeting of the Woburn Phalanx held last Wednesday evening, J. Horace Dean was elected 2d Lieutenant of the Company. He was at the front in Rebellion days, and is worthy of the honor conferred on him by his comrades of the Phalanx.

— The Woburn Brass Band will give their third annual supper at the band room on next Monday evening at 9 o'clock. It will be a good one, for the boys are putting their best foot forward to make it a success. Thanks for invite.

— The North Woburn street railway continues to make its trips on runners, and it looks now as though dog-days would be obliged to lend a helping hand before the track is found. Still, you can't almost always tell about such things.

— On account of the sudden and unexpected partial collapse of the engine a Wednesday afternoon train was detained some thirty minutes just this side of Winchester. There was quite a commotion among the passengers.

— Estes & Lauriat, publishers of the Globe Encyclopedia, are after certain titles of Woburn with sharp sticks. They have commenced twenty-five suits against people here for rent of the work, one of which was up for trial at Cambridge yesterday.

— You should go to the store Mr. A. E. Thompson in the first place, for after you have unsuccessfully canvassed the whole burg for an article you are morally certain of finding it at Thompson's. And besides keeping a great variety of first-class goods, he sells cheap and always gives satisfaction to purchasers.

— Y. M. C. A.—A praise meeting will be held at the rooms of the Association at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, which will be led by W. H. Hill. The Cedar street meeting will open at 7 o'clock, p. m., Arthur B. Wyman, leader. A Bible class will be held at the rooms at 8 o'clock on Monday evening.

— Mr. C. W. Nute is preparing for a first class concert by home talent for the benefit of the M. E. Society, which will be given on Wednesday evening, February 9. The very best musical talent of Woburn has been engaged for the occasion, and a royal treat of melody may be depended on. Mr. Nute is meeting with good encouragement.

— The Utica Fire Alarm Company readily agree to the terms of the Board of Selectmen and offer a $10,000 bond for the fulfillment of their contract with the town. The bond and contract are now in course of preparation. There is no doubt but that the Board has made a better bargain every way than they could have made with the other company.

— The School Board and Teachers of Stowham, after thoroughly examining the system of teaching in vogue in the Woburn Primary Departments, have concluded to adopt the same, and it is possible that Superintendent Davis will be called to that flourishing village at an early day to set up the machinery. He is entirely capable of doing it, and in the very best shape.

— For the benefit of newspaper men and small boys there ought to be more runways in town than there are. Judging from the way they carry themselves it isn't too much to believe that the horses would be agreeable to any arrangement by which a few hand-some cutters could be daily smashed, but a corresponding willingness on the part of the owners appears to be wanting, hence the dearth of exciting runways.

— The School Board and Teachers of Stowham, after thoroughly examining the system of teaching in vogue in the Woburn Primary Departments, have concluded to adopt the same, and it is possible that Superintendent Davis will be called to that flourishing village at an early day to set up the machinery. He is entirely capable of doing it, and in the very best shape.

— There was a very pleasant surprise party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Linnell, on Bennett street, last Tuesday evening. It was the 45th birthday of Mr. Linnell, and his many friends thought it ought to be appropriately celebrated, so they gathered in large numbers in his cheerful parlors on that evening and spent several enjoyable hours. The principal presents consisted of stoneware elegantly carved and well filled. The visit was chiefly devoted to parlour games, dancing, feasting, and prime music.

— The concert given in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening by pupils of the Perkins Institute for the Blind was pronounced capital by all present. The programme was as follows: Opening of the Chapter; Reception of the Most Excellent Grand High Priest; Music—"Great God, Supreme Grand Master"; Installation of the Most Excellent High Priest—Frederic A. Flint; Music; Installation of Excellent King—Thomas A. Spurz; music; Installation of Excellent Scribe—Charles A. Sweetser; music; Installation of remaining officers—S. Frankford Trull, C. H.; Albert A. Ferrin, P. S.; J. Winslow Richardson, R. A. C.; John W. Hutchinson, M. D.; V. C. Alonzo Pierce, M. D. 2d V.; Leonard Fowler, M. 1st V.; Horace Collamore, J.; Sparrow Horton, Secy.; C. Frank Kelley, S.; Amariah V. Haynes, Tyler; The Chaplains, Rev. William S. Barnes, Rev. Hugh C. Townley and Charlie A. Jones, being absent, were not installed. This was followed by music; proclamation by the Grand Captain of the Host; Charge by M. E. G. H. P.; music. At the close of these exercises there was given a very pleasant entertainment consisting of Song, "Maid Dundee," by Miss Lizzie Saxon; Recitation by Mrs. G. P. Bartlett; Song, "Jamie," by Mrs. W. H. Bailey; Reading, by Mrs. G. P. Bartlett; Songs, "The Dear Mother," "Come Out," by Mrs. W. H. Bailey; Reading, by Rev. Mr. Ryder. The evening's pleasures closed with a sumptuous spread in Mischaum Club Rooms.

— The Juveniles are of superior quality embracing the second part of Knox's Bay Travellers in the Far East; Coffin's Following the Flag; Little Folks in Feathers and Fur, by Olive Miller; Kingston's, Roger Willoughby, etc.

John B. Gonge gives many of the stirring events of his chequered life under the title of Sunshine and Shadow; Dr. Angell discourses in an agreeable and sympathetic way of the late William M. Hunt. Alfred Gibbs makes a delightful book from the correspondence of Goethe's mother, introduced with biographical sketches. The Personal Life of David Livingstone, the great African traveller, is now given to the world by W. G. Blaikie. It will be found full of interest to those who have read his African discoveries, and wish to know more of those traits of character which gave him such perseverance and success. Young Ireland is a valuable resume of that important period of Irish history between the years 1840 and 1850. Although dealing with recent times it presents a clear and truthful picture as vivid colors. A. J. Church relates the Story of the last days of Jerusalem, in a succinct and graphic manner. His main authority is Josephus, but the long narrative of that writer is greatly simplified and condensed. The Memories of French Palaces, by A. E. Chalilis, places before the reader, pictorially as well as historically, Versailles, Fontainbleau, the Louvre, the Palais Royal, St. Cloud, Malmaison, and other noted residences of French emperors and kings. The pleasant volume by Geo. A. Sala, Paris Herself Again, shows forth in his vivid way that great city after its restoration from the effects of the siege by the Prussians and the sack of the Commune. They are fully illustrated.

— The Keokuk Constitution says that "Solomon was a great man, and a wise man, but even Solomon couldn't sew a button on the back of his shirt collar without taking the shirt off, and we know it."

— Baby saved! We are so thankful to say that our baby was permanently cured of a dangerous and protracted irregularity of the bowels by the use of Hop Bitters by its mother, which at the same time restored her to perfect health and strength.—The Parents, Rochester, N. Y. See another column.

— Those searching for the solid basis of religious thought and feeling will find it well considered in Prof. Cairn's Philosophy of Religion.

— For field sports there is Fifty Years with the Gun and the Rod, by D. W. Cross, which treats these pastimes scientifically as well as in a practical way.

— In the matter of preparing food for the table a new Cook-book has just been published by Miss Parlon, the noted teacher and lecturer, on gastronomics. Readers will also find the valuable Notes on Nursing, by Florence Nightingale.

— It appears that the poem of Miss Hudson of this town which was recently printed in Hazzer was by no means her solitary contribution to the poetic

[Rev. S. H. Yoder's Position.]

A representative man's opinion on other than political matters is often of great use to his constituency. The Hon. S. H. Yoder of Globe Mills, Pa., has thus recorded his opinion on a subject of popular interest. I have been selling St. Jacobs Oil for the last year. I have never heard a person speak of it, except as a splendid medicine, and as the great specific for rheumatic affections, whether inflammatory, acute or chronic, swellings, sores, sprains, burns, wounds, etc. I sell more St. Jacobs Oil than of any other kind of liniment, and it gives universal satisfaction. I will always keep it on hand. The farmers say, that for man and beast, they find nothing to equal it.

FIT

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1881.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 4, 1881.

The Journal is for sale at the stores of S. Foster, 100 Main Street; B. Hobie, 108 Main Street; E. Cutts, Cummingsville; J. P. Tyler's, North Woburn; Cooper's News Stand at the Center Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

W Chicago has recently come out with a candidate for Mr. Garfield's Cabinet in the person of Mr. Robert Lincoln, son of the martyred President. The mantle of the father did not fall on his son in this instance, and it is not probable that Mr. Garfield will take Robert and make him one of his political family on the strength of his father's fame and services to his country. The truth is, Mr. Robert Lincoln, though a fair kind of lawyer, is not hefty enough for an Attorney General of the U. S.

Senator Dawes, when replied to by Logan and others on the Ponca business, last Tuesday, to employ a somewhat expressive but not very choice phrase, got his back up and retorted with considerable temper. However Congress and Mr. Schurz may feel about it the country has had quite enough of this Ponca discussion, and is more than willing to let it drop.

LOCAL NEWS.

— Our friend, J. B. McDonald, finds the telephone in his office a very convenient investment.

— Mr. Mark Allen don't know but that he will put William Tell on the Woburn stage before the apple trees blossom.

— The weather continues to be the theme of a good deal of various, but generally uncomplimentary, comment by the people.

— No. 3 of Mr. V. M. Simons' Our Folks has come to hand, and found to be a good, pious little weekly.

— Postmaster Wyman is on the royal road to health and will soon be as good as new. He is at his post, and does a man's work every day.

— Another "dry moon" this month. What in the world are we all coming to? But Horn Pond is good for some months more of drought.

— The other day Mr. John S. True's horse made a misstep, stumbled, and the contents of the double-sleigh found themselves in the snow.

— The Shoe and Leather Reporter gives Woburn twenty leather manufacturers, but we notice that it does not name them all. Which suggests the inquiry, does a directory direct?

— Mr. F. B. Leeds, the apothecary on the corner of Main street and Montvale avenue, keeps a choice stock of drugs and medicines, toilet and fancy goods, and is a good man to deal with.

— The English sparrows that the Stoneham papers complain have deserted that village, must have come over here, for the streets are alive with them. We feed and house the little fellows.

— Tickets for the Masonic Fair in Winchester, which will be held on the 15, 17, 18, and 19th of this month, are for sale in Woburn at Munroe's clothing store. Step up and buy one before they are all gone.

— Ayer's Almanac for 1881 a copy of which is received, (thanks to the enterprising publishers, Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.) is printed in nine languages, and is the biggest thing we have yet seen in the almanac line.

— The rooms of the First National Bank are undergoing a thorough change, revamping and fixing over. Mechanics are at work, and when they get through the bank will have quarters that it will not be afraid to brag on.

— Friday p. m.: colder than blazes: good prospect for it to hang on: the JOURNAL thinks things are getting a good ready for the fulfilment of the terrible prophecy of the Jamaica professor published by us one week ago.

— The Coffee Party, to be given this evening by the ladies of the St. John's Institute, is to be a grand one indeed. The managers have met with much better success than they anticipated in the sale of tickets, and a second edition had to be worked off. There will be fine dressing, fine music, and fine dancing there tonight.

— The St. Charles Total Abstinence Society will give a great ball on February 25, for which tickets are selling rapidly. The Society numbers about 200 members and is one of the most flourishing and efficient temperance organizations in Woburn. Their ball, to secure funds for the society, deserves to be liberally patronized.

— The meetings of the Woburn Phalanx for February will be held as follows: Thursday evenings, 3 and 17 drill meetings; 10 and 24 drill and business meetings. The Commander expects every member of the Company to be present at two or three of the meetings at least. All portions of uniforms must be returned to the Armory immediately.

— Towns contiguous to the Middlesex Fells are in a state of unwonted excitement over the question of making that charming tract of country a State Park. Entertainments similar in character to candy-pulling parties are being held to secure funds for the purchase of the Fells. When they are bought and paid for in this way, or by subscription, will the editors of the Stoneham papers please notify us by postal card?

— The Fifth Avenue Company will play in Lyceum Hall next Tuesday evening. Whom it is composed of may be learned by perusing the announcement of its agent in another column. Some old, familiar, and somewhat famous names will be seen there. The company carries its own scenery for "The Two Orphans"—the only piece it plays. This is what a contemporary says:

The 5th Avenue Company is an organization of superior talent, and after the matinee performance our citizens were not slow in making the fact known. As a consequence, when the doors were opened in the evening, there was a perfect rush for tickets until there was not a single seat left. Of the performance entire we have nothing but praise, and the enthusiasm of the audience was manifested by the prolonged applause which the actors held to their play unfolded its interesting plot. The drama was mounted in splendid style, and was the most enj-yable performance we have witnessed this season.—Trenton Advocate.

— Read "Wanted by a young man" in our business columns. He is all right.

— Mrs. Alma Perkins's estate, now in the Insolvency Court, don't bid fair to pay more than 1,000 cents on a dollar.

— John F. Barrett was found here last Wednesday in an almost frozen state. He was sent to the almshouse.

— There is another great reduction in the price of coffee and things at the Boston Branch. Read the card in this paper.

— We said that the Cross street fire a week or two ago was in tannery of Shaw & Taylor, which was all wrong—we should have said of E. L. Shaw & Co.

— The drift-removers who stand and fight the wind day after day in front of the Public Library deserve to be placed on the retired list with a handsome pension.

— Mrs. Dr. Bartlett is in considerable demand as a reader at public entertainments here this winter. She is a thoroughly cultivated elocutionist as well as a fine singer.

— A gay and jolly sleighing party came up from Union Square, Somerville, last Wednesday evening, and regaled themselves with a hop and fine supper at Lee Hammont's Central House.

— Mrs. J. H. Parker and Mrs. Alonzo T. Young, assisted by Winchester ladies will manage the Mt. Horode Lodge table of fancy goods at the Masonic fair at Winchester to be held on the 16—19 instant. Donations may be left with Mrs. Parker.

— The old firm James Skinner & Co. has been dissolved by the withdrawal of Simon Blake. The business will be continued under the former name of James Skinner & Co., Mr. James Skinner and Mr. John S. True constituting the firm.

— Michael Sullivan, a lad of 14, was found by the police at our depot, who could give no account of himself. He was locked up, and finally said he had run away from his home in Holyoke. A telegram was sent to that city and a reply was received from the police that he was wanted for larceny. He was sent home on Wednesday.

— There is a scheme on foot which points strongly towards the completion of the Mystic Valley R. R. at a distant day. A meeting was held at Cambridge last evening to consider the matter, and as the people of that city are deeply interested in securing steam transportation in and out of Boston it is presumed they will give the M. V. a good lift.

— Boys who catch on to sleighs for rides sometimes come to grief. On Tuesday, in front of the JOURNAL office, a lad engaged in the business, got the nether extremities of his anatomy mixed up with the intricate machinery of the cutter, and emerged from the contest with a sprained ankle and bloody nose. Which ought to be a solemn warning to the boys.

— As indicative of the intensity of the cold on Wednesday we instance the fact that the water pipes in the High School building froze, or, more properly, the water in them froze, and that too while the fires in the building were in full blast. Reliable persons say that such a thing has not happened before in the last fifteen years. And we should hope, for the credit of the town, that they tell the truth about it.

— Last Monday Mr. Charles Perkins' horse upset his sleigh down by the grain mill and deposited the inmates on the "Beautiful" &c. and ran away and frightened Mr. Charles A. Smith's horse and he ran away and Mr. Perkins' horse ran clear down to Winchelsea where he was stopped in his mad career and stabled and Mr. Smith's horse ran towards North Woburn and was brought up standing somewhere on the road and both horses considerably shattered both slugs and that is the end of the story.

— Miss Robie sang in the Congregational church quartette last Sunday in place of Miss Webb whose engagement with the society recently expired. Miss Webb's permanent successor has not yet been employed.

She is a splendid soprano, and we suspect it will not be easy thing to fill her place in the quartette. By the way, those people who attended meeting last Sunday evening on the strength of an expected attendance of the choir were not a trifle disappointed.

— About 12 o'clock on Tuesday night officers Boyle and McSweeney took into their custody Patrick McCauley of East Boston whose appearance at the time of the arrest was such as would strongly excite the suspicion of the officers. He came to town with a team and on Wednesday morning Chief Conn found that it had been stolen at East Boston. An officer from Station 7, Boston, came out and took McCauley away, and the team was returned to its owner.

— There is a prospect that some quite necessary changes and improvements are to be made in the present town lock-up. Plans will be submitted to the people at the next town meeting, who no doubt will sanction and order the changes. At present the lock-up is entirely inadequate as a prison, and from a sanitary point of view some alterations and improvements are imperatively demanded.

— And again, the Police headquarters and the jail should be in the same building as is almost universally the case.

— The entertainment to be given in the M. E. Church on the evening of the 9th, we can assure our readers, is to be a capital one. We ask them to scan carefully the programme which Mr. Nute has arranged, and then tell us if they don't think it is to be a first class musical and literary feast. The very best musical talent in this town, also the best reader in this part of the State, have been engaged, and fail is a word that can't be found in the vocabulary of any of them. We trust this rare treat will be handsomely patronized.

— The complimentary concert to Elmwood A. Pierce is announced for Feb. 14, and tickets will be on sale at 9 o'clock Monday, Feb. 7. We advise people to be on hand to purchase their tickets early, as this concert, as can be seen by the advertisement, is to be the best by far that has been given in Woburn this winter, and Mr. Pierce has many friends who will no doubt pack the house.

We predict that this will be the most successful concert in every way that we have had or shall have this season. Tickets will be only 35 cents, and for sale by T. Marvin Parker, and Frank B. Pierce. Each of these persons will have just half the seats, and equally good ones can be obtained at either place.

— The Fifth Avenue Company will play in Lyceum Hall next Tuesday evening. Whom it is composed of may be learned by perusing the announcement of its agent in another column. Some old, familiar, and somewhat famous names will be seen there. The company carries its own scenery for "The Two Orphans"—the only piece it plays.

— The performance entire we have nothing but praise, and the enthusiasm of the audience was manifested by the prolonged applause which the actors held to their play unfolded its interesting plot. The drama was mounted in splendid style, and was the most enj-yable performance we have witnessed this season.—Trenton Advocate.

— Horace Collamore has been re-appointed Justice of the Peace. Good appointment.

— Mr. J. Horace Dean has accepted the office of 2nd Lieutenant of the Woburn Phalanx. Which is just as it ought to be.

— The kind lady who provided the editor of this paper with credentials entitling him to a warm meal at the Baptist Centennial Supper last evening, will please accept ours.

— A young woman giving the name of Gale has been begging in town the past week. She represents that she is supporting a widowed mother and sick brother. The police are satisfied that she is a fraud.

— The L. W. Perham Hose Company, No. 1, will give an assembly on the evening of February 18. The boys are getting a good ready for a nice time. Firemen know how to do it.

— The arrangements for the Phalanx Massarade are in the hands of a committee consisting of Capt. Ellard, Lieuts. Converse and Dean, Sergts. Skelton, Simonds and Halliday, Corp. Madison, and Private Nichols, to whom alone can application for tickets be made. The names received by them are then referred to a sub-committee, and if approved by that committee the tickets are issued. Application must be made before the 17th inst. Mr. Pierson and Mrs. Heath, costumers, will be at the armor with costumes the 17th and 18th inst.

— On the 21st and 22d of February the Y. M. C. A. will hold a Fair, for which ample preparations are now on foot. We shall tell all about it next week. The following are the Committees, the members of which are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. parlor to-morrow, Saturday, evening, at 7:30 o'clock, sharp.

— The Ladies Meeting and Sociable at the Unitarian church yesterday afternoon and evening, was well attended. Mrs. Howe's lecture on "Modern Society" was read, report was made of the recent Charles-town Conference, and special notice was given of the Society's loss in the death of Mrs. Child.

WINCHESTER.

Mr. Albert Ayer lost a horse valued at $150 last Tuesday.

I hear that the Mt. Horeb Lodge of Woburn will have a table at the grand masonic fair here.

The funeral of Hon. Josiah E. Stone will be on Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Winchester Unitarian Church.

The Independent Associates will give their annual ball on next Friday evening. It will be a fine entertainment.

The measles have here to quite an extent. Many of the pupils of the public schools have lately been at home sick.

Dr. March was travelling toward Woburn with several ladies aboard when one of the thills of his sleigh broke, but fortunately no one was hurt.

Archie Conant is "doing" the locals of Winchester for the Medford Mercury, and does them well. Winchester is well represented in the local press.

The Congregational Church has recently chosen the following deacons: A. C. Vinton for six years; Joseph A. Tyler for five years; Stephen Thompson for four years.

Active preparations for the Masonic Fair, which commences on February 16 and continues four days, are making, and it is expected that this affair will be a great success.

The entertainment given by A. D. Weld Post, G. A. R., last Tuesday evening consisted of music, and readings by Mrs. Huntley. Everyone present enjoyed the occasion, for it was a nice entertainment.

The Mystic "nuisance" gives our people but little uneasiness. We claim that our town does not contribute to the nuisance, and as for our water supply it is satisfactory in quantity and quality.

There is considerable stir over the question of Mr. Stone's successor as member of the Legislature. Some men are putting themselves forward for candidates whom the people do not want and will not have. My own opinion is that George S. Littlefield Esq. would give better satisfaction than any other man.

All of our citizens are taking a lively interest in the Grand Masonic Fair to be held on the 16—19 of this month and for which great preparations are being made. Ladies as well as gentlemen, non-Masons as well as Masons, are all lending a helping hand, which is pleasant. Mt. Horeb Lodge, Woburn, will have a table at the fair, which is very good of them. Contributions to the fair are respectively solicited by the brethren of the "Mystic Tie" and those of Woburn may be left with Mrs. J. H. Parker. *

ITCHING PILES—SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms and moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing; particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "Dr. SWAYNE'S ALL-HEALING OINTMENT" is a pleasant sure cure.

Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barber's Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Erptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Ladies who appreciate elegance and purity will have the lightest and sweetest brest, rich food and style, but good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive quack doctors or using so much of the vile burning medicine that does you only harm, but put your trust in that simple, pure remedy, Hop Bitters; that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see good times and have good health. The February WIDE AWAKE comes well packed with matter for the delight of the entire family circle, for certainly the great thirty-two page supplement containing the first portion of George MacDonald's new story, "Warlock o' Glenwarlock" will be as warmly welcomed by thousands of adult readers, as the funny seven-page illustrated ballad of "Jan Uperavik of Omenak" by hosts of school boys everywhere. Very dramatic, too, are the illustrated poems of "Tatts," by Mrs. Annie L. Jack, and "No-body's Cat," by Mrs. Clara Doty Bates. Edward Everett Hale gathers his club of young folks to talk over the Southern Educational Fund and the Irish land-troblous. In these "talks" with Mr. Hale, others than boys and girls can get at the root of many political matters. Mr. Arthur Gilman, in his "Battle of the Types" will hold the attention of all interested in the spelling-reform. Mrs. Emily Huntington Miller has a capital story, "The Reign of the Georges"; Annette L. Noble tells "A True Bit of History"; and A. G. Plymton of "Dolly's Valentines," while the most stirring story of all is Frank H. Taylor's "Racing a Thunder Storm." All these stories are illustrated. The serials, "Rocky Fork," "The Story of Honor Bright," and Mrs. A. M. Diaz' "Polly Colquhoun" are delightful and from a literary point of view much superior to the usual juvenile serial. Of the "Money Page," four Cash Prizes are offered for the four best black-and-white drawings. Only $2.00 a year. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston, Mass.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhoea and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

It cannot be denied, for the cures effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla, most conclusively show that it is the most wonderful blood purifier known.

The Chicago Times says, "President Hayes took thirty minutes for breakfast in that city." No doubt thirty minutes was all he could get in Chicago without spending this year's salary.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all Persons interested in the Estate of Peter Fealey, late of Woburn, in said County, deceased:

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Captain J. T. Pealey, who, in his will, directs that the same be offered to the testator, and that she may be excused from giving a surety or sureties for her bond pursuant to said will.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the second Tuesday in March next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give publication of the same, in the newspaper called the WOBURN JOURNAL, printed at Woburn, in the last publication to be had on that day, or thereafter, in such manner as to give notice to all persons concerned.

Witness, George M. Brooks, Esq., Judge of said Court, this first day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one. J. H. TYLER, Register.

Bunions, Corns, Nails, Tender Feet, etc.

"Wonder treads upon the heels of wonder," in this age of scientific discoveries. At each new achievement, we are struck with wonder and admiration, and overwhelming evidence compels it to believe. When Stevenson built the first railroad locomotive the public uttered lips contemptuous and said, "What goes?" With Morse's invention the lightning and annihilate time and space the wise ones cried impotently. When De Guerro announced that he had made a discovery in the art of printing, and realized the old German legend in the daguerreotype, everybody exclaimed absurd; yet everybody was wrong. The world has been turned upside down by this age of science. Electricity puts a girdle around the world in a few minutes; and we have each other's shadow news in a few hours. Josiah Briggs, the great Dr. Josiah Briggs, proclaimed his Balsam, Sure Cure, Silver Corn Plaster, Dissolving Foot Lotion and Liniment, in his drugstore, absolute in effect, in curing corns, ingrown nails, abscesses, tumors, etc., and in giving relief from all sorts of diseases. These can hardly long exist where Hop Bitters are used,варвар и парфюмированы, are their regular custom.

On this occasion they took their child Jesus with them. After passing in the duties and festivities of the Passion week, they set out to return to their home at Nazareth, about sixty-six miles north. They travelled in caravans, embracing a large number of people, and made up mostly of pilgrims from the same neighborhood, and generally acquainted with each other. The younger portion of the company would naturally group together as they went along, leaving their seniors to do the same. So it might easily happen that children of the age of Jesus might be with their young companions and be separated from his parents for a time without exciting any special uneasiness. It seems, however, that Jesus did not leave the city with the caravan, but had become deeply interested and engrossed with the temple services, and with communion with the distinguished Hebrew teachers with whom he was brought into contact. His parents, meanwhile, proceeded on their journey homewards, but missing their child after the first day, tarried to seek for him, and returned to Jerusalem, where, to their astonishment, they found him still in the temple, sitting as a scholar among those who attended the open free schools, of which there were many in Jerusalem, where the rabbi used to lecture to their pupils and answer their questions.

Here Joseph and Mary found their child deeply interested in what was going on, and exciting the astonishment of all at the precocity both of his questions and his information.

To their address, remonstrating with him affectionately for his absence, which had obliged them to search for him with some anxiety, Jesus gave them that remarkable reply, the first recorded words of our Lord, and which seem to imply that now, first, the great fact of his special relationship to God the Father, and of a great work which that Father had committed to him, was beginning to dawn upon his mind.

"How is it that ye sought me? Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" Little did his parents comprehend the immense significance of this reply. They indeed must have known that theirs was no ordinary child. But the full meaning of his words they could not understand. Only the mighty future could reveal that. He went home with them again as a loving and dutiful child, and was a good and obedient son in the family, but what had occurred gave his mother especially much food for solemn thought, and grand expectations. But she said nothing, like a discreet woman; she gave no encouragement to idle gossip among the neighbors, but kept all these sayings in her heart.

Meantime, the simple but significant record with which the lesson closes is, "Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." This is true of his human nature, which was subject to the law of development and progress. As a youth he grew in stature and in wisdom, and by the singular beauty of his character and the purity of his life, in favor with God and man. So his youth was passed with little that was eventful or striking, as men would say, yet under the fresh and beautiful scenes of nature, and in quiet but profound communion with God.

FRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

1. It is a beautiful sight to see children with their parents in the House of God.

Such a sight was more common forty years ago in our land than it is now. Parents were more faithful to their duty in bringing their children to church than now. The attendance of children was more regular and constant. But the yoke of parental discipline is now a very "easy" yoke, and the burdens which it imposes are very "light." It is not an uncommon thing for young people now to forsake the Church of their fathers, and to grow up without any settled place of worship, wandering about in the gospel pastures, like Pharao's lean-kine, "always feeding and always lean." In some respects the former days were better than these.

2. The Sunday school was never intended to supersede either the family or the House of God.

Nothing is ever gained by exalting the one at the expense of the other. Nothing is more noticeable in the life of our Lord than that he was trained to obey his parents, and to prize and attend regularly upon the services of God's House.

Liquid KIDNEY-WORT.

In response to the urgent requests of great numbers of people who prefer to purchase a Kidney-Wort already prepared, the proprietors of this celebrated remedy now prepare it in large bottles. It is a dark, very concentrated, is put up in large bottles, and is equally efficient as that put up dry in tiny cans. It saves the necessity of preparing, it always rises, and is easily taken by spoonfuls. Price, $1 per bottle.

The Boyhood of Jesus.

LUKE 2: 40-42.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon him."—Luke 2: 40.

Central Truth.—Jesus Christ was truly human.

Twelve years have passed since the scene recorded in the last lesson. Jesus is a boy in Nazareth in the home of Joseph and Mary. We are indebted to St. Luke for this glance at this sweet and lovely boyhood. He is the only one of the evangelists who mentions anything of the childhood and youth of Christ, and he gives us only the scene in the temple among the learned doctors. He lived in the quiet country among the hills of Nazareth, communing much with nature, and in training for the great work of his life.

It was the time of the great feast of the Passover. This was one of the three leading festivals of the Jews, the others being the festival of Pentecost and the feast of Tabernacles. The Passover was instituted, as we know, (see Exodus 12:) to commemorate the departure of the Hebrews from Egypt and the sparing of their first-born on the night when there was such bitter wailing in the houses of the Egyptians. It was a festival of special importance, lasting a week, and though the attendance of adult males only was obligatory on the people, it was not uncommon for females also to attend.

We might expect from Mary's well-known devotional character that she would accompany her husband to Jerusalem to attend the festival, and we learn (v. 41) that this was the regular custom.

On this occasion they took their child Jesus with them. After passing in the duties and festivities of the Passion week, they set out to return to their home at Nazareth, about sixty-six miles north. They travelled in caravans, embracing a large number of people, and made up mostly of pilgrims from the same neighborhood, and generally acquainted with each other. The younger portion of the company would naturally group together as they went along, leaving their seniors to do the same. So it might easily happen that children of the age of Jesus might be with their young companions and be separated from his parents for a time without exciting any special uneasiness.

Vicksburg, the largest city of Miss., on the river, is in the much dreaded danger of being left entirely out in the cold, to become at no distant future an inland city, unless the natural tendencies of the river at that point are seriously interfered with. At present writing, she has been obliged to move her wharf-boat landing two miles below the city proper, which dangerously interferes with all her business prospects. For this reason, the Mississippi River Commission has ordered a complete survey of the river at that point, for about thirty miles, with a view to forming some feasible plan to restore the river and its privileges to the anxious city. One merchant alone offers $10,000, and his share of assessment, if it can only be done. Our party were detailed for this work, and on the 14th of Dec., we were transferred per steamer Gold Dust, with tents, rations, six skiffs, cutter, &c., to Delta La., opposite Vicksburg, accomplishing the journey in thirty-nine hours. We met with a pleasant reception, the Aldermen, by unanimous vote, extending the hospitalities of the city. In four weeks and one day, the entire field work and most of the plotting, has been completed, including over 8,000 soundings, and now we are "homeward bound" to our Quarter Boats at Walnut Bend, Ark., to resume the work at that place.

Tent-life on the Beach in summer will satisfy the curiosity-loving pleasure seeker, but let him try it on a mud bank on the edge of a cotton field, in a climate where the sun shines four times in as many weeks, where you must pay from four to eight dollars a cord, or 5¢ a sticks, for wet rotten-cotton-driftwood, which you must blow and nurse with oil, till patience commands a premium, and after all go to bed naked, he would be likely

"Fold his tent like the Arabs,
And as silently leave it."

They talk about the "Sunny South," where doubtless blizzards are uncommon, as well as rival ice companies, yet when the lead-line stiffens in the leadsmen's hands, and he must heave all day, there's not much profit in it. But when the sun does come it is right warm.

It was our pleasure, one Sabbath afternoon, to visit on horseback the National Cemetery, about four and a half miles out from the city. There are two ways of approach, one by a government road, and drained at much expense, and the other a little farther inland cut through the bluff. Of all steep hills, muddy ravines, and gullies, along each side (and middle) of the street, those found here surely "take the cake." There were many places in which it was impossible for a horse to wade, or as one negro expressed it, "mud 'nough to bog a duck." In the cut through the bluff from thirty to forty feet deep, the vertical walls on either side contain numerous sea-shells and fossil remains deposited thousands of years ago. After crossing a running stream, one finds himself soon at the top of a high hill, with a deep valley before him, and on the crest of the opposite hill, the great and silent city, with its 17,000 stately houses, spread out over many an acre, a solemn reminder of the cost of coveted liberty. Arranged in seventeen terraces, each encircling the hill, with gravel walks and drive-ways, bordered at regular intervals with evergreens and plants of the cactus family, the general impression is that of artistic as well as natural beauty.

Standing in such a place, one can but reflect upon the enormous struggle between national freedom and sectional servitude, the result of which has indeed been to enslave the negro, but which must be followed by that most necessary and indispensable perquisite, education.

Without a common-system, a name unknown almost in this large section, how can any people expect to ever cast an intelligent vote, even if allowed the utmost freedom?

An astonishing field, that demands both time and money.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1881.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 11, 1881.

THE JOURNAL is for sale at the stores of S. Horton, 195 Market Street, R. L. Smith, 160 Main Street, E. P. Cushing, Concordville, J. P. Tyler, North Woburn, Cooper's Stand at the Centre Depot, and at G. P. Brown's, Winchester.

LOCAL NEWS.

— Inspection of the Fire Department by the Board was made yesterday.

— The selectmen have purchased a stone-crusher of the Farrell Machine Co. of Ansonia, Conn.

— The St. Charles T. A. Society are busily preparing for their grand ball to come off on the 25th.

— Carefully peruse what Mr. W. W. Hill has to say about Valentines in this number of the JOURNAL.

— The town pay-roll of Woburn for the month of January was $17,159.64, equal to $206,000 per annum.

— "Mission of the G. A. R." a paper read before Post 33, last week, will appear in the next issue of the JOURNAL.

— Rafts of the Centre folks should go over to the Old Folks' Concert at Montvale Chapel on the evening of the 22d.

— The boiler in the fire steamer having been condemned as unsafe, the engineers have concluded to replace it with a new one.

— A French young man wants a place in an American family. Wages not so much of an object as to learn the English language.

— It is as good as out of the question to hire a house or tenement in Woburn to live in. There are no empty ones anywhere in the burgh.

— The L. W. Perham Hose No. 1 give their assembly on the evening of the 18th. If all signs don't fail it will be a bang-up good thing.

— M. J. Flatley of Boston will address the Woburn Branch of the Irish Land League next week. Wendell Phillips will do the same thing in March.

— Frequent complaints are heard that no steps are taken to compel the closing of Woburn run-holes on Sunday. The courts are open to all.

— Representative Hayden of this town has been placed on the committee for revision of the statutes recommended in the Governor's address.

— When completed the rooms of the First National Bank will be as fine as they have anywhere. They will be finished with "all the modern improvements."

— "Curtis's Bazaar" has flung out a nobly banner to the breezes on the outer wall, and it is painted in letters so large that a fool, though he runs, may read it.

— Gilcrest Hook & Lader Co. gave an assembly at their rooms on Montvale Avenue last Wednesday evening which was well attended and highly enjoyed. It was a good party.

— Mr. S. Horton has received at the Woburn Bookstore several of the March monthlies, among them "Harper's," for a copy of which he has kindly laid us under obligations.

— Last Sunday Miss Hussey of Billerica delivered a fine and highly interesting essay on "Religious Instruction of the Young," from the pulpit of the Unitarian Church in this village. She is a gifted lady.

— We are indebted to some friend in Winchester for "Statistics of Manufactures of Lowell and Neighboring Towns," whose name we would give were it decipherable on the pamphlet.

— The Alumni Festival of the New England Conservatory of Music is an extensive series of musical entertainments. We notice that F. H. Lewis and Elmire A. Pierce of this town are participants.

— Quite a number of Boston journalists make Woburn their home, not to mention several local reporters of the Boston dailies. And all seem to thrive well on Woburn air and vultures.

— There must be a screw loose somewhere in that old-fashioned groundhog saw, for since Candlemas the weather has been altogether different from what we had reason to expect, taking the groundhog theory as a correct one.

— Next Monday is St. Valentine's Day when all the boys and girls will send hearts and darts and cupids and love messages in rhyme and otherwise. It is generally a very busy day for the postoffice heads and they are always glad when it is over.

— Chief Engineer Littlefield's report shows that there has been 34 fires during the year; that the insurance companies have paid on losses by these fires $28,507, and that fifteen fires destroyed property to the amount of $43,774.75.

— The February number of the Boston Musical Herald has the following notice of a couple of Woburn artists:

Mr. F. H. Lewis's piano-forte recital, given at Wesleyan Hall, December 29, with the aid of Mr. Alexander Heindl, Mr. Dannreuther, and Mrs. S. C. Phinney as vocalist, deserved much more attention than it received from the daily and weekly press.

Three important instrumental works were presented for the first time in Boston (and in good style, too) : namely, suite for violin-cello and piano-forte, op. 26, by Edward Napravnik; sonata for piano-forte, op. 143, by Stephen Heller; and a trio for piano-forte, violin, and violoncello, op. 59, by Jadassohn.

— Another meeting was held in Boston Tuesday to consider the Mystic nuisance in which the Boston Water Commissioners and neighboring towns were well represented. Of the Woburn Board of Selectmen Messrs. Jones, Hill, Skinner, and Munroe were present, and the tannery interests were looked after by Messrs. Blake, Conant and others. Several of the parties interested were represented by able legal talent, which looks as though Boston is not going to be allowed to have everything her own way. We think it will be difficult to demonstrate that Woburn drainage is at the bottom of the evil complained of, or has very much to do with it. We learn that an adjourned meeting is to be held in Boston next Monday.

— Patrick Kelley a single man, assaulted Francis Hart, $5 and costs.

— The steam fire engine caused quite a runaway this morning on Main street.

— E. L. Shaw & Co. have put into their tannery a new 75-horse power boiler.

— Arrangements are being made for a reunion of the Warren Cadets on April 9th next.

— The Dodge-Crane wedding on Wednesday evening last was a high-toned society affair.

— The steam fire engine caused quite a runaway this morning on Main street.

— Not a great deal of business was done at the monthly meeting of the Selectmen. A meeting was appointed for Feb. 28, to next.

— The Board of Selectmen have decided in favor of the Gamewell Fire Alarm for this town, and have chosen a committee to purchase the same.

— The frequent distressingly bad holes in the roads make sleighing anything but a genuine pleasure, particularly with a spirited piece of horse flesh.

— The Two Orphans by the Fifth Avenue Company last Tuesday evening did not put out big as to acting, but put considerable money into the proprietors' pockets.

— The next regular Entertainment of Post 33 will occur on Thursday evening, Feb. 17, at 8 o'clock. A pleasing programme is in preparation. Tickets ten cents each.

— The crowded condition of our columns prevents the publication of "The Woburn Bard and Ireland," with an introductory by G. M. C. in this week's issue of the JOURNAL.

— Mr. Cooper, the veteran newsdealer at the depot, says that if the present boom in the sale of newspapers continues he thinks he shall organize himself into a syndicate pretty soon to pay off the national debt. That isn't a bad idea.

— Next Thursday night the officers of Woburn Lodge A. O. P. F. will be publicly installed at their new quarters—Temperance Hall. The lodge is in a flourishing condition and its additions are being constantly made.

— A petition is being circulated and numerously signed by our citizens asking the General Court of Massachusetts to make Memorial Day—May 30—a legal holiday. In several of the States this has been done, and these is no good reason why this Commonwealth should not go and do likewise.

— The next petticoats of the late Post of Post 33, G. A. R. were $262.11. The following season tickets drawing prizes remain uncalled for. Parties holding the same can procure their gifts at the office of T. H. Hill & Co., 196 Main street : 1136-1139-1146 1914-2370-2374-2711-2708.

— The Misses Hayford & Adams, as will be seen by their card, have removed from 175 Main to No. 1 Walnut street, where they are prepared to greet their old customers and friends, and new ones. Their stock of hats, bonnets, feathers, flowers, &c. is complete and of the very latest styles.

— Highland Hall, on Green street, has been engaged by the G. T. A. for the evening of the 23rd of February, where they intend to give a private dancing party to some of their friends. The tickets are limited on account of the smallness of the hall. They anticipate an evening of great pleasure.

— The Republicans of this town are cogitating the pros and cons of giving an Inaugural Banquet in Lyceum Hall on the evening of March 4, with a strong leaning in the affirmative. Should it come off, Gov. Long and other eminent State officers, and some distinguished men out of office will be guests. The JOURNAL thinks the idea a good one.

— At the special vesper service in the Unitarian church, Sunday evening, the following numbers will be rendered :

Organ Prelude, "Sonata No. 3," Mendelssohn.

Quartette, "Evening Hymn," Smart.

Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Knowles and Shaw.

Organ Interlude, "Night Song," Smart.

Solo, "Call'd them thus O Master," Smart.

Duet, "The mellow eve is gilding," Rubenstein.

Mrs. Robie and Mr. Knowles.

Organ Postlude, "Procession March," Jansen.

— Of course we are not personally interested in the subject and have no feeling about it one way or the other, but are constrained to remark, for their good, that our merchants would flourish and make money they must let the world know that they are alive by advertising in the local papers. Some of them will probably turn their noses up at this suggestion, but there is food for reflection in it.

— It is taken for granted all along the line that the masquerade which the Phalanx is going to give here on the evening of the 18th, to wit, one week from to-night, is to be the cap-sheaf in the way of grand trips of the light fantastic etc., and will by far outstrip all former terpsichorean attempts in Woburn of late years. That is the way the matter is understood among people who dance, and we are not afraid to predict that their liveliest anticipations will be more than realized.

— We clip the following item from the Vermont Union at Lyndon, Vt., as the Mr. Johnson mentioned is a Woburn boy, a graduate from Harvard, and will be remembered as at one time an organist at the M. E. Church in this town :

— Last Tuesday evening Rev. C. W. Thompson's was invited to Rev. C. W. Thompson's to attend a parlor lecture on Geology by Mr. H. W. Johnson, principal of the Academy and Graded School. He found the audience of twenty persons, mostly young people and boys, very interested in the lecture, who seemed to be exceedingly interested in Mr. Johnson's lecture on the "Rock" and particularly in his description of the "minerals" which are to be found in the "rock" of the earth.

— The home talent musical and literary entertainment, originated and engineered by Mr. C. W. Nute, and given in the M. E. Church last Wednesday evening, was all that heart could wish. Aggregated or individualized, we should say without fear of successful contradiction, that the talents, musical and literary, were equal to any that could have been procured in the metropolis, and gave as good satisfaction as the best "companys" or "combinations" that travel. Not only was the excellent programme carried out to the letter, but a pleasing extra in the shape of very fine duet by Mrs. Phinney and Mr. Clark was added thereto. The attendance was fully up to the expectations of the manager, for which he (Mr. Nute) returns his hearty thanks.

— Another meeting was held in Boston Tuesday to consider the Mystic nuisance in which the Boston Water Commissioners and neighboring towns were well represented. Of the Woburn Board of Selectmen Messrs. Jones, Hill, Skinner, and Munroe were present, and the tannery interests were looked after by Messrs. Blake, Conant and others. Several of the parties interested were represented by able legal talent, which looks as though Boston is not going to be allowed to have everything her own way. — E. L. Shaw & Co. have put into their tannery a new 75-horse power boiler.

— Arrangements are being made for a reunion of the Warren Cadets on April 9th next.

— The Dodge-Crane wedding on Wednesday evening last was a high-toned society affair.

— The steam fire engine caused quite a runaway this morning on Main street.

— Alfred Woodland and Martin Deyer both about 10 years of age, left home on Wednesday noon without knowledge of their families. Their absence was reported to the police and on Thursday noon they turned up, having been on a visit to Cambridge.

— The house of C. A. McDonald on Beach street was entered during the afternoon of Wednesday while the family were on a visit to Boxford. Police were unable to determine what, if anything, had been taken and telegraphed to Mr. McDonald to return.

— Father McDonnell was presented with a beautiful gold watch last Sunday by the Married Ladies' Sodality and Rosary and Scapular Society of St. Charles church. Mrs. John Deyer made the presentation. The recipient is worthy of such valuable favors.

— On the Wednesday evening last a sleighing party numbering some 25 of the friends of T. Dalton, of Woburn, from Cambridgeport, agreeably surprised that lady and made her happy. It was a merry party, and the small hours had begun to strike ere it broke up and started for home.

— Capt. Ellard of the Phalanx must have thought himself taken when that 6-horse barge load of ladies and gentlemen from Beacon street and Shawmut avenue, Boston, drove up to his front door last Wednesday evening. It was a royal party, and they had a royal time. The Capt. knows how to entertain.

— Lemuel Howard, our well known colored citizen living over Tabor's market was called upon last Sunday evening, by an old Carolina friend, with whom Lemuel shared his bed and board. In the morning Lemuel missed nearly all of his wardrobe, and his friend, Samuel Chapman, passed on to other fields. The police visited localities out of town where Samuel was known, and returned with the information that he was a notorious thief and was wanted in many quarters.

— The concert to be given next Monday evening is a compliment to Mr. Elmore A. Pierce by "The Favorites" Lyceum Company and Artists' Quartette is being more talked about than anything else of the kind which has occurred in Woburn this season, and a full house is assured. This will probably be Mr. Pierce's only appearance here this winter. Miss Chamberlain is a wonder, and the press everywhere is enthusiastic in her praise. Miss Campbell is considered the best lady violinist in this part of the country. Miss May Vars and little Mattie Colby have both appeared in Woburn before, and we are assured that both have so improved since that they can greatly exceed even the excellent satisfaction which they gave then. Frank Gilder always arouses his audiences to enthusiasm, and, as he will use the Miller grand piano, we shall have some brilliant music. The Artists' Quartette played "Betsy Baker" in New Bedford last week to 1600 people, and at Haiverhill on Wednesday evening to 1200, and were engaged at all places. People who wait until the last moment before purchasing tickets must blame themselves if they do not get good seats.

— There was a very agreeable surprise party at the residence of Dea. Samuel Cook of the Baptist church, one of our best esteemed citizens and business men, on Monday evening last. A large number of the members of the Baptist church and society took it into their heads that it would be meet and proper to recognize Dea. Cook's worth in some appropriate way, so, all unknown to him, they purchased a fine gold-headed cane, and on the evening mentioned repaired to his residence, and greatly surprised the family by the presentation of the same, together with a basket of choice and beautiful flowers to Mrs. Cook. Mr. F. S. Burgess made the presentation speech, which was responded to by Dea. Cook in a happy manner. After which a delightful evening was spent. We give Mr. Burgess's address below.

— The Republicans of this town are cogitating the pros and cons of giving an Inaugural Banquet in Lyceum Hall on the evening of March 4, with a strong leaning in the affirmative. Should it come off, Gov. Long and other eminent State officers, and some distinguished men out of office will be guests. The JOURNAL thinks the idea a good one.

WINCHESTER.

It is reported that there are more than one hundred cases of measles in town with not a very good prospect of an abatement.

The number of marriages in Winchester for the year ending December 31, 1880, was 50; deaths, 44. The oldest person who died was Mrs. Hannah Stone, 84 years.

Our citizens, with excellent reason, still continue to complain of the quantity and quality of gas served them. In the direction of gas a reform is needed.

The Winchester High School Association held a very pleasant meeting on last Monday evening. The attendance was large, and a lively interest manifested. The Association is a good one.

Rufus Pickering & Co. have housed 2000 tons of ice here, and they have about 3000 tons in Woburn. Five thousand tons of ice will keep things pretty cool hereabouts next summer.

The Independent Associates give their grand assembly at Lyceum Hall this Friday evening. They have laid out for a royal good time, and will have it. When the I. A. set right straight out for a nice thing they always make the rifles.

The Fraternity in the neighboring towns and cities are giving substantial encouragement to William Parkman Lodge in their preparations for their 4-day Fair to begin on the 16th. It is going to be a big thing and a nice one.

The Young People's meeting at the Congregational Church on Monday evening was a very interesting and agreeable one. The exercises consisted of declamations, readings, etc., and were highly enjoyed by all present. At the next meeting of the society Winchester artists will participate in a grand entertainment.

The question "Who shall be Mr. Stone's successor?" is undergoing considerable discussion among politicians and others here, and several candidates stand ready to make sacrifices for their country's good. As you read last week, some names are mentioned in connection with the honorable position which are not popular with the people, and the owners of which the people do not want. There are some others that have been barely mentioned whom the voters would be glad to elect to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Stone, prominent among which is that of George S. Littlefield, Esq., and who, I am inclined to think, is the coming man. He is a fine lawyer, a gentleman of rare integrity and sterling worth, and would represent the district in a manner creditable to himself and his intelligent constituency. He is a Republican of the strictest sect; not ambitious for political preferment; is highly esteemed by all acquaintances; and very popular with the people of Winchester and Arlington. For these reasons Mr. Littlefield would poll more than a party vote, and make an excellent legislator if ever elected. His hosts of friends here will bring forward his name if his consent can be obtained, and if they do he will win.

The Trouble all Over.

"A patient in Middletown" writes to Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y.: "I wrote you about five weeks ago for advice in taking your medicine, as at that time two Stones had just passed from my kidneys, the effect of using 'Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.' I have taken the 'Favorite Remedy' ever since, and have no more trouble from that source. It is also toning my entire system."

MONTVALE.

The Young People's Association here are flourishing and doing much good work. They cleared $40 at their late fair, which was a handsome sum, all things considered. An organ was purchased by the Association and presented to the Sabbath school of the Montvale chapel, and several dollars besides put into the treasury.

On the evening of February 22, the Y. P. A. of the Montvale Chapel will give an Old Folks' Concert for the benefit of the Chapel society. Some of the best musical talent in the town has been engaged for it, and it may be depended on, the concert will be a very fine one. Everybody interested in the chapel society ought to attend.

A Chicago Broker's Happy Investment.

Lewis H. O'Connor, Esq., whose office is located at 93 Washington street, this city, lately related the following in the hearing of one of our reporters as an evidence of special good fortune. I have been suffering said Mr. O'Connor, for a number of weeks with a very severe pain in the back, believed to be from the effects of a cold contracted while on the lakes. I had been prescribed for by several of our physicians and used various remedies. Three days ago, I abandoned them all, and bought a bottle of St. Jacob's Oil, applied it at night before retiring and to-day feel like a new man. I experienced almost instant relief and now feel no pain whatever.

BURLINGTON.

READINGS.—On Tuesday evening at the Town Hall, Rev. M. M. Cutler gave an excellent entertainment of humorous and pathetic readings, which was much enjoyed by all present. Among the selections rendered by Mr. Cutler were "Editing an Agricultural Paper," by J. T. Trowbridge, and "Pat and the Gridiron," by S. Lover.

Grandmother Says!

Grandmother says when she was a girl that her mother always gave her sulphur and molas to purify her blood, but she now gives Sulphur Bitters to her grandchildren as it is the best medicine she ever saw.—The Father.

One of our friends asked a little girl: "Which loves thee best, thy kitten or thy doll?" The adorable jillette was about to reply aloud when a discreet second thought came to her. She whispered softly in the questioner's ear: "Ah, monsieur, I love my kitty best, but don't you let Dolly suspect it, or there will be a fuss in the family!"

No more hard times. If you will stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style, buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every day, and especially stop the foolish habit of employing expensive quack doctors or using so much of the vice, ambition, and self-sacrifice that only serve to put your trust in that simple, pure remedy, Hop Bitters; that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see good times and have good health. See another column.

Mr. Alex Grand gives the very best fits in gents' wearing apparel, and don't ask all the wealth a man's got either.

Ladies who appreciate elegance and purity are using Parker's Hair Balsam. It is the best article sold for restoring gray hair to its original color and beauty.

"Which do you like best, your father or your mother?" inquired a visitor of a little chubby fist. "Oh, I like ma the best. She takes me with the soft side of her hand; pa takes a shingle."

Dodge is selling the best sewing machine in the States. You can get one real cheap.

Secretary Schurz says it is hard luck to fight both hell and Boston on the Indian question. We have supposed he was in entire harmony with the first mentioned locality.—New Haven Register.

Hundreds of men, women and children rescued from beds of pain, sickness and almost certain death and made strong and hearty by Parker's Ginger. Tone are the best evidences in the world of its sterling worth. You can find these in every community.—Post.—See advertisement.

GEORGE H. CONN,

Insurance Agent and Broker,

159 MAIN STREET, WOBURN,

As the month of November brings the eighth anniversary of the Boston Fire, a large proportion of the property holders of this vicinity will have Insurance Policies expiring during the coming three months.

Owing to the alarming shrinkage in the assets of many offices, parties insuring for a term of years should use great care in placing their risks.

In selecting my Companies, I have endeavored to secure those whose record for financial soundness and honest, equitable settlement has been unquestioned; and I can offer Dwelling and Furniture Policies on the most favorable terms.

I would respectfully call your attention to my list of Companies, and solicit a share of your patronage.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1881.

The Woburn Journal

FRIDAY, FEB. 18, 1881.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

We are in receipt of No. 1 of Publication of the Civil Service Reform Association, wherein is set forth the aims of the organization, its Constitution, By-Laws, etc.

HON. Fernando Wood of New York died at Hot Springs, Ark., early this week. In the death of Mr. Wood the Democratic party loses one of its wisest counsellors and most brilliant leaders.

Two weeks from to-day the United States will have a new President. Great preparations are making for the inauguration of Mr. Garfield, and if nothing occurs to disarrange the plans of managers the ceremonies will be of a very brilliant and imposing character.

It is tolerably well settled that, besides the solid New England delegation, Hon. Thomas B. Reed, from the First Maine District, will receive a strong support for Speakership of the next House from the Northwest. Members from other sections too will be likely to vote for him. It is claimed by those in a position to know the best about it that the probabilities of Mr. Reed's election are very strong. He is a man of great ability, of large experience, and it is doubtful if the House could find in any other member his equal for a presiding officer.

There is a lull in the business of Cabinet-making just at present, and the closer the time draws near for General Garfield to take a hand in it the less confident are the quidnuncs in their ability to give any reliable information respecting the men to be chosen for the high places. All that is tolerably certain about it is, that Senator Blaine will be Secretary of State, and Senator Allison, of Iowa, Secretary of the Treasury—everything else being the wildest kind of guess-work. But the strain will be over in a couple of weeks and the public mind relieved by an official announcement by President Garfield himself.

As no announcement has recently appeared in the local prints or by handbills for another entertainment by "Home talent" in behalf of the magnificent scheme to purchase that charming sylvan retreat, or "Natural Park"—the Middlesex Fells—and make a donation of it to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, it is feared in some quarters that the venerable visionaries and ancient spinners who are "bossing" the job are becoming lukewarm and somewhat remiss in the discharge of their high official functions. But be this as it may, nothing that they do or neglect doing can ever shake the faith or dampen the enthusiasm of the Stoneham papers concerning this brilliant, but, by some think, chimerical, project.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Mary W. Dalton advertises the loss of a certificate of deposit in this paper.

Dea. Vaughn of Lexington street is very ill from some sort of a shock received a few days since.

On the evening of the 25th the St. Charles T. A. Society give a grand ball. Remember it.

Some mighty interesting reading will be found in the new advertisement of Chas. A. Smith & Son. Glance over it, and see.

The best regulated families are not free from annoyances. One of considerable dimensions caused us to be some hours late in the issue of the JOURNAL last week.

A big dog belonging to Mr. J. H. Connelly tried the quality of one of Henry Gay's legs last Saturday evening by inserting his teeth in it, producing quite a wound.

A public meeting will be held by the Woburn branch of the Irish Land League next Wednesday evening and be addressed by Mr. James Flatley of Boston.

Mr. S. S. Hardy from Georgetown has opened a first-class fish market on Main near Mann street, where he will keep the very best goods and sell cheap. He is a square man.

Depend on a good time at the assembly of the L. W. Perham Hose No. 1 to-night. Excellent music has been engaged, and every thing will be done to make the occasion a pleasant one.

In our last issue the types made us say that the Cambridgeport friends of T. Dalton visited, etc., whereas it should have been the friends of Mrs. Mary T. Dalton. The error was unintentional and regretted.

Everything was serene and beautiful on Tuesday evening, the face of nature was wreathed all over in smiles, and yet, when ear risers emerged from their downy rests at 8 o'clock on Wednesday it was snowing like fury.

On Tuesday we received a call from Mr. D. P. Walton, a pressman in the chromo department of the Riverside publishing establishment at Cambridge. He informs us that 90,000 chromos are made there every two weeks. Where, for pity's sake, do they all go to?

T. H. Sweetser, Esq., appeared for the town of Woburn at the Mystic Pond nuisance meeting in Boston last Monday, and our tanners were represented by Mr. R. M. Morse, Jr., and Mr. Coombs. The vexed problem of abatement, or cure, seems to be far from a satisfactory solution as ever.

Last Tuesday the bursting of a steam pipe in the stiffening shop of Mr. Murray raised quite an excitement among the employes. Nearly all the girls escaped through the windows some of them being injured in their flight, among them Ellen Dolan quite seriously. Dr. Kelley was called to attend her.

What Woburn is suffering for is a first class hall or opera house.

On Monday Maggie Burd had a finger badly cut at Simond's shop.

A man was run over and killed at No. 111 Billerica Tuesday by the Lowell Road.

Mr. James Skinner recently purchased real estate of Mr. Simon Blake, on Green street, for $7,500.

Mr. George H. Conn left for New York yesterday on business connected with insurance affairs.

Taylor's Winchester barge runs to accommodate our people who wish to attend the Masonic Fair down there.

We must all begin to get a good ready for the Lenten season which begins on March 2, according to the almanacs.

There are rather more runners than wheels on the streets, though the "John" is about as good for one kind of locomotion as the other.

The Woburn Brass Band furnish the music for the Masonic Fair at Winchester. The boys are popular with all true lovers of dulcet notes.

Though it isn't oppressively hot, snow-drifts are becoming small by degrees and beautifully less under the melting rays of the sun.

Capt. J. W. Ellard has resigned the Woburn Phalanx, which he has filled for some years to the satisfaction of the Company and his own credit.

The railroad collision near Mystic station on Tuesday night was not so bad as first rumored. Nobody was killed or greatly injured.

The recent important decline in the price of eggs was a shattering blow to the beautiful Spanish castles of several ancient female hearts in this town.

The opening lecture of a course by Rev. Mr. Young will be given at the Unitarian church at 7 o'clock, p. m., Sunday. Theme: Life and Times of the Puritans.

The Committees on the Y. M. C. A. Fair are requested to meet at the rooms of the Association this Friday, evening, at 7:45 sharp. A full attendance is requested.

While at work on a belt in Skinner & True's factory, the other day, an employee had a narrow shave from being drawn in and done for by the machinery being started up too soon.

Mr. W. H. Loundsbury was awarded the contract for printing the Woburn town Report and Valuation at $2 a page for the former, and $3 per page for latter. He did the work last year.

A Somerville party has been leisurely canvassing for advertisements for a Woburn Directory among our business men this week. We do not learn that his success has been overly brilliant.

The Committee on the Y. M. C. A. Fair are into the work clean up to their elbows. If grit and pluck, faith and hard work can fetch it the Fair will be a success.

The Sunday School Concert with stereopticon accompaniments at the Congregational Church last Sunday evening, was very interesting indeed. There was a very large attendance of juveniles and adults.

Eliza J. Chamberlin has sold land and buildings on the old road to Lexington to Annie M. Prince for $400. Georgeanna A. Pierce sold land and buildings on old Lexington road to Eileen F. Mears for $400.

Rev. Charles Anderson, pastor of the North Woburn Congregational Church, lectured in one of the Somerville courses lately. His theme was "Three Years in Constantine," and it was highly spoken of by the press and people of Somerville.

The Board of Selectmen have decided to re-employ for another year Mr. and Mrs. Spear as master and mistress of the almshouse. They have had long experience in the business and manage matters to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The G. T. A. have completed all the necessary arrangements for their ball in Highland Hall on Green street, which is given Wednesday evening, February 23. The G. T. A. are a jolly company and warrant their friends who attend a very pleasant evening.

The National Band will give an entertainment at their hall this evening when all sorts of pleasant things may be expected. They will be dancing to fine music, and an interesting feature of the occasion will be the presentation of a cornet valued at $100 to Mr. James Collins.

The funeral of Oliver Parker who died at the residence of Hon. A. E. Thompson on Pleasant street, took place on yesterday afternoon. The deceased had been suffering from consumption for several months. He was an excellent young man, exemplary in his conduct, and leaves many friends to mourn his loss.

At a meeting for the election of officers recently held by the Y. M. C. A. at their rooms, the following gentlemen were chosen: President, J. Henry Simonds; Vice President, H. Copeland; Secretary, George J. Pinck; Treasurer, Warren E. Clark; Directors, J. G. Pollard, J. K. Murdoch, Thomas Wilson, Thomas Hartz, F. S. Burgess, Thomas Maddison, Rev. Charles Anderson, A. D. Carter, Charles A. Sweetser, W. H. McCarthy.

An enjoyable evening was passed by those who attended the entertainment at the vestry of the Unitarian church last evening. The programme, which was a good one and well attended, was as follows: Cornet solo, T. H. Marrian; song, Mrs. Salie Clough-Phinney; tableaux with descriptive songs by Mrs. Phinney; violin solo, Miss Ida Gilman; piano solo, Mr. Young; reading, Rev. Mr. Young; song-quartette, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Allen, Mrs. Trull, and Mr. C. C. Shaw.

The entertainment given by Post 33, G. A. R., on last evening in their hall was one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of the course. There was a large attendance, and all were well satisfied with the good things furnished. The final entertainment of the series will be given on the evening of March 17 at the G. A. R. Hall. On the principle of saving the best of the wine for the last of the feast it is proposed to make the closing entertainment the very best, and to take extra pains to please the public.

T. H. Sweetser, Esq., appeared for the town of Woburn at the Mystic Pond nuisance meeting in Boston last Monday, and our tanners were represented by Mr. R. M. Morse, Jr., and Mr. Coombs. The vexed problem of abatement, or cure, seems to be far from a satisfactory solution as ever.

Last Tuesday the bursting of a steam pipe in the stiffening shop of Mr. Murray raised quite an excitement among the employes. Nearly all the girls escaped through the windows some of them being injured in their flight, among them Ellen Dolan quite seriously. Dr. Kelley was called to attend her.

Mr. Munroe, proprietor of the Woburn Clothing Store, is engaged in making some repairs to the interior thereof which will give better and larger swing in handling goods.

Mr. John Holloran has his doubts about the boasted freedom of Yankee land, for the other day, just for whiling away a little spare time in the depot he was fined $5, and then sent to jail because he hadn't the stamps handy by to pay with.

A good many of the inmates of our almshouse like to read newspapers, etc., and those of our citizens who have an abundance of them and to spare will do kind things by leaving what of them they do not need in Box Q, Woburn P. O., for the benefit of the almshouse people. We are asked to make this request.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that some nice entertainments are to be given in the vestry of the Unitarian church next week and the week after, which we have no doubt will be wellattended. The plays will be perfectly prepared, the parts assigned to competent hands, and both entertainments will be richly worth seeing.

Owing to a dense fog which prevailed at the time we overlooked last week this item on our note-book: The Fair of the Ladies' Industrial Society of the Baptist Church, recently held, yielded, over and above expenses, $125. Which goes to prove three propositions, namely: (1) the Fair was an attractive one; (2) the ladies of the Baptist Church are enterprising; (3) the Woburn public are liberal.

The ladies of the Methodist society are preparing an old-fashioned supper for the election of the Woburn public, which is to be served on the evening of the 22d inst. Some idea of the character of the good eating which they will set before the public may be inferred from the fact that, among the dishes, baked beans, rye-and-indian bread, Indian puddings, pumpkin pies, old style twisted doughnuts, cold meats, mocha and biscuits will hold conspicuous places on the tables. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, giving business men, clerks, farmers in town and others a good opportunity to partake.

Everything is ready for the masquerade of the Phalanx to-night, and all there is to do now is to rosin the bow and sail in. Costumes have been selected, fitted and approved by both sexes, of which there will be a goodly number of very fine ones; choice partners have been made, floors chalked, repast arranged for, and now comes in the fun.

The prospect for a large and brilliant company is cheering, for this midwinter grand masquerade of the Phalanx is always an event that society people anticipate with pleasure and enjoy with a relish. The hall has been arranged and decorated in a manner pleasing to the eye and gratifying to the refined tastes, and all the plans perfected for a good time. That those present will have one we do not doubt.

Last Saturday evening Eliza J. Chamberlin, a married woman about 44 years old, was arraigned before Judge Converse for a felonious assault on Lydia F. Bryant, a little girl only seven years old, daughter of Thomas C. Bryant, on last week Tuesday, and, on pleading guilty, was held in $5,000 bail for his appearance at court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

On the day last named Mrs. Bryant left her little girl at home with Farmer while she went out on some errand, and during her absence the brutal assault was committed, and subsequently confessed by him to the mother. Chief Const. and Officer Walsh made the arrest on Saturday.

About the Inaugural Banquet, referred to us by last week, strengthens at the 4th of March draws near. A few of the many prominent Republicans who favor it are Benjamin Hinckley, J. G. Pollard, Walter S. Cushing, W. F. Davis, secretary of the town committee, E. E. Thompson, E. F. Johnson, Howard E. Strout, and G. R. Gage. Esquires. The proposition is to have His Excellency, Gov. John D. Long and staff, with other distinguished gentlemen, present, to give them all a great supper at Lyceum Hall on the evening of Inauguration Day, and to wind up with speeches, music, etc. Ladies will be expected to grace the meeting with their presence, and contribute to the pleasures of its proceedings.

The wooden wedding of our genial friend, Charles M. Strout, and his good spouse was duly celebrated at their home on Academy Hill last Tuesday evening with all the honors and accompaniments, and a pleasant social gathering has not been enjoyed in Woburn for many a day. Strictly, it was not a "surprise party," for where so many are engaged in a scheme—particularly gentlemen—secrecy is out of the question, but the whole agreeable affair was projected, arranged and successfully carried out by the numerous warm friends of the bride and groom. The company was large and composed of the cream of Woburn society.

Dead loads of wooden presents were made, useful, ornamental and unique, among which was an elegant easy-chair for the groom, a handsome piano-stool, etc. Mr. Goldthwait enlivened the hours with choice performances on the piano, and a royal supper was highly appreciated by all. At a reasonable hour, after an evening's rare enjoyment, the party broke up and repaired to their homes.

At a meeting for the election of officers recently held by the Y. M. C. A. at their rooms, the following gentlemen were chosen: President, J. Henry Simonds; Vice President, H. Copeland; Secretary, George J. Pinck; Treasurer, Warren E. Clark; Directors, J. G. Pollard, J. K. Murdoch, Thomas Wilson, Thomas Hartz, F. S. Burgess, Thomas Maddison, Rev. Charles Anderson, A. D. On Tuesday we received a call from Mr. D. P. Walton, a pressman in the chromo department of the Riverside publishing establishment at Cambridge. He informs us that 90,000 chromos are made there every two weeks. Where, for pity's sake, do they all go to?

The Woburn Brass Band, which furnishes the music for the Masonic Fair, is reaping golden opinions by its good playing.

The ball of the Independent Associates given here last Friday evening was a complete success in every particular.

The Paper Festival of the "Seek and Save" Society of the Congregational Church held last Friday night, yielded $300. It was a nice affair.

At a meeting held in Boston on Monday last to further consider the Lower Mystic Pond nuisance Mr. A. H. Coffin represented the tanners of Winchester.

Mr. George Dupee heroically stopped a runaway team belonging to Boston parties last Tuesday noon near the Unitarian church, and received thanks therefor.

One of the very best entertainments here during the season was that given by the Good Will Club on last Tuesday evening. A fine programme was capitally carried through.

Mr. E. C. Swan, while driving down Main street a few days since, struck a bare spot, when a shaft of the sleigh broke, the horse ran away, and finally fetched up at Mr. Swan's stable. No one hurt.

The ice-train due here at 9:15 on Tuesday evening ran into the rear end of the freight train while rounding the curve at Mystic, and did considerable damage to the cars and engine of the ice-train. A brakeman on the freight train was quite seriously injured.

The powerful rain of last Saturday caused the nearly complete overflowing of the upper Mystic pond which has been dry for about six months. Brooks and streams were swollen all they could be for the ice by the torrents of rain that fell all day.

Winchester is more of a manufacturing place than many people think for. To enumerate: there are 41 manufacturing establishments, with an aggregated capital of $572,220, the annual product of which is $2,007,350, and give employment to 704 people. This is a very good showing.

At a recent meeting held by the Ladies' Friendly Society the following officers were chosen: Mrs. R. C. Metcalf, president; Mrs. Folson, vice-president; Mrs. George S. Littlefield, treasurer; Mrs. F. Symmes, secretary; Mesdames Webb, F. A. Wadeleigh, Shattuck, Wells, and A. F. Symmes, directors.

As Mr. Webster Hawes and Mr. Seth Harden were driving up Main street with a load of express goods, last Saturday evening, the main bolt broke on the whiffle-tree causing the wagon to slew into the gutter where it turned bottom side up. Both men were thrown violently to the ground, but escaped serious wounds.

While appraising the firearms of the late Asa Fletcher, on Tuesday afternoon, week, a gun was accidentally discharged the ball passing through a window, across the street, and through a window in the residence of Mr. E. Sanderson, ripping open a curtain, and embedding itself in the ceiling. Fortunately no one was injured.

The warrant for the Town meeting to elect a successor to the late Mr. J. F. Stone has been issued and it will take place March 1. A Republican caucus will probably be called next week. Mr. S. W. Twombly, who had the largest number of votes in the caucus that nominated Mr. Stone, is the most prominent candidate, and is thought by those who are well posted, will receive the nomination.

A good story is told at the expense of one of our prominent temperance men in town. A few days since the driver of Moses Fairbanks & Co.'s beer team called at his house and presented a bill for collection, saying "Hand this to the father." The wife on reading it said, "I think there must be some mistake about this; my husband don't drink beer," whereupon the man replied "I was told to take it to the next house above the Catholic Church." "Well, this is the Baptist Church," she replied. After begging pardon the beer team drove up the street.

The Rising Star Juvenile Temperance Society observed its anniversary here last Saturday afternoon the week. The exercises were as follows: Song, Band of Hope; Lord's Prayer, the children; Responsive Reading by the children and Mrs. Oakman; Repeating the Pledge; Repeating the third commandment; Recitation, Alcohol; Song; "Have courage to say No"; Dialogue, Oysters and tempe, by Harry Chase and Bertie Rust; Violin solo, by Eddie Appleton; Reading, by Herbert Rose; Song; "Unfurled the Temperance Banner," and waving of flags by the children while singing; Singing, Temperance Boys and Girls, etc.; remarks by Dea. O. R. Clark, Z. Abbott and T. C. Small; after which refreshments were furnished by the Women's Temperance Union. The R. S. J. T. S. now number 104, with additions every week. Regular meetings are held every Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Masonic Fair is in full and successful blast having opened on Wednesday and will close tomorrow. The hall is filled with elegant things; the numerous tables are richly laden and beautiful women preside over them; the attendance is all that could be desired, and everything is conducted on the most approved business principles. The fair will yield a big bunch of money for the use of the fraternity, for the people are interested in it, and are pushing. On account of the illness of Mayor Prince of Boston, whose summer home is in this beautiful village there was no formal opening of the Fair, but this occasioned no hitch—it has been smooth sailing from the drop of the bat to the present writing. Perfect system characterizes all the business, and money is coming in galore. Your correspondent has not time for a full description of the pleasant and profitable affair. I hear that 1,300 season tickets were sold to start with, and the attendance has steadily increased from the beginning. To enumerate the great variety of goods for sale on the different tables would be too much of a task for the most rapid writer. Messrs. Rogers & Co., 155 Friend street and 62 Canal street, Boston, makes a very handsome exhibition of statuary, vases, china, crockery, etc., from their popular crockery store, which attracts much attention. The Woburn table, presided over by Mrs. J. H. Parker and her associates, the Misses Conn, Crane, and others, draws crowds around it. There are some elegantly painted ware done by the skilled artist, Miss Sawtelle, which meets with ready sale. [Your wideawake townsmen, Mr. Frederic A. Flint, who has a keen eye for the beautiful, gaffed on to a dozen butter-plates painted by Miss Sawtelle, and left orders for more.] The leather table, run by Miss Wyman, contains a great array of handsome goods, and there are many others which I should be glad to mention but can not. Mrs. Marcus C. Cook's suppers are highly enjoyed. This lady is one of the main props of the Fair. The goods offered for sale are all useful as well ornamental, and the prices are reasonable throughout. It is really one of the best Fairs ever held here, and complete success is already fully assured.

MONTVALE.

The Old Folks' Concert to be given in the chapel on the evening of the 22d promises to be a first-rate entertainment, and well attended. Some capital vocalists will participate, and those who attend will hear some grand old music. The Y. P. A. are doing the business.

Last Thursday evening week an attempt was made to burglarize the residence of Mr. George Perkins, on Montvale Avenue, the burglar gaining admittance through a window. Mrs. Perkins, on going down stairs to supply the wants of a sick child, discovered the intruder who immediately fled. Domestic matters had been considerably mixed, but nothing of value was obtained.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

The world is progressing in refinement. In old times when a man got beaten at any game without scoring a point, he was said to be "skunked." Now there are some people so refined that they even refer to the living animal as a "whitewashed."

A smooth complexion can be had by every lady who will use Parker's GINGER Tonic. For promptly regulating the liver and kidneys and purifying the blood there is nothing like it, and this is the reason why it so quickly removes pimples and gives a bloom to the cheek. See notice.

The school committee of Lewiston have invented a new verb. They allude in their annual report to the influences which "derriup to a better life." The word is a little better than "list," which heretofore has served to express in common speech the same idea, but it will not probably meet with much approval from R. G. W.

Romberg says of Neuralgia, "It seems as if pain were the prayer of the nerves for healthy blood." Hoods Sarsaparilla makes healthy blood. Try it.

A remarkable plain-looking actress in playing the part of a stony-hearted maiden who melts slowly before the impassioned pleading of her eloquent lover.

"You can no longer resist, you can no longer resist," he cries, "your heart flutters, you change countenance at last!"

"Hurrah, glad to hear it!" shouts an excited and delighted spectator up in the gallery.

Answer this. Did you ever know any person to be ill, without inaction of the stomach, liver or kidneys, or did you ever know one who was well when either was obstructed or inactive; and did you ever know or hear of any case of the kind that Hop Bitters would not cure?—Ask your neighbor this same question.

The recent snow storm has had one important advantage, at least. It has given us the exact size of the Chicago girls foot. Our courage almost fails us, but we must tell the truth—the exact measure makes it a 17 foot.

Dr. Kennedy would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases and performs all the minor and capital operations of Surgery. Parties living at a distance (except in Surgical cases,) by sending a statement of their case can be treated at home. Address Dr. D. Kennedy, Roundout, N. Y.

G. W. Spikins came home the other day with a new coat on. "Where did you buy that coat?" "At the second-hand clothing store on Galveston avenue." "Why that is your old coat I sold him last week. He has fixed it up and palmed it off as new." "By thunder! Now I know what hyena meant when he said it fitted me just as it had been made for me. I thought at the time he was lying, but I see I was deceived in him."

ITCHING PILES—SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms and moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "DR. SWAYNE'S ALL-HEALING OINTMENT" is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barber's Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eructions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Lesson 8:

LUKE 4: 14-21.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"He hath anointed me to preach the Gospel to the poor."

Central Truth.—Prophecy is fulfilled in Jesus.

Subsequently to the events narrated in the last lesson we have the baptism of Jesus by John, and the divine attestation of his person and character, then the history of his temptation in the wilderness, his first miracle, his memorable interview with Nicodemus and also with the Samaritan woman, and the miracle of the healing of the nobleman's son. After these our Lord returned to Galilee by divine guidance. This was his second journey into Galilee, and he makes a visit to Nazareth.

By this time he had become very famous in all the region, though this does not imply great personal popularity. Our Lord was never popular, though he often attracted crowds to hear his preaching and to see his miraculous works. But the men of Nazareth—his own town—rejected him, and when he came to his own, his own received him not.

At his second visit to Nazareth, he went into the synagogue, as his custom was, showing that he had always been in the habit of attending public worship and in taking part in the services as a reader. The arrangements of the synagogue much resembled those of our modern places of worship. The people sat in the front part of the building, facing the pulpit or desk, where the reader or speaker stood. Behind these was a row of elevated seats, where the Scribes and Pharisees were fond of sitting, they being the "chief places." A chest stood near the pulpit, where the manuscript rolls of the law, or the Scriptures, were kept from which the reader selected the portion to be read or expounded to the people. After the exposition, prayers were offered, and at the close, the benediction was pronounced, to which all the people responded Amen, and the service was concluded. The service was not conducted by ordained ministers, and any competent person was at liberty to act as reader, and could even add his own comments by permission from the ruler of the synagogue. Jesus, by rising in his place, signified his wish or intention to read, and the roll was therefore brought to him by an attendant, and he read the portion which was in course for the service of the day. The lesson was in the book of Isaiah, and it was most appropriate to the Messiah. His reading excited profound attention, and the eyes of all were fastened upon him. After he had closed the book he said to the people: "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears." This was equivalent to claiming that he was the Messiah, and that the inspired prophecies were spoken of him. His claim was a bold one, and he simply asserts it, offering no argument to prove it, contenting himself with the simple authoritative declaration that he was the Christ, the anointed One sent by the Father.

Jesus was, perhaps, a stranger to many of his hearers, at least they might not have heard him expound the Scriptures before in public, so that they listened to him intently and heard him with astonishment and interest.

The usual length of the lesson read was about twenty-one verses, and the reader stood during the reading, and was seated during the exposition. On this occasion his discourse must have been of a very interesting character, for we are told that "they wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth." It was the first distinct announcement of his Messiahship, and it stirred the hearts of many who were looking and longing for the good tidings of the hope of Israel. There were many who were waiting for the coming of the Lord, and were ready to receive him into open and anxious hearts.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

1. It is a characteristic of the Gospel that it is first addressed to "the poor."

This is a proof of its universal adaptation. All men are spiritually poor. Sin has impoverished the race. It has stripped men of all true wealth, and reduced them to spiritual bankruptcy. The true wealth of the soul is that which is in accordance with its nature, and lasting as its duration. Holiness and the favor of God alone can make us rich. Sin has robbed us of both, and without the Gospel we must remain hopelessly and forever poor. Earthly wealth cannot supply spiritual needs. We may spend money for that which is not bread, for man cannot live by bread alone. The supplies of riches, the offers of pleasure, the promises of fame, are but a mockery to the lost sinner seeking a way of pardon and peace. When a man realizes this poverty of the spirit, this bankruptcy of the soul, then he can appreciate the value of Christ as one who was "anointed to preach the Gospel to the poor."

2. How attractive should be the Gospel of Christ to every variety of spiritual need.

It has comfort for the broken-hearted, deliverance for the enslaved, sight to the blinded soul, freedom for the oppressed spirit, acceptance for the guilty and condemned, relief for every want and woe! which poor sinners can endure.

3. What a preacher is Christ.

He is a Scriptural preacher. He is an intelligent preacher; the common people hear him gladly. He is a loving and sympathetic preacher. He is a preacher who illustrates his doctrine by life. He is a preacher who convinces the understanding and wins the affections of his hearers.

4. Would that all preachers would take the Lord Jesus for their model.

The great Apostle said: "We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves the servants for Jesus' sake." This is the true title of a minister, the servant of the Church "for Jesus' sake."

A true minister is a shepherd under Christ, and he thinks far more of the flock than of the fleece.

It is better to preach so as to turn the critic into a Christian, than to turn the Christian into a critic. We seek not yours, but you."

5. The Gospel ministers to our necessities rather than to our desires.

When our Lord first began to preach he was glorified of all. But when he became more pointed in his preaching, they rose up against him and drove him out of the city. We must sometimes preach as well as to preach to them. Then, instead of being canonized, we must expect to be canonized.

6. Every year of the Gospel dispensation is an acceptable year of the Lord.

"Now is the accepted time; behold now is the day of salvation."

NEW BOOKS.

LESOX DARE. By Virginia F. Townsend. Lee & Shepard, pp. 451, $1.50.

We have often commended the works of this graceful writer, but we think it safe to say each succeeding volume gives evidence of superiority over the former one.

The opening chapter reveals the super-talent of the gifted artist, the dark side of his not easily controlled temper, and the narrow escape and surprise of the lovely being who had from the best of motives ventured into his presence under very peculiar circumstances. All these with the result of that strange meeting, are worthy of the closest reading.

The too often experienced mistakes of men who select a second partner who proves a source of much trouble and untold misery for those committed to their care, reflect scenes often occurring. The harm so easily done by the foul tongue of slander is plainly shown, and the sweet and lovely spirit of some of the other characters in the story are brought in striking contrast with others entirely different. The moral of the whole is a lesson from which all may profit.

Loxie vs. a Great Cray. By Amanda M. Douglass. Lee & Shepard, pp. 468, $1.50.

The whole story is one of those deeply interesting descriptions of unavoidable accidents, suffering and hardships which occur in every large city and will so enlist the sympathy of readers of all classes that its large number of pages will not trouble them. The sufferings of the little seven year old and the fearful accident which happened to her protector are minutely described. One of the bright spots of the story is the noble record of a hoodoo who living among the lowest scum of the city showed beneath his tattered garments the highest instincts of a mind worthy to rank among the most honored of earth's best specimens of true manhood. Various other characters are conspicuous in the plot, and the whole fabric is so finely woven, that we freely accord to the gifted author the power granted to but very few writers in any department of literature.

Tue Lord's PRAYER. By Washington Gladden. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., pp. 192, $1.00.

To all who believe, and we hope that very few do really deny the truth of inspiration, this volume will be a welcome addition to their stock of readings, and help to lift the burden of sorrow from many hearts.

In the seven homilies by which the subject is divided, the author has dissected each portion of the prayer so familiar to Christians of every name and sect throughout the world in a style worthy of the subject. In summing up the whole he earnestly holds to the belief, that not only in the land immortal do we look to see the complete answering of this prayer, but that it is coming to this earth in the fulness of years. Coming with all its light and sweetness—with all its purity and peace. And that a day is coming when the bounty of the earth will fill all its homes with plenty. When pain shall have lost its sting, and the grave its terrors in the brightness of the hope that shines through its narrow portals.

ON THE THRESHOLD. BY T. T. Munger. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., pp. 225, $1.00.

We welcome this book as worthy of the first rank in the mass of literature now published. As a work of thoroughly sensible sympathetic helpful talk to young people on purpose, friends and companions, manners, thrift, self-reliance and courage, reading and intellectual life, amusements and faith, it will do more good among the youth of our land than the combined bulky volumes of many authors who have risen high on the ladder of fame. Any young man who can read this truly help and not gain from it aid that will enable him to rise higher than ever before in all the qualities of true manhood must be beyond all hope of improvement. As a perfect specimen of typographical work we have seen none to surpass it among the large list issued by this firm who have long held the front rank in the publishing of works which help to bless our homes.

THE COUNT. BY T. T. Munger. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., pp. 225, $1.00.

Both houses of Congress met in joint conference in the hall of the House of Representatives at noon on Wednesday week to count the vote for President and Vice-President of the United States. A multitude of people were present and to witness the ceremonies which were in marked contrast to those of four years ago. At 1:30 p.m., the reading of the electoral certificates was completed, when Mr. Thurman, one of the Tellers, announced that the whole number of votes cast was 369; if Georgia were counted, then Garfield had 214 and Hancock 155; if Georgia were not counted, then Garfield had 214 and Hancock 144, and in either case, Garfield had received a majority of the votes; whereupon it was declared that James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur had been elected President and Vice-President for the term of four years from the 4th of March next.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars ever invested. C. L. Hood, Mass."

DIPHTHERIA!

THE FROSTBITE which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

MESSRS. C. L. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—

I will send you the diphtheria last April.

The disease left me weak and weary, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish, and to get up力量, and to feel that the disease had left her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face.

She took it two months and fully regained her health.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

SENATOR MATT H. CARPENTER of Wisconsin, died at Washington yesterday morning at 9 o'clock of Bright's disease.

THE PENNSYLVANIA Legislature has cut the Senatorial knot by electing Hon. John I. Mitchell. He is a member of the lower House, and his promotion, it is said, suits all parties.

NATIONAL BANKS regard with marked disfavor the refunding bill passed by the Senate, and many heavy ones are withdrawing their circulation. There is a class of politicians in the land who will hail this as a good sign.

SENATOR LOGAN is getting cross over the ill success of his bill to have Gen. Grant put on the retired list. He has met with several head-flaws with it of late which has thrown him into a mood anything but amiable and pleasant.

It must be quite encouraging to Gov. Long and Senator Dawes to learn that the Mystic News at Medford "still adheres to its original belief" that the Poncahs have been rascally treated by Secretary Schurz. The Boston Advertiser also has the approval of the News in its war on the Interior Department.

MR. BRAGG, M. C., from Wisconsin, gave Mr. Blackburn of Kentucky, a very fine dressing-down on the floor of the House last Wednesday. Mr. Bragg is a Democrat but not a Bourbon, and is a sharp thorn in the side of his Southern brethren. He was altogether too much for Mr. Blackburn.

In view of the fact that he was an aspirant for the Republican Congressional nomination last fall Gen. Samuel W. Lawrence is publishing a queer kind of a paper at Medford. If it reflects the political sentiments of the publisher we should say that the Republicans "escaped a great mercy" in taking Mr. Bowman in his stead.

About the customary number of changes have been made in Mr. Garfield's Cabinet this week, and several new names have been brought forward. Senator Blaine still retains his position as Secretary of State, and is about the only one of the original members of the Cabinet that remains. The question will be settled by the time we next go to press.

Granted for argument's sake that, as alledged by a western Massachusetts weekly and by one or two Boston dailies, the Massachusetts Press Association is "run chiefly by 'patent-outsiders,' what then? What are these purse-proud papers going to do about it? Isn't the Association well run?" And aren't there ancient precedents for babes and weaklings being chosen to confound the wise and strong?

The Massachusetts Senate has been discussing the local option bill to which there is a strong opposition, and also considering petitions against Sunday trains. To the local option it is not easy to discover any real objection. Gov. Long recommended it and gave some very good reasons why such a law should be enacted. It would seem to be a fair way, to permit the voters of a town to settle the run question for themselves, and a direct vote on it would prevent a great deal of wrangling over the elections of city and town offices.

Our level-headed neighbor, the Advertiser, was an earnest supporter of Mr. Bowman for a second term in Congress, and since his election has said several pleasant and well deserved things about him. We clip the following from the last issue of the Advocate and endorse its views:

Mr. Bowman is showing to much better advantage (in comparison with his colleagues) than was hoped by many, not only proving himself the conscientious worker his friends claimed him to be, but winning victories on the floor of which members with long records of opposition to him might well be proud. Last Sunday's Boston Herald gave him a deserved compliment for skill and parliamentary ability displayed on the floor, and the Boston Post also says "Congressman Bowman has done some good work, for which the thanks of this community are due him."

A pure-spirited lady in Stoneham has recently made a present to the "Middlesex Fells Association" of fifteen acres of land, which munificent gift is easily traceable to the able appeals of the Stoneham Independent in behalf of the magnificent scheme of giving the "Fells" to the State for a great Public Park. This present would seem to place the project squarely and firmly on its feet, for it, with what Mr. Elizur Wright thinks he will donate, and the proceeds of the Medford "entertainment," must form a financial basis that no opposition can successfully buck against.

Discussing "Stoneham as a Place of Residence" the editor waxes eloquent over the importance of the "Fells," and if anybody was ever so foolish or prejudiced as to doubt the feasibility or wisdom of the State Park scheme a perusal of his article must remove every lingering trace of the same. We were, however, surprised to find this sentence in the article, for it seems to evidence an apathy or lack of faith on the part of the Stoneham people for which we were entirely unprepared. This is the sentence: "Perhaps some of our people have not yet found out that this project is anything more than the fancy of a few impractical visionaries at whose zeal others may smile."

LOCAL NEWS.

BOY WANTED. — To learn the printer's trade: 16 years old; smart; inquire at the Journal office.

— Gov. Long has appointed April 7 for a day of fasting and prayer.

— Hon. Horace Hosford, manager of the Boston & Lowell R. R., is dangerously ill.

— The thermometer indicated zero and below yesterday morning. The plumbers began to hold up their heads again.

— Mr. Mark Allen is at work on a spectacular play founded on Jules Verne's novel, "Michael Strogoff."

— A general desire on the part of our people will probably induce Mr. Elmwood A. Pierce to favor us with another musical and literary entertainment soon.

— The cold wave that struck this town on Wednesday night and increased in severity through Thursday was a sharp one. Rather late in the season for such weather, but this seems to be an exceptional season, anyway.

— The St. Charles T. A. Society will give their grand ball and assembly this evening. The National Quadrille Band will furnish the music, and Ahearn will act as proptor. A tip-top time is expected.

— The following are the subjects of lectures in the course given by Rev. Mr. Young at the Unitarian church:

1. Rise of Puritanism.

2. Puritanism in the early days of America.

3. Primitive Institutions of Customs. Part I.

4. Treatment of Dissenters.

5. Persecution of Quakers and other intruders.

— We got things fearfully and wonderfully twisted in announcing the action of the Board respecting the keeper of the almshouse. It must have been that three or four items managed to mix themselves together forming a compound a long way from reliable.

— W. H. Battles, an insane man, was found by the police wandering about the streets last Sunday evening in his stockings, feet, and taken in. He claimed to be from Boxboro', but Chief Conn believed his home to be in Everett.

— V. M. Simons gave his lecture, "Cross Wives," at Medford last Wednesday evening in the regular course, to a good house.

Next week he delivers it at Reading and also at Highlandville. It is a very entertaining and popular literary production.

— Father Murphy presided at the Land League meeting on Wednesday evening, and Peter McCorry of the New England Catholic Herald and Thomas Flatley, Esq. were the speakers.

— Mr. Carter has no fears but that the time will come when the track of the North Woburn street railway will be found, and he may be right about it, but it doesn't have that look just now.

— Mr. Herbert L. Bryant, boss tanner at Bryant & Kings, was presented with a very neat and useful piece of household furniture by some of his employees Saturday evening, which we trust will be put to its proper use.

— The Woburn Branch of the Irish Land League had a good meeting on Wednesday evening. The Branch is flourishing, additions being made every week. It is made up of the best and most prominent Irishmen in town.

— Mr. V. M. Came, General Freight Agent for the Kansas Pacific Railroad, will please accept our thanks for Denver, Colo., papers and diagram describing the wonderful lunar phenomenon witnessed there lately.

— We have no positive information on the subject, but suspect that the approaching town meeting will soon begin to engross the attention of the men who figure prominently in local politics. We suspect, too, that the canvas will quite exciting.

— It is authoritatively announced that the Prohibitionists will have a ticket in the field this spring. If the local option bill should become a law, which confers the privilege of voting squarely on the question of "rum, or no rum," the necessity of a temperance ticket would be obviated.

— Elijah Farmer, who committed the outrage on the little Bryant girl, mention of which was made in these columns last week, was convicted at the District Court on Wednesday last, and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. He ought to have been hung without benefit of clergy.

— The Unitarian vestry was so packed last Tuesday evening that the sale of tickets had to be stopped long before 8 o'clock, and many were unable to gain admittance. As there are so many courses tickets out the number of single tickets are necessarily limited. Single tickets for next Wednesday 15 cents. For sale at Hammon's clothing shop.

— Mrs. Foster of Clinton, Iowa, member of the law firm of Foster & Foster, has been induced to come East, and is now engaged in a successful temperance campaign in Boston. She is a lady of rare intellectual gifts, a devout Christian, and an earnest champion of the temperance cause. She stands at the head of Western orators, workers, and philanthropists. Last week Tremont Temple was crowded from sill to rafter to hear her. Mayor Prince presided; legislators and magnates were present, and the meeting was a great success. Won't the W. C. T. U. make an effort to secure a lecture from Mrs. Foster here?

— Dea. Gage and John Johnson, Esq., are not agreed on the question, which is the longest the Mississippi or Missouri river?

Each has his party, and the question still remains unsolved to their satisfaction. But what the editor of this paper wants to find out is, whether there is a man in Woburn, who can give the correct distance from our village square to Lynn, overland.

— The misfortunes of some and the pureness of others give employment to our lynx-eyed people, and every week these guardians of the public peace and property have something to do. There are lulls and there are rushings, but seldom a day goes by or a night is got through with that arrests do not have to be made. It is a sad confession, but a true one. Mary Dolan and David Hoban, drunk, $1 each. Thomas O'Brien, assault and battery on Kate Woods, $5 and costs; same offense on McDonough, last fall, $5 and costs; default and committed for three months. David Hoban, illegal driving, three years ago; found in town on Friday and arrested; complainant didn't want to push, and Hoban let off by paying costs.

— The National Band enjoyed a very refreshing season last Friday evening at their Hall. The presentation of a handsome and costly cornet by the Band to its cornet-player, Mr. James P. Collins, was an interesting feature of the occasion. The instrument is silver, gold plated, beautifully chased, with an elegantly wrought inscription, and cost $130. The presentation speech was made by Mr. P. Colman, Jr. and felicitously responded to. Mr. Collins is a fine cornetist and deserved this generous recognition of his valuable services to the Band. Dancing was kept up all night, the only intermission being to partake of a prime supper with all the delicacies attached, which was keenly relished. It was a very pleasant time indeed.

— Temperance Hall has lately received a coat of paint which improves its appearance very much.

— The late Henry Young machine shop is now carried on by Mr. Benjamin Anthony of Boston.

— The burnt cork exhibition at Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening did not pass away very big.

— Capt. Ellard has not yet received from headquarters the acceptance of his resignation as captain of the Phalanx.

— The improvements in Charlie Munroe's clothing store are completed, and things are as fine as a fiddle over there.

— Highland Hose Co. will give another social dancing party in their hall on Green street on Wednesday evening, March 9.

— As was expected, the dancing party given by the G. T. A. Wednesday evening last in Highland Hall, was a grand success.

— The finder of Mrs. S. T. Converse's spectacles will confer a favor by returning the same to that lady, or leaving them at the Journal office.

— There were several wholesale sleighrides in town on the 22nd, by young and old. Several out of town parties came to Woburn for peaches and things.

— We are unable to give the exact status of the proposed Inaugural banquet in Lyceum Hall, having heard nothing from the movers since our last issue.

— Quite unexpectedly to everyone another snow storm set in this morning which would seem almost impossible right on the heels of such intense cold.

— Yesterday afternoon a horse ran away on Winn street with a cord of wood on the sled. It was a courageous thing to do. But then it was awfully cold.

— Mr. F. S. Burgess is offering some rare bargains in new prints, chaises, lace pictures, palets cloth for boys, crash, etc. It is really worth while to examine his goods and prices.

— Father Murphy presided at the Land League meeting on Wednesday evening, and Peter McCorry of the New England Catholic Herald and Thomas Flatley, Esq. were the speakers.

— Last Monday evening the Woburn Commandery of the Golden Cross visited Malden and attended an entertainment given by the Malden Commandery. They had a fine time. Woburn Commandery is enjoying a healthy growth. It insures for $500 and upwards.

— There was no especial observance of the Twenty-second in this place that we were made aware of. Some of the stores were closed for awhile, the flag was allowed to float in the breeze, and there were some society suppers in the evening. On the whole, the Father of his country was not particularly honored on the anniversary of his birth-day.

— The Burbank Auxiliary Corps, G. A. R., will give a parlor entertainment in G. A. Hall on next Wednesday evening, March 2, which will be richly worth attending. It is to consist of Music, Readings, Tableaux, etc., by excellent talent. As is well known, and its name implies, the B. A. C. is Post 33's helpmeet, and a valuable and efficient one in the works of benevolence, therefore its entertainments should be well patronized.

— The supper given by the ladies of the Methodist last Tuesday evening was a royal feast of fat things. Its praise, as well as its substantial and delicacies, was on the tongues of all present. Judging from the excellent quality and quantity of this repast, it is safe to declare that the Methodist ladies know how to prepare and serve a supper perfect in all its parts. The attendance, notwithstanding other various and sundry goings-on in the village, was very large, and the net proceeds more than met the expectations of the committee.

— The grand masquerade by the Woburn Phalanx, last Friday evening, was a notable occasion. It surpassed all former balls of the Company, the whole arrangements of which reflected credit on the managers. It was a very large party indeed; the music by Ryan's Orchestra, Boston, was superb; there was a great variety of dress, and lots of beauty and gallantry were present and participated in the festivities of the evening. And every one present was satisfied with the good time.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1881.

WINCHESTER.

Rev. Richard Metcalf was called to Providence last week by the sudden death of his mother.

There is just now a lull in the amusement and entertainment line, but it is only the treacherous calm that forebears the mad storm, so look out for breakers.

The Sabbath School concert at the Congregational church last Sunday was of more than ordinary interest. The entertainment of the "Heavenly City" given by a dozen or more little girls, was very fine.

The Arctic wave reappeared on Wednesday night after a day spent in ineffectual attempts to rain storm, and fairly made things howl. In a few hours there was a change the wrong way of forty degrees, which if it isn't a strain on the constitution what is?

On Wednesday noon last as the "bark train" was running into the coal yard it accidentally entered the barn of Mr. H. A. Emerson, staving a hole right through the building and knocking it five feet off its underpinning. Fortunately there was only a horse in the barn which escaped uninjured. Not very nice to have railroad trains running through village barns.

The Masonic Fair closed last Saturday after achieving a greater success than any one ever before held in this place. A large amount of money was taken and the net receipts will go far towards defraying the expenses incurred by the Lodge in recent improvements and furnishings of their beautiful rooms. The citizens of Winchester and the fraternity of neighboring towns were liberal in their patronage of the Fair, for which the local brethren feel grateful. The principal prizes were distributed on Saturday as follows: Upright piano, E. T. Nichols; shotgun, F. L. Brown; French clock, J. A. Loring; desk, W. A. Field; chamber set, J. W. Prince; seal muff, E. A. Davis; cabinet organ, G. Going; sleigh, J. R. Cobb; carpet, W. A. Snow.

The following persons drew the prizes set against their names at the Masonic Fair held here last week:

1. E. F. Nichols,	Upright Piano.
2. H. J. Morris,	Barrel of Flour.
3. B. F. Stacy,	Gold Dollar.
4. E. B. Andrus,	Carved Oak Fork.
5. J. C. Darrow,	Easy Chair.
6. H. Dwinell,	Webster Dictionary.
7. L. B. West,	2 lbs. Tea.
8. E. W. Eaton,	"Coal.
9. E. C. Page,	Pocket Knife.
10. H. Brigham,	Silky Lamp.

LITERARY NOTICES.

OUR LITTLE ONES, published by the Russell Publishing Company, 149 Tremont street, Boston, is fairly entitled to the first prize for pictorial and literary excellence. It is a gem. Every article is beautifully illustrated by the best artists, and how it can be afforded at the extremely low price of $1.50 a year is a mystery. There are nearly twenty articles in the March number written by popular authors, the perusal of each and all of which will delight the little reader.

Wide Awake for March is more than usually pictorial, no less than five full-page drawings being given, in addition to the ballad The Beggar King, which has six full-page pictures, while all the other articles are also lavishly illustrated. Mr. Slocum is one of the most amusing stories of the season; and the boys will enjoy How Philip Sullivan did an Errand. The Girl that had her Patience to Practice, relates to the opening of Camilla Urs's splendid career. Bessie's Story is an account of a recent oceap adventure. Tot, the Dwarf, is full of breathless interest, and is exquisitely illustrated by G. F. Barnes. Rev. E. E. Hale's third To-Day talk is about the Ponies, and as though to show what Indians may become when honorably treated, Mrs. Theodore Jenness gives an interesting account of her visit to Some Indian Schools. Among the poems of the number are The Titling Man, The Dough Boy, and Why Little Birds Hop and Other Birds Walk. Of the three serials we can say that three brighter stories were never offered to the juvenile world. The Story of Honor Bright, with its three delicious pictures by the famous young artist, Mr. Walter Shirlaw, Rocky Fork, the Ohio story, by Mrs. Catherwood, and Polly Cologne, the little folk's own special serial, by Mrs. A. Diaz, with eleven funny pictures by Boz. There is also a grand fourth serial, which comes as a supplement, Warlock o' Glenarwlock, by George MacDonald. There are also four modey prizes offered to students in History for the four best essays on given subjects. Only $2 a year. Ella Farmer, editor. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers Boston, Mass.

WAKEFIELD

The church edifice of the Baptist society in this town was erected in 1871 immediately after the burning of the old church, and being built at a time when labor and materials were unusually expensive, the entire cost of building and land was nearly $70,000. The first subscription succeeded in reducing this to a debt of about $35,000. During the hard times from 1873 to 1879, several attempts were made to wipe out the remainder, but, in consequence of the death of many prominent members of the church, and the financial losses of others, there still remained an unpaid mortgage of $20,000. On the morning of Sunday, Feb. 13, Mr. Kimball, well known among the debt encumbered churches of New England, unexpectedly appeared in the pulpit, and the work of paying the debt had begun, almost before the people were aware of it.

On the same afternoon about $7800 were subscribed, and in the evening the amount had reached the sum of $14,000. By further solicitation during the week, the sum reached $18,000, and on the afternoon of Feb. 20, the congregation unloosed the completion of the subscription with renewed courage. On the morning of the same day, Rev. D. N. Beach, pastor of the neighboring Congregational Church, learned of the progress of affairs at the Baptist Church, preached a stirring sermon from the text "Bear ye one another's burdens," the result of which was a rousing subscription of $1,500 in aid of their Baptist brethren at the other end of the common. Thus subscription was sent down by a messenger at the opening of the afternoon service, and thus came together with the final offerings of the Baptist congregation swelled the amount to nearly $21,000, or more than enough to extinguish the debt. In the evening a meeting was held at the Congregational church in which both congregations participated. Addresses were made by the pastors of both churches, Rev. Mr. Riddell of the Baptist church referring in a most earnest manner to the gratitude of his people, for the hearty manifestation of good-will, and the bond of sympathy which had thus been cemented between these Christian churches. Among the contributions towards the payment of the debt, we were pleased to notice a generous sum from your always liberal citizen, John Cummings, Esq.

A. Two Organs

Regulate first the stomach, second the liver; especially the first, so as to perform their functions perfectly and you will remove at least nineteen twentieths of all the ills that mankind is heir to, in this or any other climate. Hop Bitters is the only thing that will give perfectly healthy natural action to these two organs.

INTERESTING ITEMS.

The last piece of rustic laziness encountered by out-of-town correspondents is that of the man who, being asked what ailed his eye, answered, "Nothin'; I shut it coz I can see well enough with one. Sometimes I shut one, sometimes t'other."

It's hard to believe that Miss Whittier was cured of such terrible sores by Hood's Sarsaparilla, but her story is vouched for by reliable people.

"The Sixty Surgeons Bill," so-called, is a measure in the interest of every honest claimant.

I wish I was dead! After suffering several years with the Leucorrhoea, and no doubt I would have died, on a lady induced me try Sulpher Bitters. Now I am well. Three bottles cured me.—Mrs. C., Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Partington says don't take any of the quack nostrums, as they are regimental to the human cistern; but put your trust in Hop Bitters, which will cure general dilipation, constive habits and all common diseases. They saved Isaac from a severe extract of tripod fever. They are the ne plus unum of medicines.

The national banks of Springfield, Mass., held a meeting on Tuesday to discuss the fusing of the bill, but adjourned without action, to await the final passage of the bill.

A smooth complexion can be had by every lady who will use Parker's Ginger Tonic. For promptly regulating the liver and kidneys and purifying the blood there is nothing like it, and this is the reason why it so quickly removes pimples and gives a bloom to the cheek. See notice.

Lesson 9:

LUKE 5: 12-26.

GOLDEN TEXT:—"The power of the Lord was present to heal them."—LUKE 5: 17.

Central Truth:—Jesus proved his power to deal with sin and its effects.

The effect of the preaching of Jesus, in the synagogue at Nazareth was to stir up the jealous of the Jews, who "were filled with wrath," because they were disappointed in his declining to perform any wondrous works for their benefit, and justified his refusal by a reference to what the prophets Elijah and Elisha had done in their day for the benefit of the Gentiles. Nothing ever surprised the people more than the fact of the lowly Jesus performing such works.

7. The Pharisees and the doctors of law "sat by" Jesus while he taught the people. It is one thing to sit by as critics; and another thing to sit under as learners. It is little that doctors and learned men should be willing that Christ should preach before them while they are unwilling that he should preach to them.

LITERARY.

SCHIBNER for March has a number of interesting points. The second part of Mrs. Burnett's piquant novelette, A Fair Barbarian, will be eagerly read by those who have read the first part, and will be found even more interesting. That this story adds new laurels to the author's reputation is not doubted by anyone who has read it through. Ericsson's Destroyer, and her New Gun, is the subject of a paper, by Mr. Charles Barnard, which has the advantage of presenting the first drawings of this long expected piece of armament, with some fresh details. In Musical Possibilities of America Mr. Thomas writes practically of vocal and instrumental culture, church and theatre music, old and good methods of teaching, and of American violins. Never-before-engraved portraits of Charles and Mary Lamb, from oil paintings, embellish a short paper by Mr. John Arbnuckle. In London with Dickens is a chronicle of the localities of Boz, including Mr. Trelawny's house, Linnehole Hole, Jenny Wren's house, the Inns of Court, etc. Dr. B. E. Martin, who contributes this paper, writes from personal familiarity with the places he describes. Another similar paper is to follow. There is an illustrated article on John Singleton Copley, by his granddaughter, Mrs. Amyot, giving a biographical account of an American painter popularly little known, and presenting engravings of "The Boy and the Flying-Squirrel," "Boy Rescued from a Shark," "Lady Wentworth," and other illustrations. Still further variety is given to the number by a second paper of Recollections of American Society, by Mrs. S. W. Oskey; an illustrated paper on Striped Bass, by Mr. Francis Endicott; an account on Protestantism in Italy, by Rev. Washington Gladden; more Notes of a Walker, including discussion of Shakespeare's natural history, by John Burroughs; A Dangerous Virtue, a striking short story, by H. H. Boyesen; the fifth part of Mr. Schuyler's Peter the Great as Ruler and Reformer, illustrated by Blum, Nehrling, and others, and the concluding paper of Glimpses of Parisian Art, with studio sketches by Jourdain, Alfred Stevens, Rico, Egusquiza, Madrazo, and others, and interesting personal material. Among the poems is a sonnet (Two Homes) by Dr. Holland, who, in Topies of the Time, writes of George Eliot, and The Metropolitan Museum, and takes note of Bishop Cox's exception to part of a recent paper in Scribner on the Bible Society. Home and Society treats of A Mother's Duty to her Girls, A New Cooking-stove, and Servants' Rooms and Quarters. The book notices are by specialists, as is the aim of the magazine; and this month they have much variety and suggestiveness, a review of "Endymion" being especially interesting. The World's Work deals with Artificial Ballast, Power for Pleasure-boats, Optical Tests for Milk, etc., and Brica-a-Brae has humor and pleasantry of its own well-established kind.

Jesus, at the earnest request of this afflicted man, consented to heal him by his miraculous power. The man evidently believed he could relieve him if he would, and he expressed his faith in his willingness as well as in his ability. He called him "Lord," which was an evidence of his faith, which Jesus recognized and rewarded by the touch of his healing hand.

The fame of this cure, which was perhaps the first instance of the kind which Jesus had performed, at once spread through all the country and excited the greatest interest among the people, so that they came in great crowds to hear Jesus preach and to receive healing at his hand.

He withdrew himself as was often his custom, into less frequented neighborhoods, and spent much time in prayer.

But he was soon found by a party of persons, who brought to him a friend who was suffering from a stroke of paralysis, confined to his bed and helpless, for whom they asked his aid. Their earnest faith, and the pains they took to bring their suffering friend into the very presence of the Lord, impressed Jesus, who at once assured them that not only bodily maladies, but spiritual disorders also, could be healed through faith; that not only palsied limbs, but a sinful soul, could be restored to health and purity by him. To prove this, he at once spoke the word of physical healing, and restored the paralytic to health. He thus rebuked those who said that he was usurping divine prerogatives, and vindicated his right and power to heal bodily maladies.

His success astonished all, and led them to ascribe the glory to Christ's wonderful works to divine power and authority, and they glorified God and were filled with admiration, saying, "We have seen strange things to-day."

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

1. There is no disease of the body so much to be dreaded as sin, which may be called the leprosy of the soul.

Like the leprosy, sin is—

1. Hereditary. 2. It taints the whole man. 3. It is sure to be fatal. 4. There is only one physician who can cure it. 5. Faith is essential to any cure. 6. If Christ undertakes the cure, He is always successful. 7. Sin attacks all classes, the highest and the lowest.

2. Men are more afraid of physical than moral disease.

They will not grudge any cost for a skillful physician, or for expensive remedies, but how little they value the "balm of Gilead," or the "Great Physician there."

3. The best way to show our gratitude for God's mercies is to cultivate a spirit of obedience to his commands.

This was the spirit of Christ's admonition to the leper who was cured of his disease. The Lord did not want any noisy demonstrations, but quiet and grateful obedience, which would have honored him more.

4. We should observe a proper proportion between our seasons of active working and our seasons of prayerful meditation.

It is a good rule in husbandry not to allow the top of the tree to grow too large for the roots. Our divine Lord felt the need of retirement and communion with God. A life all action will be bad for the soul itself as a life all prayer would be profitless for others.

5. Physical sins lead to paralysis of the body, and spiritual transgressions lead to paralysis of the soul.

But the latter is a far more fatal disease than the former.

6. By counsel and prayer carry your helpless friends to Jesus.

Christ's power to heal the diseases of the body is a proof of his authority to heal the

that Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all dangerous and mysterious diseases caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

Messrs. C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.—Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1856, at which time I was cured. I now have no trouble with my limbs. The skin became dry, chap, crack and peeled, and itched intensely, so that I could not help scratching until it bled. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla from the summer of 1856 they were so bad that they did not cover the skin, and were bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that the hair could not grow on it, and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it, and eventually got rid of the rheum, to the great relief of myself and family. I hope many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive much benefit as truly yours,

Cathartic Pills

Combining the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions perfectly adjusted, so as to exert a powerful, yet gentle, and uniform influence. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, which require prompt and efficient treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regularity and healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable corrective medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

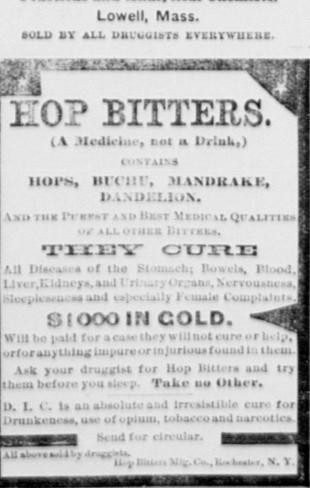

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions, and Skin Diseases, Dropsey, Thrombosis, Ulcers, Gout, Rheumatism, Gripes, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

A DINNER PILL they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartics that can be employed, and never give violent or dangerous purges. Their stimulating and their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

LITERARY.

One of the handsomest of publications is the ILLUSTRATED SCIENTIFIC NEWS, published by Munn & Co., New York. Every number contains many illustrations, technical engravings of various subjects, and interesting news from all over the world. It is well worth the price of $1.00 a year, and we heartily recommend it. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorable Remedy" has been much discussed in our columns, and many shown.

The March number contains among various other subjects, a full description of the manufacture of paper hangings, with engravings; how the decorative curve is produced in casting the ball by the baseball pitcher, his attitude, how he holds and handles the ball, all fully illustrated. The number before us also contains engravings of Capt. Eads' proposed ship railway across the Isthmus, and a novel hydraulic railway locomotive.

In addition to all this it contains many valuable recipes for artisans and housekeepers. This publication will be found instructive and entertaining to all classes, but will be best appreciated by the most intelligent, published by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York, at $1.50 a year, and sold by all newsdealers.

Father Scully!

Mar. 3.

Nebraska was visited yesterday by a very severe snow storm and gale, compelling the abandonment of railway traffic.

A lot of papers relating to the Texas land swindle, which was exposed two or three years ago, were found on Tuesday in Dallas. The name of J. W. Bradley of Boston appears on some of the papers.

The correspondent of the London Standard, who was captured by the Boers during the recent battle, says the Boers are in all respects, man for man, more than equal to any of the English foot soldiers.

The recent storm at Newfoundland was the severest known in 60 years. A schooner with nine men was lost, a brigantine and her crew are supposed to have shared the same fate, and every boat in the harbor of St. Johns was destroyed.

At present no arrests will be made in Dublin under the Coercion act. Two recent attempts at assassination have been made, one of which—in the case of a land agent to the late Lord Mountmorre's brother—is expected to result fatally.

The official inquiry into the loss of steamer Bohemian closed at Liverpool on Wednesday. The court found the captain not justified in keeping up a high rate of speed in thick weather so near land, and acquitted the other officers from all blame.

The Senate passed the Deficiency bill; there was a sharp debate in the Senate over the proposition to reimburse the President for the amount paid for the expenses of the Wayne MacVeagh Louisiana Commission, but it was laid on the table.

A couple of serious railway accidents happened last Tuesday morning near Macon, Mo. A passenger train from Chicago was wrecked, and while a special train was running to the relief of the injured passengers it broke through a bridge and added several to the list of killed and wounded.

Gen. Garfield's Cabinet will not be positively fixed upon until Monday, when the nominations will be sent by the new President to the Senate for confirmation. Meanwhile, it is regarded certain that Robert Lincoln will be Secretary of War; Judge Hunt of the Court of Claims of Louisiana is mentioned for Postmaster General. Senator Allison can be Secretary of the Treasury if he will accept, but if not Senator Windom of Minnesota, it is said, will be Secretary Sherman's Successor. Wayne MacVeagh will probably be Attorney General.

Passers by the junction of Berry and Titcomb streets for many years have wondered why the lot on the eastern corner has never been improved. There is, among a few of the knowing ones, a romantic explanation, which, whether true or not, is implicitly believed by them. They say that over half a century ago a young Herald office apprentice undertook to deliver an address on Brown square near by, and upon an unpopular subject, causing himself to be mobbed by the populace and forbidden to speak by the authorities; and that the owner of the lot in question, being a stubborn advocate of free speech, invited the youth to use his land, and the speech was then delivered; after which the land owner vowed that the land should never be built on as long as he could help it, and that he managed to entice it down to our time, though this entail is understood to be nearly over, there being no such eternal facilities for such work in America as in England. There is some talk of erecting a statue to that young apprentice, and, whether the story is strictly true or not, no more fitting spot could be found to set it. His name was William Lloyd Garrison, and his unpopular subject was negro slavery.—Newburyport Herald.

[Cairo, (Ill.) Radical Republican.]

What We Know About It.

"What do you know about St. Jacob's Oil?" said one of our oldest subscribers. This was a fair question, and we answer, that we are reliably informed, that a gentleman of this city who has suffered until agony, and spent a mint of money to get relief from Rheumatism, in desperation bought some and tried it, and declares that it is the best remedy for Rheumatism he ever heard of.

A Warm Welcome.

Young man with a large book under his arm, a seven-by-one smile on his mug, walked into the ticket window at the station. "How much?" asked the clerk what the fare was. "Fifteen cents," replied the boy.

"What do you mean by taking it out in cash?"

"I am a lock expert, and I'll tell you what I have to offer. I'm not too busy now, but I have a great many things to do, and I have a great many things to offer."

"I have no time to talk to you. You ought to take care of your business, and not waste time talking to me."

"What book have you got?" asked the ticket agent.

A beaming smile came over the book agent's face, and in a sing-song voice he began:

"I am offering in seventeen volumes Dr. Whifftree's Observations in Palestine, a book that should be in every family, a book that comprises the views of the intelligent doctor on what he saw in the holy land, with numerous speculations and theories on what he did not see, altogether forming a complete library of deep research, pure theology and chaste imagery. I am now offering this invaluable encyclopedia for the unprecedented low price of two dollars a volume, which is really giving it away for nothing."

After the book agent had kept up for about ten minutes, he began to grow discouraged; for instead of showing signs of weakening, the ticket agent with an ecstatic smile on his face, begged the eloquent man to have rosy cheeks and be strong and healthy. See another column.

"Life well, I guess he does life," said his neighbor Jones. "Why, he's so fond of living that he won't let a clock strike right in his house."

A synagogue near Neustettin, in Pomerania, has been burned. An anti-Jewish meeting was held in the place shortly before the fire broke out.

A gentleman from Miller's Falls, Mass., writes: "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla but three days and I feel better already.

"Where are you going so fast, Mr. Johnson?" "Home, sir; home; I have just purchased my wife a new bonnet and must leave it over the fashion changes."

Body snatching is carried on extensively in the graveyards around Montreal. The police found the stolen body of a woman in the Bishop's college dissecting rooms recently.

There has been so much snow in this vicinity this year that the widow who has six or seven wives in the cemetery has to walk to keep their graves green.—Philadelphia Chronicle.

Samuel Turner, a man of 81 years, an inmate of the Foxboro poor house, made a dandish assault on a sick female inmate of the institution, Saturday night, and threw both her and her child out of doors.

French ladies are abandoning the French heels and now appear at dress parties with their feet clad in elegant stockings and low-heeled slippers. Even the world of fashion has a glimmer of common sense. New Haven Register.

Woburn merchants should begin to fill up their local papers with good long advertisements. The papers need it, and so do the traders. The columns of the home newspaper are a true index to the character of the town—if they are lean so is the business; if fat merchants flourish.

STONES IN THE KIDNEYS

and BLADDER Expedited—Long Suffering of One of TROY'S Best People, A LUCKY MAN.

It is by no means a strange thing that Dr. Kennedy should have received the following letter. By reading it you will see in a minute why James Andrews was thankful:

Troy, N. Y., April 8, 1880.

DEAR SIR—Until a recent date, I had for several years suffered greatly from gravel, called by the physicians "kidney stones." For about a year past this sediment has not passed off in the usual quantity, but has accumulated, causing me untold pain. I tried to get rid of it in my eyes, and after using about one and a half bottles, I voided a stone from the bladder, of an oval shape, 7x6, an inch long, and rough surface. I have since had a number of attacks, and may see what it is composed. Since then I have felt no pain. I now consider myself cured, and consider this a lucky man. I am sending you a specimen, and a deliverance from a terrible disease. You have my consent to use this letter, should you wish to do so, for the benefit of other sufferers.

Yours truly, JAMES ANDREWS.

THE CABINET.

Possibly at first blush the composition of President Garfield's Cabinet may appear, as some papers pronounce it, below rather than above mediocrity in point of strength and political character, but we think a more candid survey of its parts will go far towards correcting such an impression. Mr. Blaine, who it is claimed will be the Premier of the Administration, is one of the most brilliant men of the nation—a statesman of extensive learning, broad views, good judgment, and great energy of character. His appointment to the office of Secretary of State, the first place in the Cabinet, provokes carpings from no Republican quarter, but is generally allowed to be the best and most fitting that could have been made.

Of the other members, Mr. Windom has had large and profitable experience in financial concerns; the appointment of Mr. James was a wise one and eminently satisfactory to the people; the selection of Wayne MacVeagh was highly proper as a concession to the independent element in the Republican party; Mr. Kirkwood it is believed will fill the position of Secretary of the Interior with ability, and fidelity to the interests of all concerned; while Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Hunt are gentlemen of respectable parts.

Taken as a whole it seems to be a well-balanced Cabinet, and one that will give the country a good administration. Below is the list:

James G. Blaine of Maine, Secretary of State.

William Windom of Minnesota, Secretary of Treasury.

Wayne MacVeagh of Pennsylvania, Attorney General.

Thomas L. James of New York, Postmaster General.

Samuel J. Kirkwood of Iowa, Secretary of the Interior.

Robert T. Lincoln of Illinois, Secretary of War.

LOCAL NEWS.

TEMPERANCE.

A great temperance meeting was held in Tremont Temple last Tuesday representing more than six hundred clergymen of various denominations, the object of which was to consider the best methods for suppressing the sale of spirituous liquors.

Speeches were made by several eminent divines all directed against the use and sale of intoxicating drinks.

Mr. Henry Faxon of course was present and his usual mode made himself quite conspicuous in the debates.

Seven "suggestions" were the outcome of the meeting—all good, and some of them business-like.

We have received the Twelfth Annual Report of the Railroad Commissioners, which is very interesting reading for those who like that kind.

The great Boston feed, at which Carle Schurz is to act as central figure, is to come off on the 22d instant. It is calculated to be a stunning affair.

The Boston Courier was established in 1824 and is not only one of the oldest but by all odds the best Sunday paper published at the "Hub." It is a very large, handsome publication and is always brimful of the choicest literary tabloid. The Courier is a paper that will do to it.

It snows a little this morning—109 days since the first of the season fell.

The Lewis concert on the 22d promises to be the musical treat of the season.

Dr. S. Birnboim, dentist, has removed his office to 149 Main street, over Hill's drug store.

Mr. A. C. Floyd of Washington, will please accept our thanks for late Capital papers.

Now is the time for putting on fire protectors. C. M. Strout is making a good many.

Mr. John J. Skinner has a card in this paper to which attention is called. He is a good, faithful workman, and gives satisfaction.

A literary production by "A Comrade of Post 33," will appear in the JOURNAL next week. It was received too late for this issue.

Mr. Cyrus Lamb furnishes all kinds of window and door screens at fair prices. His work takes with the people. Shop on Winn street.

The damages done by the January flood to the Republican Headquarters have been repaired this week, and now the brethren have the best room in the county.

Of course everybody understood that Mr. B. F. Wyer was meant when Dwyer was printed in last week's JOURNAL, because the other facts in the item could refer to no body else.

On Tuesday evening the police arrested Harry Hood on a charge of robbing Honorable Toomey of a silver watch, Sunday evening on Main street. He was found guilty, and fined $10 and costs. The property was returned.

People visiting the public library are notified that they must keep off the lawn, and confine their footsteps to the walks. Great injury is done to the sward by trampling over it at this season of the year, and the trustees will not allow it.

On Monday a young man by the name of Bradley was arrested on suspicion of having stolen rings from the residence of H. Wentworth on Beach street about a month ago, but it appears that he came by the rings honestly he was discharged.

Patrick McKittrick of North Woburn had a valuable horse and buggy stolen from Main street last Saturday evening. The thief was tracked to Lowell by our police when his trail was lost. The team was subsequently found hitched on the road between Stowham and Wakefield.

The Grattan Literary Association have billeted the town for a first class dramatic entertainment to be given in Lyceum Hall on the evening of the 17th instant. The plays will be "The Pirate's Leguey," and "Handy-Andy," for the bringing out of which grand style preparations are being made. The entertainment will be an excellent one.

Mr. Howard E. Strout, the artist, has just finished a very fine portrait of the late Dr. Clough in crayon, on an order from the family. It is an exact likeness of the Doctor, naturally, true to the original, and as a work of art above criticism. Mr. Strout makes a specialty of crayon and ink work in which he is a proficient. Some late pieces in ink are admirable.

Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock, a babe a few days old was left on the door step of a house on Summer St. When its presence was discovered the police were notified, and, by order of the overseers of the poor, it was removed to the Almshouse. A note was pinned to the child's dress which read: "This baby is the child of an honest father and mother, but so poor they can't take care of it, having five others. So it's put under your kind protection. It ain't baptised. It was born Feb. 29. Its broken hearted mother left it here."

Benjamin Hinckley, Esq., of this place, with some twenty-five other Boston dealers, attended the National Butter and Cheese Convention held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, last week. He informs us that the meeting was a very large and important one, being composed of representatives of the trade from different sections of the country. Mr. Hinckley escaped being snow bound at Cedar Rapids by leaving a day in advance of the storm, but was blockaded at Chicago. He returned home on last Sunday morning, having had a very pleasant Western trip.

THAT'S IT.

Commenting on a distressingly silly letter written by Wilson Foggo on the "Fells" question the Stoneham News prints this sensible suggestion:

There is one thing that we would like to see placed in plain figures, i. e., who owns all the land to be taken for the Fells, or adjoining the Fells? Let us know how many acres each land owner is willing to give, and how much land he owns to be taken for the Fells. Such a statement may cause the public to become more interested, at all events to know more of the "true inwardness" of the project.

The only rational objection that can properly be urged against this paragraph is, that our esteemed Stoneham brother should have employed the term "Temple of Nature" instead of "Fells" when alluding to that exquisite bit of real estate which a few noble-hearted philanthropists are trying to sell to somebody for about three times its actual value. Will the News accept our amendment?

CORRECTION.

The editor of the Woburn JOURNAL don't like the difference between Gen. Samuel C. Lawrence, and young Samson W. another branch of the family.—Melrose Chronicle.

Aiming to be exact in all its statements the JOURNAL takes great pleasure in correcting an error it tumbled into a couple of weeks since relating to the recent Mud-tard aspirant for Congressional honors and emoluments. We take it all back, and hereby tender our apology to Gen. Lawrence for the unintentional wrong done him by our remarks.

OFFICE SEEKERS.

Already Washington swarms with applicants for places under the new administration and their friends, and the President is beginning to get a foretaste of some of the pleasures of his exalted position and possession of power. The scramble promises to be the liveliest for years.

THE WOBURN JOURNAL, FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1881.

The Lewis concert will be given on the evening of the 22d. It will be a big one.

Smith & Son's opening will take place in the course of ten days or so. Look out for it.

It is time for owners of orchards to be putting printers' ink around their apple trees.

The Boston Branch has reduced prices of coffee and other groceries. It is a good house.

On next Tuesday evening the Unitarian vestry will be the scene of a sociable and entertainment.

Dr. P. M. Ryan has been employed to look after all sick members of the A. O. H. Division 3 of this town.

The Republican Headquarters will be open every evening in the week, Sundays excepted, until further notice.

Not much business was transacted at the last monthly meeting of Selectmen. The monthly bills were audited.

It is expected that the Woburn Directory will be issued within a couple of weeks after our annual town meeting.

John Perham had one of his arms broken at the elbow at Noyes's mill this morning by a heavy hose striking it.

Stockholders of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad are referred to the important notice in today's paper.

The big rain storm which began Wednesday afternoon hasn't yet cleared away. It has been the biggest storm of the season.

On Thursday Mr. E. Cooper reported the coming of the first bluebird of the season, seen and heard on yesterday morning. Glad of it.

The entertainment given by Court Unity of Foresters on Wednesday evening in G. A. R. Hall was a good, good one, and panned off financially first rate.

Among the artists engaged to participate in the Lewis concert are Mr. C. N. Allen, Weller Fries, Mrs. Humphrey Allen, and Miss Bancroft, a pupil of Mr. Lewis.

The engine and other rooms of L. B. Russell & Co.'s shoe factory had to be pumped out last Saturday by Steamer No. 1. The previous day's rain did the mischief.

It is reported that on account of rotten timbers the lower floors of the High School building need repairing for which an appropriation will be asked at the town meeting.

The Devotional Committee of the Y. M. C. A. have arranged with Mr. Kendall to let his barge to the Cedar street meeting every Sunday evening, which will be a great accommodation to the public.

The Supreme Court in the cases of Susan E. Taylor et al against Woburn have overruled the defendant's exceptions and ordered judgment on the verdicts, the whole amount of which amounted to $1700.

The young people of Cedar street district have formed an association to aid the work of the Y. M. C. A., and have recently purchased a fine organ for the Cedar street place of worship. Which shows that they are interested in the work.

The Young Peoples' Union of the M. E. Church in this village will give an entertainment in the vestry of the church on Tuesday evening, March 22. It will consist of dialogues, tableaux, music, etc. The tickets will be only 10 cents, at which price there will be a full house.

We don't know how long it takes to do it but the annual town meeting is close by and we are somewhat surprised that parties are not beginning to marshal their forces for the fray; leastwise, mapping out the campaign. Of course we are looking for a brilliant Republican victory though the man has not yet been round to tell us how it is to be won.

The following appointments were made Thursday evening by 1st Lieut. Converse, commanding Co. G, Woburn Mechanic Platoon: Private Charles E. Halliday to be 1st Sergeant and company clerk, vice Skeleton, discharged; Private Joseph M. Hall to be 4th Sergeant, vice Hallday, discharged; Corporal Mark R. Madison to be 5th Sergeant, vice Hall, discharged; Privates Chas. Nichols and J. Horace Dean to be Corporals, vice Philbrook, discharged, and Madison, promoted.

The Misses Hayford & Adams have recently had their pleasant Millinery rooms, No. 1 Walnut street, fitted up and put into good shape for spring trade. A large show window has been put into the front which enables the ladies to display their goods to better advantage, and other improvements made. The location and rooms are pleasant and handy for customers. Misses H. & A. will add new goods to their already excellent stock of millinery next week and in the course of a month or so they will give their grand spring opening.

Branham gem from the clergy: one at our elbow says: the destructive flow of sin in our midst is mainly due to the unfaithfulness of officers in the discharge of their public trusts. Another: Ask in the columns of your paper how many of the 600 ministers at Tremont Temple can show a clear voting record on the question of temperance? Another: Let us go to work and put up a genuine citizens ticket that shall be clean, and will stop rumseling and drunkenness. Another asks: How will the town vote on the local option plan? And so on to the end of the chapter.

At the Grattan Literary Association held in lower G. A. R. Hall on the evening of the 7th instant the following officers were elected: President, John A. Watch; 1st Vice, John C. Mechan; 2nd Vice, Walter Noyes; Rec. Secy., Edward F. Cassidy; Fin. Secy., James W. Dwyer; Treasurer, Alexander McDonald; Board of Trustees, E. F. Cassidy, J. W. Downey, M. J. Watch; Sergeant at Arms, P. J. Macuire. At the close of the meeting the members were entertained by the new officers in a pleasant manner, and when all went home, at a reasonable hour, the general opinion prevailed that the right men had been chosen to officer the Association for the ensuing six months.

His Honor, Judge Converse, presided with dignity and held the Seals of Justice evenly balanced. His officers hurried around the seat of the august tribunal, and with alacrity executed the mandates of the court. John A. Keating e. d., 85 and costs; William Hammett, s. d., 84. At a subsequent period another matine was held in Judge Converse's office when the following cases were disposed of: Catherine Farrell, John Cullen and John H. Nash were fined $10 and costs, except Katy, who had a five-dollar plaster put on, for disturbing the peace on Everett street last Monday evening. Cullen and Cullen paid up like men, but Nash was sent to Cambridge for non-payment.

The Y. P. S. of the Baptist Society, Woburn, will give a course of popular entertainments in the Baptist Church, as follows:

Tuesday evening, March 15, Rev. Russell C. Conwell of Boston will deliver his popular lecture, "Acres of Diamonds."

Tuesday evening, March 22, Mr. Black of Boston will give a Grand Scripture Exhibition with descriptive lecture.

Tuesday evening, March 29, the Young People's Society will give a Unique Musical and Literary Entertainment.

Admission, 20 cents; course tickets, 50 cents. Entertainments commence at 7:45 p.m. Mr. Conwell has delivered 125 lectures this season, and is one of the most popular lecturers of the day. To those who saw Black's Stereopticon in Hudson's Grove last summer, it will need no recommendation; it was grand.

The following figures taken from the annual report of Chief of Police Conn show the business done in his department for the year ending February 28, 1881. They will appear in the forthcoming town report, but official courtesy enables us to anticipate the publication of the report and print them now: Whole number of arrests made, 310—males, 276, females, 34. Tramps lodged and fed, 307—519 less than previous year.

If you want pure Brown Leghorn eggs for setting call and see J. Munroe's champion layers before buying.

Cause of arrest: assault and battery, 87; single drunk, 83; common drunkard, 35; disturbing the peace, 30. Fine and costs paid by 121; fine by 51; costs, 31. No. of persons sent to House of Correction, 14; discharged, 19; committed for non-payment 35; sent to Grand Jury, 7. Value of property recovered by Police, $258.28. Buildings found open, 17. Search warrants for liquor, 3. Police force, 4 regulars, 12 extra. Chief of Police Conn recommends that the headquarters and lockup be in the same building; also, an increase of force at the Centre and Highlands—but sensible suggestions.

Bishop Padlock visited Trinity church last Tuesday evening. The services were conducted by the rector, the Rev. J. Frank Winkley, who presented four candidates for confirmation, two of whom were in private. The bishop's discourse was a stirring appeal in behalf of prayer, its importance being illustrated by examples of our blessed Lord. Public prayer, prayer in the house of God. Our life is one of conflict, battling, constant warfare with the element of sin. It is not possible that a truly Christian man can be very popular. If men speak against and revile the Master, what may we expect? Listen to nothing, hearken to nothing, allow no obstacle that you can possibly overcome to prevent your regular and devout attendance on public worship, to aid in the prayers, to join in the praises, to listen to the lessons and sermons, and to give as abundantly as you are able, remembering God requires of you a sacrifice. To sustain you in the conflict with the many powers that are constantly operating to beguile untried souls, we need the strengthening and invigorating influence of private prayer. Learn how to pray. Pray as Jesus prayed, for soft, for friends, for the church, for the conversion of mankind. The discourse was listened to with marked attention throughout as was his address to the confirmed.

No preparation on earth equals St. Joe's Oil. It is a powerful, simple and cheap, & verily Remedy. A trial sample, including a trifling outlay of 50 cents, and every one is entitled to pain can have cheap and positive proof of its efficacy.

TRUTH vs. FALSIFICATION.

Parties, for reasons best known to themselves, have put in circulation a report that the subscribers cut their ice so early that it was much thinner and consequently of an inferior quality to that cut by the competing company. It is proper that those who consume and pay for ice should understand the facts. The truth is, the other company finished filling their houses at North Woburn the day we commenced to fill ours at Horn Pond; consequently our ice was cut from one to four days later than theirs. At North Woburn, our ice from Echo Lake, Winchester, was cut from eight to twelve days later than the ice of the other company from Cummings' tannery pond on the edge of Burlington. The fact is, our ice is from 11 inches to 20 inches thick, and we are the only company in Woburn that cuts ice from Horn Pond or Echo Lake for Woburn and Winchester trade.

MONTVALE.

Mr. William Totman, a long-time resident and much respected citizen, is so dangerously ill that fears of his non-recovery are felt.

A permanent Branch of the Irish Land League to be known as Robert Emmet Branch was organized last Monday evening in Charles Porter Hall. The following officers were elected: President, Hugh Finnigan; Vice President, Phillip McKenna; Recording Secretary, Charles Caulfield; Financial Secretary, William M. McDonough; Treasurer, Michael Caulfield; a committee of five was appointed to transact certain business. The Branch now numbers about 75 members, and accession are expected, and it promises to be one of the most flourishing in the State.

The elegant large "Queen of Winches-ter," belonging to A. Wm. & Son, is being repaired, and will soon be ready for the summer campaign.

Master Eddie Lyons got overboard last Saturday while playing in the floating ice near Waldmeyer's tannery, but escaped with a good wading.

Tue. Lehigh's Friendly Society of the Unitarian church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon. Tea was served in the evening with an invitation to the Good Will Club to be present.

The J. F. Dwinell Chemical Engine Co. gave a grand supper in the new Brown & Stanton Block on Thursday evening, March 10, to which they invited the entire fire department with a large number of outside guests.

G.M.C. Robert C. Maitland, an estimable lady, is strongly talked of for a member of the School Board. She would make a good one. Rev. Mr. Symmes, Eugene Tappan and Irving S. Palmer are also prominently mentioned.

The town clerk reports the number of births during the year as 108; male, 49; female, 59. In 42 cases both parents were American, and in the same number of cases both parents were born outside the United States. 24 births were the result of mixed marriages.

Many towns are appointing special committees consisting of six to nine of its leading citizens, on the enforcement of the liquor law. There is a good wholesome fear of such a committee and it is thought by many that such action on the part of our town would tend to entirely suppress the sale.

The assessors' report will contain the following figures:—valuation of real estate, $2,778,505; personal estate subject to taxation, $823,936; tax on real and personal estate at $13 per $1,000, $46,832.48; number of polls, 865. The tax is divided as follows:—town grant, $41,625; state tax, $3,765; county tax, $1,891.96. The number of women registered is 13, the same number as last year.

The regular monthly socialie of the Winchester High School Association took place at the house of Mr. Johnny Ayer, on the West side, Monday evening, March 7. The evening was spent in games, after which Mr. Ayer invited the company to a grand supper furnished by him, after which all departed for their homes, very much pleased with the evening's entertainment. This Association has quite a large number of our most active young ladies and gentlemen, and we congratulate them on their good work and wish them as much prosperity in the future as they have had in the past.

The Reform Club has arranged for a course of six lectures on temperance or the different ways of promoting the work, during this month and April, as follows: Thursday evening March 17th Mrs. Emily L. McLaughlin of the W. C. T. U.; March 24th speaker to be announced; March 31st Rev. A. H. Plumb, D. D. of Boston; April 7th General John L. Swift; April 14th to be announced; April 21 Rev O. P. Gifford of the Warren Ave. Baptist Church Boston—a rising young man and one of the most able speakers in the State. It is not decided yet where they will be held. No charge for admission, but the admittance will be by tickets and application must be made to J. H. Cobb, President, or members of the executive committee—S. C. Small, A. E. Rowe, H. Bates. In view of the present agitation of the subject all over the state it is felt that there must be more done in this town, and more strenuous efforts made to suppress the sale.

Steamer, No. 1. Engineer, Sorel Gove; Fireman, Edward Chase; Driver, Clarence Keen.

Hose No. 1. Foreman, F. A. Stoddard; Asst. Foreman, J. Ennon; Clerk, A. Peterson; Treasurer, J. L. Stoddard; Driver, J. McGaughlin.

Mr. Cobb declined to accept that slight won awarded by the Masonic Fair for correct guessing.

The Missionary Concert in the Congregational church last Sunday evening was a very interesting one.

The entertainment given by the Back Log Club last Friday evening was a capital one and a great success.

Mr. Summer Richardson celebrated his seventieth birthday last Monday. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by the family.

The regular monthly concert of the Orthodox S. S. will take place next Sabbath evening at the usual hour.

Rev. Dr. Peasey of Cambridge will preach in the Winchester Unitarian Church next Sunday morning, March 13.

Owing to the freshet on Saturday, March 5, the water in Whitney's mill pond raised to the highest point it has reached this winter.

The elegant large "Queen of Winches-ter," belonging to A. Wm. & Son, is being repaired, and will soon be ready for the summer campaign.

KEEPING EGGS.

I have found little or no trouble in keeping eggs so fresh that when used they are as good as the day they were taken from the nest. The whole secret lies just here namely: When they are collected in the evenings they should be placed in an upright position, the small end downward, on shelves with holes made to receive them, because in this position the yolk does not come in contact with the albumen, the yolk as it were, being suspended in the centre of the albumen; it otherwise placed—that is, on their sides—the yolk would then come in contact with the shell and naturally spoil every egg being porous.

The common mode of keeping eggs among farmers is to either pack them in straw, sand, chaff, oats, or bran, none of which ways will keep the eggs fresh for any length of time. As they will perspire you must find some method that will entirely close the pores of the egg and keep them closed. My plan is simple, and not at all expensive. I melted together tallow and mutton fat, then took wing feathers of the fowl and greased every egg, being careful to replace them in the same position as at first, and keep them in a dry and dark place. By this method you can at any time sell to the grocer or private family, fresh eggs, as they do not lose their flavor.

MAR. 13.

LESSON 11:

The Sinner's Friend.

LUKE 7: 35-50.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven."—Luke 7: 48.

Central Truth:—Christ can save sinners.

It went to Matt., chap. xi, where we find there his account of the "testimony of Jesus about John," almost in the same words in which it is recorded by St. Luke. Then follow those memorable and beautiful words of Jesus, words which will never die: "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly of heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls: for my yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Matt. xi: 28-30.)

It has been supposed that these words were heard by the woman mentioned in this lesson, and that they touched her heart and were the means of bringing her to Jesus. Certainly they had had this effect in very many cases since her day, and they will be heard by many sinful and sorrowful souls yet to come, and will induce them with all their burdens to the meek and lowly Jesus for rest.

The committee of five went out to find Samuel and deliver their message. He sat on a bench at the door of his shanty, a shot gun across his knees and a pipe in his mouth, and he preserved silence while the chairman of the committee read the resolution when he asked:

"What means me, does it?"

"She does."

"They don't like my style of carving and shooting, eh?"

"That's what they kick on."

"Well, I wont go. You haven't got 'em men in the whole valley to drive Calabash Sam a rod. Return to the convention and report that I bore for the season."

"I forgot to mention," continued the chairman, in a careless voice, as he leaned on his gun—"I forgot to mention that the convention has adjourned. This committee thus finds itself in an embarrassing situation, and it sees only one way out of it. Unless you'll agree to pick up and travel, this committee will feel called upon to—too."

"To begin shooting you mean?"

"Exactly, Samuel, exactly. You may have already observed that two of the committee have got the drop on you."

"I see."

"Corporal which are riddled with buckshot have a very unpleasant look," continued the chairman, as he rested his chin on the muzzle of his gun.

"Yes, that's so."

"And it's kinder lonesome, this, being the first plant in a new burying-ground."

"Y-e-s, it may be."

"An't so, take it all around, the committee kinder indulges in the hope that you'll see fit to carry your valuable society back to the Black Hills. You may have observed that three shotguns, each under full cock, are now looking straight at you. We don't want to bluff, but it's getting night sup-time."

"Well, after looking the matter all over, I'm convinced that these diggings won't pan out low grade ore, and I guess I'll take a walk."

"Right off?"

"Yes."

"Right up this trail?"

"Yes."

"Very well. While the committee feels sorry to see you go, and wishes you all sorts of luck, it hasn't time to shake hands. Step off, now, and for fear you ain't used to walking, we'll keep these guns pointed up the hill until you turn the half-mile boulder. Tra-la-march!"—Detroit Free Press.

New Postal Regulation.

The Postmaster-General has issued an order making some important changes in regard to postage on different kinds of mail matter.

Hitherto, under the statute of March 3, 1879, many documents and papers partly printed and partly written, have been sent as third class matter which are now subjected to full letter postage. The following is the order just issued:

It is ordered that section 232, postal regulations, be revoked, and in lieu thereof the following order is made:

Mailable matters of the first class shall embrace all matter wholly or partially in writing, except as herein provided.—Act of March 3, 1879, section 8, 20 stat, page 358.

The exceptions are as follows:

2. Date and name of the addressee and of the sender of circulars, and the correction of mere typographical errors therein.—Ibid., sec. 17, p. 359.

3. A truly penitent and loving heart thinks that it cannot do too much for Jesus.

It has an alabaster box of precious ointment, it will joyfully break it, and pour its fragrant contents upon the Savior's feet.

Yet far more precious is the gift of a sinner's broken heart.

4. Many men pride themselves on being always ready to pay their debts, who never remember their largest creditor.

We owe man two hundred pence; our debt to God is more than ten thousand talents!

Yet "Jesus paid it all!"

5. Christ's hatred of sin is only equalled by his love for sinners.

6. They who have the keenest sense of their own unworthiness will be least censorious and bitter in their condemnation of others.

In the days of great anti-slavery excitement, two prominent pastors in New England met one Monday morning, after one had invited a worthy Southern minister who was a slaveholder to preach for him the Sunday before.

"Brother B.," said one, "how could you allow that sinner to go into your pulpit yesterday?"

"Ah! Brother H.," was the reply, "a sinner goes into my pulpit every Sunday."

7. They love Christ most, not who do the most for him, but they who are sensible how much he does for them.

"Love I much, I've much forgiven;

"I've a miracle of grace."

8. It was an evidence of Christ's transparent purity that he was not afraid of contamination from contact with great sinners.

His enemies often reproached him for keeping low company, but he was always willing to go anywhere for the sake of doing good.

9. Many persons have some faith in Christ, but are afraid to express it.

But faith grows by expression, not by repression, as flowers confined in a dark cellar do not grow. Bring them out into the light, and they put forth their richest beauty and exhale their sweetest fragrance.

Moral Session in Colorado.

Three months ago, when 200 of the leading citizens of Gunnison City met in convention on a street corner, there were seven or eight Michigan men among the crowd. When Colonel Parker presented the following resolution, it was a Michigan man who supported it:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to wait upon Calabash Sam, late of Deadwood, and inform him that after sunrise tomorrow morning this crowd will open fire on him with the intention of furnishing a corpse for our new graveyard.

The committee of five went out to find Samuel and deliver their message. He sat on a bench at the door of his shanty, a shot gun across his knees and a pipe in his mouth, and he preserved silence while the chairman of the committee read the resolution when he asked:

"What means me, does it?"

"She does."

"They don't like my style of carving and shooting, eh?"

"That's what they kick on."

"Well, I wont go. You haven't got 'em men in the whole valley to drive Calabash Sam a rod. Return to the convention and report that I bore for the season."

"I forgot to mention," continued the chairman, in a careless voice, as he leaned on his gun—"I forgot to mention that the convention has adjourned. This committee thus finds itself in an embarrassing situation, and it sees only one way out of it. Unless you'll agree to pick up and travel, this committee will feel called upon to—too."

"To begin shooting you mean?"

"Exactly, Samuel, exactly. You may have already observed that two of the committee have got the drop on you."

"I see."

"Corporal which are riddled with buckshot have a very unpleasant look," continued the chairman, as he rested his chin on the muzzle of his gun.

"Yes, that's so."

"Y-e-s, it may be."

"An't so, take it all around, the committee kinder indulges in the hope that you'll see fit to carry your valuable society back to the Black Hills. You may have observed that three shotguns, each under full cock, are now looking straight at you. We don't want to bluff, but it's getting night sup-time."

"Well, after looking the matter all over, I'm convinced that these diggings won't pan out low grade ore, and I guess I'll take a walk."

"Right off?"

"Yes."

"Right up this trail?"

"Yes."

"Very well. While the committee feels sorry to see you go, and wishes you all sorts of luck, it hasn't time to shake hands. Step off, now, and for fear you ain't used to walking, we'll keep these guns pointed up the hill until you turn the half-mile boulder. Tra-la-march!"—Detroit Free Press.

New Postal Regulation.

The Postmaster-General has issued an order making some important changes in regard to postage on different kinds of mail matter.

Hitherto, under the statute of March 3, 1879, many documents and papers partly printed and partly written, have been sent as third class matter which are now subjected to full letter postage. The following is the order just issued:

It is ordered that section 232, postal regulations, be revoked, and in lieu thereof the following order is made:

The exceptions are as follows:

1. Corrected proof-sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same.—Ibid., sec. 17, p. 359.

2. Date and name of the addressee and of the sender of circulars, and the correction of mere typographical errors therein.—Ibid., sec. 17, p. 359.

3. A truly penitent and loving heart thinks that it cannot do too much for Jesus.

It has an alabaster box of precious ointment, it will joyfully break it, and pour its fragrant contents upon the Savior's feet.

Yet far more precious is the gift of a sinner's broken heart.

4. Many men pride themselves on being always ready to pay their debts, who never remember their largest creditor.

We owe man two hundred pence; our debt to God is more than ten thousand talents!

Yet "Jesus paid it all!"

5. Christ's hatred of sin is only equalled by his love for sinners.

6. They who have the keenest sense of their own unworthiness will be least censorious and bitter in their condemnation of others.

In the days of great anti-slavery excitement, two prominent pastors in New England met one Monday morning, after one had invited a worthy Southern minister who was a slaveholder to preach for him the Sunday before.

"Brother B.," said one, "how could you allow that sinner to go into your pulpit yesterday?"

"Ah! Brother H.," was the reply, "a sinner goes into my pulpit every Sunday."

Moral Session in Colorado.

Three months ago, when 200 of the leading citizens of Gunnison City met in convention on a street corner, there were seven or eight Michigan men among the crowd. When Colonel Parker presented the following resolution, it was a Michigan man who supported it:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to wait upon Calabash Sam, late of Deadwood, and inform him that after sunrise tomorrow morning this crowd will open fire on him with the intention of furnishing a corpse for our new graveyard.

The committee of five went out to find Samuel and deliver their message. He sat on a bench at the door of his shanty, a shot gun across his knees and a pipe in his mouth, and he preserved silence while the chairman of the committee read the resolution when he asked:

"What means me, does it?"

"She does."

"They don't like my style of carving and shooting, eh?"

"That's what they kick on."

"Well, I wont go. You haven't got 'em men in the whole valley to drive Calabash Sam a rod. Return to the convention and report that I bore for the season."

"I forgot to mention," continued the chairman, in a careless voice,

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All Advertisements, to insure insertion in this paper, must be handed in as early as 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

DEATH OF THE CZAR.

Last Sunday afternoon when returning to the palace from a visit Czar Alexander of Russia was killed by the explosion of a bombshell thrown from the crowd that lined the street through which he and suite were passing. The first shell thrown wrecked the rear of the carriage in which he rode, but injured none of the occupants. The Czar descended to the pavement and immediately a second shell exploded at his feet which broke his legs and inflicted mortal injuries. He was taken to the palace and died shortly after surrounded by his family and friends. Only one of the assassins has been captured.

The late Emperor will be succeeded by his son, with the title of Alexander III. He is about thirty-five years old, and a man of intellectual strength, but his public policy is matter of conjecture, though many believe it will be different from that of his lamented sire. It is probable the Nihilists will find in him an uncompromising foe.

MORE "HORSE SENSE."

Interest in the scheme for converting the Middlesex Fells into a State Park is not on the wane as some suppose. Local journals and correspondents continue to discuss it, but the most sensible thing that has been said on the subject appeared in the last issue of the Boston Courier, to wit: " * * it is time for considering the business aspect of the proposed transaction. The movers in the project should at once make public a full and explicit statement, who are the present owners of the Fells and upon what terms they propose to sell the property for use as a park. * * * The matter has gone as far as it can without being looked at in a purely business light, and in order that this may be done the facts asked for must be fully and unreservedly given."

AN ELOQUENT REPLY.

Senator Hoar made one of his best speeches in the Senate chamber the other day in answer to Ben Hill's vocation on the Malone case. It was very able, sharp, and eloquent, and produced a profound impression on his listeners. It has been by such able speeches and honest work that Senator Hoar has won a commanding position in the upper branch of the National Legislature and the high esteem of his constituents.

BLAINE'S SUCCESSOR.

Hon. William P. Frye, for many years a member of the House of Representatives, was elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Maine on last Tuesday, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. James G. Blaine. He is one of the ablest men in the Pine Tree State.

Mr. C. M. Strout is making up quantities of treeprotectors which farmers and others should buy for it is time to put them on.

St. Patrick's Day—yesterday was duly celebrated in this place by our Irish citizens, who, as usual, managed to enjoy all there was of it.

Read the card of Messrs. Duran & Pierce in this paper and be profited thereby. They are square men, and will do the honest thing by customers.

Johnny Perham's arm was broken by falling on a railroad sleeper instead of being struck by the hose, as stated by us last week. We are glad to see that he is out and around the streets. His arm is doing well, but some trouble is still experienced with his hand and side.

It would be a good plan—a very good one—for those who are seeking bargains in shirts to drop into the store of Mr. Burgess and examine the quality, make, and price of his "Sectional Yoke" dress shirts. At $100 apiece they are they are the biggest kind of a bargain. At the same time look at his stock of 40-inch black cassimeres at 75 cents.

On Friday evening, March 25, Mt. Horeb Lodge, F. and A. M., will dedicate their new banquet hall with appropriate ceremonies. The treat will consist chiefly of readings, music, tripping the light etc., and a feast of food. We suspect the occasion will be one long to be remembered with pleasurable emotions by all who are so fortunate as to get pastebards.

The fruits of Mr. G. F. Jones's late trip to Canada was the arrival, on last Wednesday, of seventeen fine Canadian horses purchased by him in and around Montreal, for Jones & Doyle of the Central Horse Stables. The lot consists of first-class roadsters and work horses, which will be sold at reasonable figures by Messrs. Jones & Doyle. The horses can be seen at the reunion of the Company in May.

The merry bicyclist tinkle his bell in season to just escape running into a bevy of young ladies, and laughs to see them scamper through the mud so he may have a dry smooth road to ride upon.

We shall open the largest line of ladies' and children's hoseery ever shown in this vicinity and would advise that our customers secure what they need before the assortment is broken.

C. A. Smith & Son.

The entertainment at the Grattans last evening was worthy of more praise than we have space to spare to give it.

The attendance was large, the dramatic performance first rate, and the satisfaction of the audience complete.

Willie Gordon, son of Mr. Michael Gordon, only six years old, was thrown to the ground by number of large boys on Thursday, and had one of his legs badly shattered. Such works by such semi-young men are very reprehensible.

The guardians of public peace, including His Honor, have been holding the scales again this week with great fairness: D. Ryan, d., $1.00; D. Bohan, c. d., 3 m. H. C. Martin Connolly, married the girl; Elcie Giroux, a. b., $5 and costs.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. Black of Boston will give a grand stereopticon exhibition in the Baptist society lecture course at the Baptist church. By those who have seen it Mr. Black's exhibition is said to be in the highest degree entertaining, so, should the evening be a favorable one, the church will probably be packed.

The entertainment at the Unitarian Vestry on Tuesday was largely attended and of superior quality. The programme was as follows: Quartette, "Beautiful Sunset"; reading from "School for Scandal"; Mrs. Bartlett and Mr. G. M. Champney; song, "Ain't Bonnie Mary"; Mrs. Dr. Allen; piano solo, Miss Carrie Jenkins; song, "Just as old"; Miss Allen; piano duet; Miss Bancroft and Mr. Lewis; pantomime, "Blue Beard," with descriptive song by Mr. G. M. Champney.

Local option gives a chance for a square stand-up fight on the rum question. It will probably bring out every voter in Woburn on next election day. The friends of sobriety and good order should leave no honorable means untried to achieve victory. It seems as though there ought to be decent enough in this town to settle the question as the best interests of society demand it should be settled. But we don't know about it. The shot in temperance men's guns are apt to scatter, and there is never any telling where they are going to hit.

Read the advertisement of the concert on the third page. Miss Bancroft who appears as solo pianist at the concert is a pupil of F. H. Lewis. Mrs. Humphrey Allan will draw a great many, as she is a great favorite here. Then Messrs. Allan and Fries, who have no superiors in their profession, in addition, will doubtless insure a large audience—not too large, but we hope just large enough. Miss Bancroft is to have a new solo grand piano-forte made by Woodward & Brown, Boston, also another piano-forte will be used to accompany the "Hungarian Fantasy," which she plays during the evening.

The lecture delivered by Rev. Russell H. Conwell at the Baptist church on last Tuesday evening was the very best to which a Woburn school has been treated for many a long day. The theme of the eloquent orator was "Acres of Diamonds," and to say that it was handled with ability and grace would be stating it mildly. The audience was not large, but an intelligent and appreciative one, and it was highly complimentary to the lecturer that such excellent judges of literary merit were pleased with his "Acres of Diamonds."

We spoke of next Tuesday's concert, in our last week's issue, as being the "Lewis" concert; we are assured by Mr. Lewis that such is not the case; he is only one of the parties who have agreed to share the expenses of this concert (which will be considerable, because of the talent engaged) in case of the loss which is likely to follow, judging from the attendance of previous concerts this season. However, we do not see how there can be much risk with such talent to entertain as those that are engaged.

Mr. Lewis has been engaged as manager of the evening, and the audience are thus assured that promptness will be observed instead of the "waits" that occur too often at our concerts in Lyceum Hall. It will commence at 7.45.

W. KNIGHT WALTON, Sec.

Mr. Hardy's fish market is a popular institution with our people.

The entertainment at the Baptist church is postponed to Wednesday evening.

The other day, in a fit, William Safford fell on the stove and suffered some injuries.

Friday morning: wind dead east; cloudy: signs of rain: pretty dark, and smells of cheese.

The article by an anonymous correspondent on the late Col. Leonard Thompson, is necessarily put over to next week.

Now the season begins when the women and children are obliged to climb a fence or get into the gutter to make way for the bicycle.

The warrant for the annual town meeting is longer than the Mosaic Dispensation. It may be read in these columns, and should be carefully read.

Although Messrs. Smith & Son's opening does not occur till Tuesday, their store is not closed but they are on hand as usual for business.

The Board of Selectmen have voted to contest the Taylor case, so called, further.

The nature of the suit is probably familiar to our Woburn readers.

The Reading News gives us to understand that Col. Hayes of Woburn is a cousin to the late incumbent of the P. Chair. Which is just as it should be.

The proceedings of the Republican caucus held at Headquarters last evening are easily summed up. The attendance was full, and a good spirit prevailed among the attendants. Hon. J. G. Pollard was called to the chair, and Mr. Walter E. Cushing was selected for secretary. A committee of five was, in conformity with a resolution passed, appointed by the chair to select a committee of fifteen, whose duty it should be to confer with other political organizations on the matter of town officers, and report at a meeting to be held at Headquarters Saturday evening, March 26. The chairman of this latter committee is Mr. Jacob Brown. The sentiment of the caucus was strongly in favor of a citizen's ticket, to be made up of the best men in the town, which sentiment ought, and probably will, prevail. The caucus was very harmonious in its ideas of what ought to be done.

The double store-rooms of Messrs. Charles A. Smith & Son, now thrown into one spacious and handsome apartment, will be in complete readiness for the great opening of the firm which takes place on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The size of the room, 36x75, and the handsome style in which it has been fitted up for the accommodation of the Smiths' large and rapidly increasing sales, fairly entitles it to be called the Palace of Trade, the opening of which will mark an epoch in the dry goods business of Woburn. It is the largest dry goods store in the county outside of Lowell, and one of the best arranged and most commodious. There are two entrances to the room; a row of handsome pillars extends through the centre; the numerous counters are topped in fine ash, and the shelves are made attractive and exceedingly handy for use. The whole is finely lighted, an advantage that will be duly appreciated by purchasers, and the Messrs. Smith & Son.

The entertainment at the Grattans last evening was worthy of more praise than we have space to spare to give it. The attendance was large, the dramatic performance first rate, and the satisfaction of the audience complete.

We shall open the largest line of ladies' and children's hoseery ever shown in this vicinity and would advise that our customers secure what they need before the assortment is broken.

Mr. EDITOR:—Last Wednesday evening week, when I was descending Fowle street towards the Highlands Station and having crossed Prospect street, I had not proceeded more than half a dozen yards before I was saluted by a kick from one of a number of seemingly intoxicated young men loafing outside a notorious rum shop. And as I have been insulted in like manner once or twice previously, I thought it would be full as well if the town knew what was going on and the course that is adopted by a certain class. Not that I have received any personal injury, but it is the fact of this continual annoyance that I urge the necessity of having more police for this vicinity.

A citizen ticket for town officers that does not have on it the names of Gilman F. Jones and John I. Munroe will lack an element of strength and popularity necessary to a sweeping victory. They are strong, clean men; and though pronounced Democrats, are men that would greatly strengthen a citizen ticket and insure a victory for respectability. Of course there are Republicans who will turn up their noses at it because coming from a man who and whose ancestors were not born in Woburn, but we make the suggestion, that the Republicans couldn't do a wiser thing than to vote to place the names of Messrs. Jones and Munroe on the Citizens' Ballot.

The proceedings of the Republican caucus held at Headquarters last evening are easily summed up. The attendance was full, and a good spirit prevailed among the attendants. The Taylor case, so called, further.

The nature of the suit is probably familiar to our Woburn readers.

The Reading News gives us to understand that Col. Hayes of Woburn is a cousin to the late incumbent of the P. Chair. Which is just as it should be.

WINCHESTER.

James Regan has sold land on Myrtle street to John F. Healey for $300.

Bluebirds and other longed-for indications of Spring have made their appearance, whereat we all rejoice.

A family of three persons desire board, in a pleasant house, in Winchester. Address Box 397, Winchester P. O.

Mr. Geo. H. Carter has some Plymouth Rock and Light Brahma cockerels for sale. They are prime stock. Also, eggs.

The Good Will Club of the Unitarian Society, gave its Monthly Entertainment in the vestry of their church last Tuesday evening, Mar. 15, to a large audience.

A petition is in circulation, and being numerously signed, asking J. H. Tyler, Esq., to accept the nomination of member of the School Board. If he will accept his nomination is assured.

I send you a corrected list of the officers of the West Side Hose, 5, namely: Foreman, Walter S. Purrington; Ass't Foreman, Burton Caldwell; Clerk and Treasurer, John L. Ayer; Steward, Charles H. Purrington.

Mr. John F. Carr, of N. Woburn, employed at Whitney Machine Shop, while assisting in putting the logs on the dam Tuesday morning, after the freshet, lost his balance and fell in above the dam, but fortunately escaped with a good wetting.

Some immediate action should be taken to prevent marble playing on the sidewalks, as it is becoming a public nuisance. Passers-by, and especially ladies, have repeatedly seen to have to turn clear out into the gutter to avoid being run down by boys who indulge in that kind of sport.

This town contributed $110 to the State Fair for Abused Children held last December, besides the contributions to the Children's table. The Middlesex Annex, consisting of Medford, Lexington, Winchester and Arlington, of which Mrs. George E. Rogers of this town was Secretary, reported $970.22 to the general fund.

There is a marked revival of temperance sentiment here which it is hoped will yield good fruits. The Reformation Club has inaugurated a course of free lectures which Mr. Edward L. McLaughlin of the W. C. T. U. give the first on Thursday evenings. The best people in our village are earnestly aiding the good work of reform, and may God bless them.

Amending the articles in the warrant for the annual election. We desire to know what the town will do anything towards furnishing an office for the collector. Another is, to see if the Town will authorize the appointment of Superintendent of Schools; and another to see if the town will appoint a committee to cooperate with other towns or private parties in relation to the Middlesex Falls project for a State Park. All of which will probably be favorably acted upon.

The J. F. Dwinnell Chemical Engine Company, gave one of the grandest suppers of the season at Harmony Hall, Brown and Stanton block, last Thursday evening, Mar. 10. After supper the evening was spent in social makin', 3 boxes for $12.50. Sent by mail to any address, enclosing a stamp of currency, or three cent postage stamps.

Prepared only by Dr. Swaine & Son, 330 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

While a faithful servant of William Simpson of Chicago was endeavoring to persuade his employer to leave a rum shop on Sunday he was shot dead by a gambler and thief named Harry Gilmore.

An exchange prints an article headed "How Cloth is made." We have read it through carefully, but have failed to find the information we seek, viz., when is how cloth made? — [Minneapolis, April 1.]

That wonderful remedy for rheumatism, St. Jacobs Oil, has been used by a large number of people in this city, and with effect truly marvelous. Frequent repairs are made where sufferers have been afforded relief, and the sale is growing largely. The fact that it is an external remedy, commands it to many who would not otherwise think of going out of the beaten track to find a remedy.

Ruskin says the greatest mystery of life is "the corruption of even the sincerest religion which is not daily founded on rational, effective, humble and helpful action." Many persons supposed it was hash.

My husband is delighted with "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," and says he feels like blessing you for giving to humanity so valuable a medicine. His local difficulties have all been relieved, and his entire system toned up and strengthened. I thank you for your promptness in writing, and shall ever remember you with gratitude." So writes a lady of Warwick, Orange County, N. Y. Write to Dr. Kennedy, stating your case, "Favorite Remedy" for sale everywhere.

Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" stimulates and helps Nature in her efforts to throw off disease. It does not fight nature. It does not send the unhappy sufferer into deep pits of pain under the pretense of doing him good. It acts to cure, not to irritate, physically like a mother lulling her child into sleep and health. Do you have trouble with your digestion, your kidneys, or liver? Is your head thick and heavy? Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will drive out the poison and make you well again. Hand your druggist "One Dollar" for a bottle, or write to the Doctor at Roundout, N. Y.

IVY GLEN.

"To let?" said the agent. "Really, ladies, I'm very much afraid I haven't any property in my hands—not at present, at least—that will meet your expectations. I've plenty of unfurnished houses, and plenty to rent for a year. But for a month? There isn't any such real estate in the market—there isn't, indeed."

"We don't want an unfurnished house," said Angela Frost.

"And we have no occasion to use a house for a year," added Josephine, her tall, blooming young sister.

The agent bit the end of his quill-pen, and looked at them dubiously, from behind the ink-splashed rails of his desk.

"We are school-teachers," Miss Angela explained, "and we have just a month's vacation; and we want to spend it in a healthful country resort, where I can batonize, and where my sister can sketch in water-colors from nature."

"Ah!" said the agent—"ah! Indeed, I've very sorry ladies, but I don't think there's any property in the market hereabouts that will meet your ideas."

"What time does the evening stage leave the hotel?" Josephine asked, rather despondently.

"At five, I believe," the agent replied.

And the two ladies went slowly out of the stuffy little room with its high desk, its floor covered with cheap oil-cloth, and its general atmosphere of stale tobacco smoke.

"I'm so sorry, Angel," said the younger. "The air of these pine-wooded glens is the very thing for your asthma."

"And the little river in the deep gorge is such an exquisite study for your paintings,"

Jo said, smiling.

"Leave the house!" cried Angela, beginning to tremble; "the house is on fire! Jo! Jo! don't stir a step! I insist that you shall not go upstairs!"

But Miss Josephine deftly evaded her sister's grasp, and rushed directly up to the little apartment which she had confided to her own use.

"Who are you, sir?" she sternly demanded, as, standing in the doorway, her gaze fell upon Mr. Marmaduke Framingham.

"I beg your pardon," began that gentleman.

"Leave the house!" said Jo, in the impulsive accents of Queen Elizabeth condemning one of her courtiers to death.

Jo said, smiling.

Lesson 13: Preaching the Kingdom.

Luke 9: 1-6.

Golden Text.—"He sent them to preach the kingdom of God."—Luke 9: 2.

Central Truth.—Be a missionary for Christ.

This is called the missionary lesson, and it describes a significant proceeding on the part of Jesus—the sending forth of the twelve apostles as his formally commissioned Apostles. The word Apostle is synonymous with missionary, and means "a sent one." There is nothing in this lesson that teaches that our Lord, in selecting these twelve men, intended to establish an apostleship in the church as a permanent and special office, which should claim a regular succession during all time.

The reasons why these men were formally commissioned at this time were, first, because there was an increasing desire among the people to hear the Gospel, which demanded a number of qualified preachers; and, secondly, the importance of having teachers who would be able to meet opposition, and to proclaim the new doctrine of Christianity when its Author should have been sacrificed to the malice of his enemies.

The selection of the number was probably determined by the fact that the people of Israel were divided into twelve tribes. Indeed, it was a familiar number to the people, and it was natural that one for each tribe should be selected.

Their mission was one which had for its especial object the welfare of men, both as to soul and body. They were to "preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick." They had power over unclean spirits and all forms of disease. Thus they were able to show that Christianity aimed at the good of men, both for this life and the life to come, and thus was fitted not only to convince human judgment, but to win human affection and trust.

In his instructions to these first ministers of the Gospel, the Master seemed especially to warn them against any needless regard to their own appearance, or any undue consideration for their own comfort or ease. They were not to affect any peculiarity of dress or equipage, or to lay any stress on their appearance or their wardrobe. Simplicity, frugality, and paramount regard to their great work, were the principles which they were to illustrate, and these have always been considered becoming to true ministers of the Gospel in the purest days of the church. These first Apostles were to cultivate warm fraternal fellowship with the people whom they were to labor, mixing with them and their families in the ordinary intercourse of life, and kindly receiving that hospitality which was freely offered, though never demanded.

We are not to consider that these directions of our Lord establish any fixed rules and regulations in respect to the support, or costume, or social relations of his ministers, which are to be always or everywhere binding.

They were rather adapted to a special and peculiar service; they were conformable to the customs and usages of the times and the country, and were not intended to be rules for the ministry in all ages and under all circumstances. These are to be left to the dictates of propriety, and to be settled by Christian principle in general, and by common sense in particular.

The injunction to shake off the dust from their feet in leaving a place where they were not welcomed and their teaching was not received does not inculcate anything like a spirit of denunciation or bitterness, but simply a protest against the unbelief which manifested itself in this manner, and was like the custom, well known to the Jews, of shaking their garments when they came from a heathen city into their own country. The Scribes taught that the dust of heathendom defiled those on whom it rested, which, of course, was more metaphorical than literally true.

So these twelve men, having received these instructions from their Lord and Master, departed for their blessed and responsible work, and went through the towns, according to the record, "preaching the gospel and healing everywhere."

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

1. An apostle is a sent one, but he is not self-sent.

"A call to the ministry" implies certain qualifications for usefulness in the office, which are the gift of God—earnestness in desiring to exercise it for the sake of such usefulness; a devoted soul in a healthy body; the orderly recognition of Christ's Church, and a willingness to "spend and be spent" in the service of Christ.

2. Well, really, I can't say that you do," replied the clerk, who was itching for a fresh attack.

"I thought not; nuther does my son; we're plain American citizens—John Smith and John Smith, Jr.; we don't put on any fringe, and are down on furriers. Hey you got any number fifteen paper collars, lined with sweat leather and with stub and twist button holes?"

"I am sorry to say, sir, that we have not," replied the clerk, and a look of loathing began to break out on his countenance.

"Well, then, young man, we can't dicker," and the farmer went out without jamming his thumb in the door.—Albany Argus.
